HAILS TAFT AS "DOER."

Secretary Stimson Declares Himself.

Close Friend of Roosevelt Tells of President's Work for People.

Explains Utter Self-Abnegation of Chief Executive in Administration.

Points Out Constructive Attainments Carrying Out Definite Policy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—Henry L. Stimson of New York, Secretary of War, and the Roosevelt candidate for Governor of New York in 1910, tonight declared himself for President Taft, and said that while he remained the sincere friend of Mr. Roosevelt, he could not support him for the Presidential nomination.

Mr. Stimson entered President Taft's Cabinet last year, after consultation with Mr. Roosevelt, and with a distinct understanding with the President that he would be bound in no way to take part in the political activities of the administration. In a speech before the Taft Club of Illinois tonight he declared his belief that President Taft's administration represented the highest expression of progressive Republican policy.

SPEAKS AS PROGRESSIVE.

"I am here tonight to speak for the renomination of President Taft," said Mr. Stimson. "I am now and always have been a progressive. I am for Taft because I believe he has faithfully carried out the progressive faith of the Republican party; that his administration stands for orderly, permanent progress in our national government, and that to refuse him the nomination on the assertions that have been made against him would be a blow to that progress and would put a premium upon hasty and unfounded criticism.

"I entered into public life under the inspiration of Theodore Roosevelt. I am a firm believer in the great national policies for which he has fought, and I now remain his sincere friend. But I believe that those who are forcing him, contrary to his original intention, into the arena against Mr. Taft, are jeopardizing instead of helping the real cause of progress in the nation.

"The introduction of such a contest at this time, dragging in, as it necessarily will, new and personal issues which are quite foreign to the great progressive policies for which the Republican party stands, cannot fail to weaken whichever candidate is eventually nominated in June. If, as a result, that candidate is defeated in November, the government may be thrown into the hands of a truly reactionary party for years to come."

PRESIDENT'S GREAT WORK.

Mr. Stimson said that President Taft has devoted himself unceasingly to the carrying out of constructive work along progressive lines. The administration was begun, he said, upon a plan that had "the thorough approval and deliberate indorsement of Mr. Roosevelt," and to that plan President Taft had adhered rigidly.

"Is it fair now to criticise him?" asked Mr. Stimson, "because in faithfully carrying out this pledge of four years ago, in performing this vitally useful, though inconspicuous work, he has not dominated the public attention with dramatic display?"

President Taft pledged himself, said Mr. Stimson, to a "progressive development" of the work that President Roosevelt had inaugurated, and the "completion and perfection of the machinery by which the moral standards set by President Roosevelt may be maintained."

"To this work Mr. Taft has devoted himself," said Mr. Stimson. "He thus deliberately renounced more striking methods of reform, and set himself to the undramatic and inconspicuous public service which leaves out all thought of a man's own aggrandizement.

"He has repeatedly, for example, urged upon Congress to place upon the classified civil service virtually all of the Presidential offices; a measure which would at one blow strike out most of the enormous political power of the President.

DELIBERATE SELF-ABNEGATION.

"The results of this deliberate self-

The Senate took up British and French arbitration treaties for final action before adjournment.

Representative Sulzer urged before the Territories Committee that the government build and operate railroads throughout Southwest Alaska and engage in coal business.

FOREIGN. London papers are predicting riots and revolution as result of coal strike; many people flee from England, fearing violence and hunger of mobs.

Owing to interrupted communication with Chihuahua, Mex., it was difficult to get news, but meager messages were indicative of more tranquil conditions.

Former President Diaz declared yesterday he had no intention of interfering in Mexico's present strife.

Paris Temps yesterday expressed hope that Secretary Knox on his southern trip would prevail upon Venezuela and Cuba to arbitrate long-standing French claims.

Suffragettes who participated in window smashing campaign were yesterday sentenced to hard labor by London magistrates.

FINANCIAL. Many wheat speculators were yesterday busily unloading on the Chicago market, in anticipation of possible surprises in way of government reports, and prices were accordingly slightly lower.

For the first two hours yesterday share trading in New York showed the greatest activity of the year, and leading stocks made decided gains.

"The Black Strike."

RIOT AND REVOLUTION ARE FEARED IN LONDON.

Train Service Is Already Crippled and Newspapers Forecast Calamity.

Public Schools Will Soon Be Forced to Close—Great Numbers of People Leave Country Believing Time Will Soon Come When Cross-Channel Service Will Suspend and Atlantic Steamers Be Unable to Coal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lurid rhetoric is the most marked feature of the miners' strike so far as the majority of the London newspapers are concerned.

The Daily Express affirms that riot and revolution are at hand.

The Daily Mail and associated papers use one big black headline, "The Black Strike," and all their news and editorials on the crisis are permeated with the spirit of calamity.

For any gleam of hope or humor touching the strike one must go to the people themselves. They are laying in supplies of tinned foods and getting a little coal here and there. They are expecting a siege, yet they go about their business cheerfully.

PUBLIC INCONVENIENCE.

Already great public inconvenience prevails. One correspondent was two hours this morning traveling ten miles. On one of the great railroads entering London half the trains have been abandoned and the few left are crowded almost to suffocation. There were long stops at the stations, where lively scrambles occurred for places. The compartments were packed until one could not move. Children sat on the luggage racks. Some stations were skipped altogether.

Tomorrow train service will be still further reduced and such freight as horses and machinery will be declined. The railroad managers say that they are reserving coal for the shipment of food only in the event that the strike is prolonged. Hundreds of small stations are closed, forcing people to walk miles to the nearest points where the trains stop.

The public schools will be closed soon because of the impossibility of heating the buildings. Families are economizing on coal in every way, cooking as little as possible and dispensing with other fires. Dealers in wood blocks are doing a huge business at tall prices.

GENERAL DEBACLE FEARED.

Methods of ending the strike are discussed, but in the vaguest terms. Some of the newspapers have criticised the government harshly for not stopping the walkout, but they do not venture to define any means of doing it. Compulsory arbitration is suggested and may be attempted if the pinch becomes too severe.

Great numbers of people are leaving the country, fearing a general debacle later with cross-channel service suspended and the Atlantic ships unable to coal.

The militant suffragettes seem to glory in the embarrassment in which man-made society is involved and are putting forth all their efforts to augment the confusion and excitement.

Deep resentment at the action of the miners in refusing to accept the offer of the government to establish the principle of the minimum wage is beginning to appear in many quarters. The Westminster Gazette warns the miners this afternoon that if the country finds that they are disposed wantonly to inflict hardships and starvation upon it, the country will know how to defend itself. Fines and imprisonment, it says, are not unheard of means for punishing persons who refuse to settle disputes that endanger the nation.

Railroad workers throughout the United Kingdom continue to be discharged from their employment owing to the shortage of coal, necessitating the restriction of train service. At Newcastle this morning another 1000 men were added to those who have been thrown out of work on account of the coal strike.

The train service is curtailed in all sections. The cross channel service between France and England has been reduced to one steamer daily on the line between Folkestone and Boulogne.

The deadlock showed no signs of a break today.

The Scottish and Welsh coal owners met respectively at Glasgow and Cardiff and it was announced subsequently that they remained unalterably opposed to the demands of the miners.

A general meeting of the owners is summoned to be held in London tomorrow.

AMERICAN STEAMERS CANCEL TWO SAILINGS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOUTHAMPTON, March 5.—The sailings of the American line steamships Philadelphia and New York from this port from New York on March 13 and March 20, respectively, have been cancelled in consequence of the coal strike.

AMERICAN OPERATORS REJECT MINERS' DEMANDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 5.—Anthracite coal operators, in session here today, decided to reject the demands of the miners for increased pay. A committee was appointed to notify union officials of the result.

The operators were in session less than an hour and it is understood that the decision to reject the demands was unanimous. The committee composed of ten members, with Joseph L. Cake, an independent operator, as chairman, will frame a reply and will present it to the miners' representatives on March 14.

One hundred and eighty thousand miners in the anthracite fields will be affected by the operators' decision. It was reported today there had been no change in the miners' demands, chief of which are a 20 per cent increase in wages, recognition of the union, reduction of the working day from nine to eight hours, without reduction in pay, collection of union dues by the operators and the making of an agreement to be binding for one year, instead of three, as heretofore.

Though there is no logical reason why the British coal strike should affect the authority here, it was said

PAO TING FU LAID WASTE; TROOPS SAVE FOREIGNERS.

Refugees Arrive at Peking by Special Train and Tell of Havoc—Chinese Christians Have Their Eyes Put Out by Country People in Shantung Province—Discharged Soldiers Loot and Murder.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The correspondent of the Los Angeles Times talked last night with a number of refugees from Pao Ting Fu, who were brought here on a special train sent by Yuan Shi Kai. They said that all foreigners in Pao Ting Fu were safe. Tong Shao Yi, the Peace Commissioner, greeted the refugees, congratulated them and placed his own house at their disposal.

They agreed in saying that Pao Ting Fu is practically in ruins. There were many individual cases in which an anti-foreign feeling was shown by the pillagers and only the presence of 500 loyal troops from the south saved the situation. The looters have dispersed over the country and are pillaging towns and villages.

At Hungshan in Shantung province, the country people seized forty Chinese Christians, accused them of being republicans, put out their eyes and delivered them to the Imperial soldiers, who beheaded them. The Governor of Shantung, Chang, is reported to be anti-republican.

Prince Ching, by increasing the pay of the Imperial guards, has induced them to remain faithful so that the Imperial family in Peking is safe for the present.

Most of the missionaries remained in Pao Ting Fu partly because they wished to protect the missions and partly because they feared going more than staying.

Shensi, Shansi, Sonan and Kansu provinces are in a critical state.

While Peking is quiet disorders are increasing elsewhere. Shen Yun, the anti-republican governor of Shansi province, has captured the city of Tungkwan. Yuan Shi Kai has pardoned the mutinous third division and sent it against Sheng Yun.

MURDERERS ARE BUSY.

DISCHARGED TROOPS LAWLESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HONGKONG, March 5.—Serious unrest continues in the provinces of Kwang Tung and Kwang Si, where many discharged soldiers have taken to murdering and looting. The hills along the west river have been fortified as a protection against the marauding bands.

Responsible Chinese assert that terrible scenes are being enacted daily in Canton and its vicinity. These persons declare that if the state of affairs were known abroad, the foreign powers would interfere and put a stop to the slaughter and looting. One leading Chinese who refused to comply with the demands of desperadoes found that in his absence all his family had been murdered except one boy.

FLEE FROM DISORDER.

Women and Young Leave Mexico.

Of Americans Only Men Are Left in Madera and Pearson.

Refugees Bring Stories of Outrages Perpetrated by Marauders.

Rebel Generals Salazar and Campa Will Not Trust Orozco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) March 5. — One hundred and fifty Americans, mostly women and children from the American lumbering town of Macera, were brought into El Paso by the Mexico Northwestern Railway tonight from Pearson, their first stopping place after leaving Madera. Another train bringing refugees from Chihuahua is expected over the Mexican Central by midnight.

With the exception of a small hospital staff at Pearson, every American woman and child in the towns of Madera and Pearson, Mex., is on United States soil.

These assert that for weeks they practically have been isolated and living in a state of terror. With neither wire nor train communication, and the mails demoralized, they have been cut off completely from the outside world and almost constantly have been menaced by marauding bands. Business at Madera, they declare, is nil. Refugees report that the mills of the Madera Lumber Company were closed, hundreds of workmen being thrown out of employment.

OBEY PRESIDENT'S WARNING.

A. J. Halton, an officer of the Madera company, said it was considered advisable to obey President Taft's warning to the extent of sending all women and children to the United States. About 400 American men are left at Madera. These are fully armed and able to meet any situation that may arise.

Enrique E. Bowman, a merchant of Colonia Dublan, a town fifty miles north of Pearson, stated frankly that in his district conditions could not be worse. The rebels, Bowman declared, were burning property, raiding and looting.

George Snell and family, who were refugees from the Austin (Pa.) flood, fled from Madera, leaving all their possessions.

Miss Elizabeth Snell, a daughter, cashier at the Madera company's store, declares that the Rojas band demanded $2000 in cash from her.

REBELS HELP THEMSELVES.

"I did not have the money," said Miss Snell, "so they took about $2000 worth of clothing and food, charged it to the government and gave the company a receipt. About twenty-five of them rode their horses into the American hotel and fired their guns, terrorizing the guests. They burned the Mexican part of the town, and took hundreds of horses belonging to Mexican residents."

Mrs. D. H. Bollzer, a bride of a few months, who formerly lived at Coalinga, Cal., left Madera with a large party of friends. Mrs. Bollzer confirms that Chihuahua is in a state of anarchy.

Two rails were removed from the approach of the international bridge by Gen. Rojas's order this afternoon to prevent rolling stock from being removed to the American side.

REBEL LEADERS DO NOT TRUST OROZCO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAMP OF INSURRECTOS (Saus, Chihuahua, Mex.) March 5, 5:10 a.m. —The rebel generals, Salazar, who arrived this morning, and Campa, have not committed themselves fully to Pascual Orozco, the insurrecto commander in Chihuahua, thirteen miles south of here.

The reason for their distrust is not fully apparent, but on the surface it appears that they are not convinced that Orozco's announced desertion to the rebels is not merely the mask of a leader still devoted to President Madero.

This morning Orozco sent an invitation to Gen. Salazar and his troops to enter Chihuahua to take the oath of fealty to the rebellion. Salazar countered with a proposition that Orozco visit Sauz and himself take the oath. To this Orozco replied that he dare not leave Chihuahua and repeated his original invitation.

A council of war was held at which it was decided to approach later in the day to the outskirts of Chihuahua and to halt there until the exact status of Orozco and his men could be determined definitely. Detachments of the Salazar contingent have been close to the city, but have not remained, leading to a premature announcement that the vanguard of the Juarez column had entered the city. As a matter of fact, it was merely a reconnoissance in force. It is reported in camp, but cannot be confirmed, that the difference between Orozco and Salazar is over the matter of supreme command of the northern

TAFT CINCHES IOWA CONTROL.

Eighth District Instructs Delegates for Him.

Enough Counties Heard from to Insure Result.

Ninth District Will Select President's Friends.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Enough delegates to the eighth Congressional convention to be held at Creston, March 14, have been selected by counties in that district to guarantee Taft supporters will be in control and select two delegates for the national Republican convention. The six counties that have so far selected delegates to the district convention have a total representation of seventy votes for Taft. This leaves but a possible sixty-five votes from the remaining five counties, four of which are also claimed by Taft followers. The counties that have thus far selected their delegates for Taft, and also similar delegations to the State convention are: Adams 13, Appanoose 14, Clark 9, Lucas 10, Ringgold 11, Wayne 11.

Of those yet to hold conventions, Union is sure for Taft, as the caucuses have selected Taft delegations to the county convention. Decatur, Fremont and Taylor are also claimed for Taft, while Page is conceded as doubtful.

The Ninth Congressional District convention will also select Taft delegates to the national Republican convention. With the Taft forces having fifty-nine delegates already from Cass, Guthrie, Harrison and Montgomery, they clinched control today when the Pottawatomie county convention selected fifty-two Taft delegates, giving Taft in the district convention already ninety-one of the 133 votes, a probability of getting more from other counties.

DIXON CHALLENGES M'KINLEY TO VOTE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The following letter challenging the Taft campaign forces "to a test by means of primaries" was sent to Director William B. McKinley of the Taft Campaign Committee late today by Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's executive chairman:

"My dear McKinley:

"For the purpose of determining definitely whether the Republican voters of the country desire Col. Theodore Roosevelt or President Taft as their candidate in the approaching Presidential campaign, I hereby challenge you to a test by means of primaries in every State in the Union."

Senator Dixon states that the obvious purpose of both the Republican Campaign Committees is to elect a Republican next fall; that both are interested primarily in the success of the party and that the first requisite to such success is to choose the candidate with the greatest popular strength.

"We ought to have a free and voluntary expression of opinion directly from the voters who will carry the ballots that will determine finally the verdict at the polls," the letter continues.

"The time to find out what the voters want is before the nomination is made, rather than afterward. It will be too late after the convention is held."

Senator Dixon states that the National Committee was not justified in leaving the primary question to the action of the States.

"In every State and district in the Union proper arrangements can be made and effectively carried out," he says, "for securing a free and voluntary expression of the will of the Republican voters. If it cannot be done by a State-wide primary, which would be preferable, it can be arranged for districts, under the supervision of proper committees."

The letter calls attention to the various States where arrangements have been made or are making for primaries, and adds:

"With your co-operation, similar arrangements no doubt can be effected in all other States where Legislatures are not now considering the enactment of Presidential preference primary laws. I am informed that in several States where the Presidential preference primary question is awaiting legislative action, the influence of men who are working with you is cast determinedly in opposition. Your co-operation with me in such States no doubt would result in the enactment of these laws and the considerable spread thereby of the Presidential preference primary under direct legal sanction by the State.

"Let me call your attention again to the fact that Col. Roosevelt has declared repeatedly that he is not an active candidate for the nomination, but will accept it if it comes to him as the demand of the voters of the party. His letter to Mr. Moore of Pittsburgh, sent out by your headquarters last night and published in the newspapers this morning, is an additional proof of this attitude and of the fact that in now saying he will accept the nomination under the conditions specified he is merely responding to a popular demand.

"The voters of the country have the unquestionable right to express their desire and I sincerely trust you will accept this challenge and prepare to co-operate with me in the arrangement of such primaries.

"Commissioned officers are necessary to direct an army, but it is the rank and file that win the victories.

"Respectfully yours,

"JOSEPH M. DIXON."

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The public schools of Douglas were closed today by the authorities, because of the spread of smallpox throughout the city. Two new cases, one on the north, the other on the east side of the city, were reported today. The total number of cases to date is twenty-one, with two deaths.

ASSURANCES REACH TAFT.

California Among States to Send President Cheering News of Support.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many cheering assurances of support are coming into Taft headquarters, among them very satisfactory ones from California. Dr. F. W. Browning, Hayward, Cal., has wired that a four-leaf clover club was organized in California to advance the nomination and election of President Taft. Charles Mifflin Hammond, Roosevelt's brother-in-law, also wired to tell of the permanent organization of Taft representatives at San Francisco with delegations present from all parts of the State and a committee from the women's Taft auxiliary, which promised their support. Strong resolutions were adopted and Hammond wires: "Everything California has is for Taft."

HAILS TAFT AS DOER.

abnegation are shown in the great legislative and constructive accomplishments of his term.

"Mr. Taft's standards of administration, like those of Mr. Roosevelt, have been constantly toward purity and elevation in our public service and our public life.

"With great patience, with unswerving courage, with absolute disinterestedness, in these excitable times when men's minds are full of a readiness for criticism and a desire for experiment, he has carried on the burden of administration and has carried it forward. It will be a reflection upon our own power of fair-minded and candid judgment if we do not recognize the merit as well as the difficulty of that achievement now."

Certain reform methods of government by many of the progressives, and in part by Mr. Roosevelt, were severely criticised by Mr. Stimson. He denounced the recall of judges as destined to bring the courts "down into the welter of politics," and said that it was no test of a Republican's progressiveness to require his support to systems that had been successful in certain States.

"It is mere narrowness and intolerance to insist upon a remedy which has proved effective in one place, as the necessary test of sincere and intelligent reform in another," he said. "It is even more erroneous to make fidelity to one of these schemes of local government in one of the commonwealths a test for what is proper and appropriate in the government of the nation at large."

WHEN REFERENDUM FAILED.

Mr. Stimson said that the referendum apparently had worked well in Oregon but that in a fifty-years' trial in New York, as applied to constitutional questions, it had been a failure.

"Should the national Republican who lives in New York be read out of this party?" he asked, "because he declines to accept the referendum as the best remedy to cure the abuses of popular government in his own State?

"It only confuses and distracts to drag into a national campaign the prejudices and shibboleths which have arisen in the contests of the different States. Mr. Taft's administration must be judged by the attitude with which he had approached and the success he has attained in dealing with these national problems, and not according to the views which any of us may hold upon these local questions of State machinery."

The Secretary of War drew attention to the investigations that have been made under President Taft into problems that had been the subject of serious controversy for years. The work of the tariff board, the Hadley Railway Securities Commission and the Hughes Commission on Second-class Mail Matter, were typical, he said, of the methods sought by Mr. Taft to ascertain facts.

"I doubt if there has ever been an administration where so many vital questions of progress were under careful, scientific investigation and scrutiny by commissions of competent experts," he said. "There is nothing dramatic about such a method; but a reform accomplished in the light of such carefully accredited facts is more likely to be permanent. This is the very essence of Mr. Taft's method as a reformer."

President Taft has been "most falsely villified and abused," in connection with the tariff, said Mr. Stimson, and has, in fact, taken the Republican party out of the grasp of the special interests benefitted by the tariff and has made a part of the Republican progressive policy the downward revision of the tariff law schedule by schedule.

"Is not this a tremendous achievement in the direction of national progress?" asked Mr. Stimson, "to completely rescue his party from the methods and influences which, if uncontrolled, would inevitably turn it into a party of special interests and reaction? Is it not right in standing to the uttermost, even to the exercise of all of the executive powers of veto, against the old privilege-breeding methods of tariff revision employed by the Democratic House of Representatives? Is he not right in insisting even against popular clamor that we shall make a clean break with the past and that no tariff revision shall take place except upon these conditions and after a scientific study by a non-partisan board of experts?"

Secretary Stimson reviewed the administration and achievements. He said the President had outlined the system of trust reform which if adopted would put the country in "a fair way of solving our trust problem and solving it right;" that in the corporation tax the President had "turned the flank of one of the most stubborn fortresses of reaction." His interest in human welfare was evidenced by his devotion to the progress of the Filipinos, said Mr. Stimson, and through his activity in behalf of the arbitration treaties, his efforts for adequate workmen's compensation and effective employers liability laws and his suggestions for an industrial commission.

JOHNSON SUPPORTERS ORGANIZE FOR TAFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Responding tumultuously to the sentiment that "Johnson did not carry the Republican vote of California in his vest pocket," the Taft progressive Republicans who supported Johnson in the gubernatorial campaign, this afternoon formed their organization to further the candidacy of the President in California.

Charles M. Belshaw was elected chairman and Joseph E. Cutten secretary. A. L. Shinn called the meeting to order and delivered a keynote speech of such succinct Republican cogency that it was unanimously adopted as the report of the Resolutions Committee and ordered printed and distributed throughout the State.

"As a progressive Republican, President Taft has carried out the duties of his office and the policies of his party," declared Shinn.

"He has enforced the law against monopoly, he has caused the enactment of remedial legislation to which the business of the country is adjusting itself. His services to the country and his patriotism entitle him to a second term.

"California cannot afford to endanger the protection of the present tariff system. Throughout the country is a fear that the assaults on the tariff, if successful, will produce a repetition of the panics of 1893 and 1897.

"The supporters of Johnson will support Taft," concluded Shinn.

Belshaw made a ringing speech and the following committees were then appointed:

Permanent Organization—Fred G. Sanborn, chairman; Marshall Hale, J. O. Hayes, W. D. Fennimore and E. K. Johnson of San Jose.

Resolutions—O. L. Shinn, chairman; Charles Murdock, D. Cohn, George D. Worsick, W. A. Rugg.

The following were named as the Executive Council: B. B. Tutt, Yolo; Byron Manzy, T. G. Sanborn, W. D. Fennimore, C. A. Murdock, A. Sbarboro, M. D. Cohn, Alex Russell and A. D. Frotz of San Francisco; M. E. Sanborn, Sutter; H. W. D. Brown, San Mateo; A. E. Miller, Sacramento; Col. D. W. Longwell and J. V. Vielly, Los Angeles; W. P. Lyon, Santa Clara, and Prof. David Barrows of Berkeley.

DIXON AND M'KINLEY GET PERSONAL IN FIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Senator Dixon of Montana, chairman of the Roosevelt Executive Committee, replied today to the statement given out by the national Taft headquarters yesterday, in which attention was called to the location of the Roosevelt headquarters in a building owned by Frank A. Munsey.

"We elected Taft four years ago out of the International Harvester Company building in Chicago," said Chairman Dixon. "Our headquarters occupied the sixth floor of that building and so far as I know no rent was paid for the rooms.

"If personalities are wanted in this campaign," Senator Dixon continued, "we will give them more than they expect.

"Four years ago, when I was trying to elect Taft, Mr. McKinley, now head of the Taft Committee, was down South rounding up delegates for Speaker Cannon."

The national Taft headquarters gave out a statement declaring that the "farmers of the Middle West" are "demanding that George W. Perkins and Medill McCormick, related to officials of the harvester trust, separate themselves from Mr. Roosevelt and his campaign."

"In this demand," the statement says, "they are only indicating their ignorance of the fact that Mr. Perkins probably would have lost his job long ago had it not been for his intimate friendship with Mr. Roosevelt, running back over many years.

"While still remaining a director of the steel corporation and of the International Harvester Company, Mr. Perkins recently has severed himself from many of his business connections and now is devoting much of his time to 'solving the problems of the times.' The first great work along this line to which Mr. Perkins is now directing his undivided attention and his pocketbook is the nomination and election of Mr. Roosevelt to a third term as President."

President Taft's manager, Representative McKinley, made the following statement regarding the alleged activity among Federal employees:

"Under the recent ruling of the Civil Service Commission the managers of the campaign of any Presidential candidate may inquire of any Federal office holder as to political conditions in his vicinity and may even ask his own political preferences, which I distinctly did not do in my letter of the 24th.

"I might suggest that Mr. Roosevelt's managers are as free as I am to write any office holder in the United States at any time and what is more to the point they are doing it. The friends of Mr. Roosevelt, among whom Senator Dixon has always been conspicuous, did not hesitate to follow a similar line of action four years ago, and properly too, because only in that way could they have secured any reliable information on which to map out their campaign."

ROOSEVELT IS STILL EXPLAINING LETTERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 5.—To clear up conflicting statements as to what he had said in the past regarding the Presidential nomination, Theodore Roosevelt made public today a letter which he wrote last January to Frank A. Munsey, the publisher.

Mr. Roosevelt's object in giving out the communication, he said, was to refute the charge that he was breaking a promise in agreeing to accept the nomination if it were offered to him. He called particular attention to a passage in the letter which, while stating he would not be a candidate, declared that he would not go on record as being unwilling to accept the nomination.

"To every man I talked with," Mr. Roosevelt said, "I made in substance that same statement and I made it in hundreds of letters."

"Let me illustrate what I mean by referring you to the language in which, after the election of 1904, I announced that I would not be a candidate for renomination. At the time good friends of mine suggested that I should use some such formula as stating that I would not be a candidate for the nomination if it were offered to me as the result of an intrigue. But I will not tie my hands by a statement which would make it difficult or impossible for me to serve the public by undertaking a great task if the people as a whole seemed definitely to come to the conclusion that I ought to do that task. In other words, as far as in me lies, I am endeavoring to look at this matter purely from the standpoint of the public interest, of the interest of the people as a whole and not in the least from my own standpoint.

"If I should consult only my own pleasure and interests I should most empathatically and immediately announce that I would under no circumstances run. I have had all the honor that any man can have from holding the office of President. From every personal standpoint there is nothing for me to gain either in running for the office or in holding the office once more, and there is very much to lose.

"Under such circumstances, if I consulted only my own interest, the obvious thing to do would be to announce that I would not obey any popular mandate; that I would not run if nominated. I shall not follow this course, because I am sincerely endeavoring to look at the matter only from the standpoint of the popular interest. It is not only necessary for the people to have the right instrument, the right tool, with which to work in any given emergency, but it is necessary that they themselves shall choose, and shall believe in the sufficiency of that instrument. If at this particular crisis, with the particular problems ahead of us at this particular time, the people feel that I am the one man in sight to do the job, then I should regard myself as shirking a plain duty if I refused to do it.

"If the people should feel that I was the instrument to be used at this time, I should accept even although I knew that I should be broken and cast aside in the using.

"In short, I am not concerned with the welfare of any one man in this matter, not with Mr. Taft's welfare, nor Mr. La Follette's, and least of all, my own; I am concerned only with the welfare of the people of the United States.

"If, at this time, I announce that I would accept if nominated, it would be blazoned abroad by all my enemies and ultimately believed by a large portion even of my good friends and well-wishers, that I had in my own interest announced my candidacy; that I was an active candidate; that I was striving by every means to secure the nomination for President. At this time—whatever may be the case in the future—I do not see that any other outcome could be expected.

FORMER MAYOR IS ACQUITTED.

Eugene Schmitz Is Absolved on Court's Order.

District Attorney Says He Has No Evidenne.

Judge Directs Ruef's Return to San Quentin.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Eugene E. Schmitz, former Mayor of San Francisco and the last of the persons implicated in the famous graft expose in 1906 to face a jury, was freed today of the charge of having bribed Supervisor Andrew Wilson in the so-called gas cases, for which he was indicted by the grand jury in May, 1907. Acting upon the request of Dist.-Atty. Charles M. Fickert, Judge William P. Lawlor instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, which was done.

Both Schmitz and Abraham Ruef, political boss of San Francisco at the time Schmitz was Mayor, and now serving a sentence of fourteen years in San Quentin for bribery, were in court when the case was called. Ruef was brought from the penitentiary to testify against Schmitz, but had refused to do so, as a number of indictments were still pending against him, some of which had been dismissed by Judge Lawlor.

Judge Lawlor asked the District Attorney today if any action had been taken on the indictments still pending against Ruef in Judge Dunne's court. Fickert replied that there had not, and added:

"We have no evidence that the defendant gave a bribe to Supervisor Wilson. I do not believe we would be justified in placing responsibility of deciding this matter upon the jury, which I think should be advised to acquit the defendant."

The court accordingly instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Judge Lawlor declared that even if they disregarded his instructions and found a verdict of guilty he would be forced to set it aside, under the State Supreme Court's interpretation of the law.

Judge Lawlor said he would consider within two weeks motions for the dismissal of the remaining indictments against Schmitz and, after the jury had filed out, entered an order for Ruef's return to San Quentin tomorrow.

Ruef's attorney interrupted proceedings at this point.

"I submit, your honor, that there must be some legal way whereby Abraham Ruef should not be sent back to San Quentin when his co-defendants, all of them, have been discharged from custody. It is not just. Surely this court must realize the injustice of this."

Judge Lawlor declined to discuss his plea, and Ruef was taken back to the County Jail. Schmitz smiled when the verdict was announced, and nodded to the jurors as they left the room.

TAFT CINCHES IOWA CONTROL.

Eighth District Instructs Delegates for Him.

Enough Counties Heard from to Insure Result.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Enough delegates to the eighth Congressional convention to be held at Creston, March 14, have been selected by counties in that district to guarantee Taft supporters will be in control and select two delegates for the national Republican convention. The six counties that have so far selected delegates to the district convention have a total representation of seventy votes for Taft. This leaves but a possible sixty-five votes from the remaining five counties, four of which are also claimed by Taft followers. The counties that have thus far selected their delegates for Taft, and also similar delegations to the State convention are: Adams 13, Appanoose 14, Clark 9, Lucas 10, Ringgold 11, Wayne 11.

Of those yet to hold conventions, Union is sure for Taft, as the caucuses have selected Taft delegations to the county convention. Decatur, Fremont and Taylor are also claimed for Taft, while Page is conceded as doubtful.

The Ninth Congressional District convention will also select Taft delegates to the national Republican convention. With the Taft forces having fifty-nine delegates already from Cass, Guthrie, Harrison and Montgomery, they clinched control today when the Pottawatomie county convention selected fifty-two Taft delegates, giving Taft in the district convention already ninety-one of the 133 votes, a probability of getting more from other counties.

DIXON CHALLENGES M'KINLEY TO VOTE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The following letter challenging the Taft campaign forces "to a test by means of primaries" was sent to Director William B. McKinley of the Taft Campaign Committee late today by Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's executive chairman:

"My dear McKinley:

"For the purpose of determining definitely whether the Republican voters of the country desire Col. Theodore Roosevelt or President Taft as their candidate in the approaching Presidential campaign, I hereby challenge you to a test by means of primaries in every State in the Union."

Senator Dixon states that the obvious purpose of both the Republican Campaign Committees is to elect a Republican next fall; that both are interested primarily in the success of the party and that the first requisite to such success is to choose the candidate with the greatest popular strength.

"We ought to have a free and voluntary expression of opinion directly from the voters who will carry the ballots that will determine finally the verdict at the polls," the letter continues.

"The time to find out what the voters want is before the nomination is made, rather than afterward. It will be too late after the convention is held."

Senator Dixon states that the National Committee was not justified in leaving the primary question to the action of the States.

"In every State and district in the Union proper arrangements can be made and effectively carried out," he says, "for securing a free and voluntary expression of the will of the Republican voters. If it cannot be done by a State-wide primary, which would be preferable, it can be arranged for districts, under the supervision of proper committees."

The letter calls attention to the various States where arrangements have been made or are making for primaries, and adds:

"With your co-operation, similar arrangements no doubt can be effected in all other States where Legislatures are not now considering the enactment of Presidential preference primary laws. I am informed that in several States where the Presidential preference primary question is awaiting legislative action, the influence of men who are working with you is cast determinedly in opposition. Your co-operation with me in such States no doubt would result in the enactment of these laws and the considerable spread thereby of the Presidential preference primary under direct legal sanction by the State.

"Let me call your attention again to the fact that Col. Roosevelt has declared repeatedly that he is not an active candidate for the nomination, but will accept it if it comes to him as the demand of the voters of the party. His letter to Mr. Moore of Pittsburgh, sent out by your headquarters last night and published in the newspapers this morning, is an additional proof of this attitude and of the fact that in now saying he will accept the nomination under the conditions specified he is merely responding to a popular demand.

"The voters of the country have the unquestionable right to express their desire and I sincerely trust you will accept this challenge and prepare to co-operate with me in the arrangement of such primaries.

"Commissioned officers are necessary to direct an army, but it is the rank and file that win the victories.

"Respectfully yours,

"JOSEPH M. DIXON."

ASSURANCES REACH TAFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many cheering assurances of support are coming into Taft headquarters, among them very satisfactory ones from California. Dr. F. W. Browning, Hayward, Cal., has wired that a four-leaf clover club was organized in California to advance the nomination and election of President Taft. Charles Mifflin Hammond, Roosevelt's brother-in-law, also wired to tell of the permanent organization of Taft representatives at San Francisco with delegations present from all parts of the State and a committee from the women's Taft auxiliary, which promised their support. Strong resolutions were adopted and Hammond wires: "Everything California has is for Taft."

HAILS TAFT AS DOER.

abnegation are shown in the great legislative and constructive accomplishments of his term.

"Mr. Taft's standards of administration, like those of Mr. Roosevelt, have been constantly toward purity and elevation in our public service and our public life.

"With great patience, with unswerving courage, with absolute disinterestedness, in these excitable times when men's minds are full of a readiness for criticism and a desire for experiment, he has carried on the burden of administration and has carried it forward. It will be a reflection upon our own power of fair-minded and candid judgment if we do not recognize the merit as well as the difficulty of that achievement now."

Certain reform methods of government by many of the progressives, and in part by Mr. Roosevelt, were severely criticised by Mr. Stimson. He denounced the recall of judges as destined to bring the courts "down into the welter of politics," and said that it was no test of a Republican's progressiveness to require his support to systems that had been successful in certain States.

"It is mere narrowness and intolerance to insist upon a remedy which has proved effective in one place, as the necessary test of sincere and intelligent reform in another," he said. "It is even more erroneous to make fidelity to one of these schemes of local government in one of the commonwealths a test for what is proper and appropriate in the government of the nation at large."

WHEN REFERENDUM FAILED.

Mr. Stimson said that the referendum apparently had worked well in Oregon but that in a fifty-years' trial in New York, as applied to constitutional questions, it had been a failure.

"Should the national Republican who lives in New York be read out of this party?" he asked, "because he declines to accept the referendum as the best remedy to cure the abuses of popular government in his own State?

"It only confuses and distracts to drag into a national campaign the prejudices and shibboleths which have arisen in the contests of the different States. Mr. Taft's administration must be judged by the attitude with which he had approached and the success he has attained in dealing with these national problems, and not according to the views which any of us may hold upon these local questions of State machinery."

The Secretary of War drew attention to the investigations that have been made under President Taft into problems that had been the subject of serious controversy for years. The work of the tariff board, the Hadley Railway Securities Commission and the Hughes Commission on Second-class Mail Matter, were typical, he said, of the methods sought by Mr. Taft to ascertain facts.

"I doubt if there has ever been an administration where so many vital questions of progress were under careful, scientific investigation and scrutiny by commissions of competent experts," he said. "There is nothing dramatic about such a method; but a reform accomplished in the light of such carefully accredited facts is more likely to be permanent. This is the very essence of Mr. Taft's method as a reformer."

President Taft has been "most falsely villified and abused," in connection with the tariff, said Mr. Stimson, and has, in fact, taken the Republican party out of the grasp of the special interests benefitted by the tariff and has made a part of the Republican progressive policy the downward revision of the tariff law schedule by schedule.

"Is not this a tremendous achievement in the direction of national progress?" asked Mr. Stimson, "to completely rescue his party from the methods and influences which, if uncontrolled, would inevitably turn it into a party of special interests and reaction? Is it not right in standing to the uttermost, even to the exercise of all of the executive powers of veto, against the old privilege-breeding methods of tariff revision employed by the Democratic House of Representatives? Is he not right in insisting even against popular clamor that we shall make a clean break with the past and that no tariff revision shall take place except upon these conditions and after a scientific study by a non-partisan board of experts?"

Secretary Stimson reviewed the administration and achievements. He said the President had outlined the system of trust reform which if adopted would put the country in "a fair way of solving our trust problem and solving it right;" that in the corporation tax the President had "turned the flank of one of the most stubborn fortresses of reaction." His interest in human welfare was evidenced by his devotion to the progress of the Filipinos, said Mr. Stimson, and through his activity in behalf of the arbitration treaties, his efforts for adequate workmen's compensation and effective employers liability laws and his suggestions for an industrial commission.

"As a progressive Republican, President Taft has carried out the duties of his office and the policies of his party," declared Shinn.

"He has enforced the law against monopoly, he has caused the enactment of remedial legislation to which the business of the country is adjusting itself. His services to the country and his patriotism entitle him to a second term.

"California cannot afford to endanger the protection of the present tariff system. Throughout the country is a fear that the assaults on the tariff, if successful, will produce a repetition of the panics of 1893 and 1897.

"The supporters of Johnson will support Taft," concluded Shinn.

Belshaw made a ringing speech and the following committees were then appointed:

Resolutions—O. L. Shinn, chairman; Charles Murdock, D. Cohn, George D. Worsick, W. A. Rugg.

The following were named as the Executive Council: B. B. Tutt, Yolo; Byron Manzy, T. G. Sanborn, W. D. Fennimore, C. A. Murdock, A. Sharboro, M. D. Cohn, Alex Russell and A. D. Frets of San Francisco; M. E. Sanborn, Sutter; H. W. D. Brown, San Mateo; A. E. Miller, Sacramento; Col. D. W. Longwell and J. V. Vielly, Los Angeles; W. P. Lyon, Santa Clara, and Prof. David Barrows of Berkeley.

DIXON AND M'KINLEY GET PERSONAL IN FIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Senator Dixon of Montana, chairman of the Roosevelt Executive Committee, replied today to the statement given out by the national Taft headquarters yesterday, in which attention was called to the location of the Roosevelt headquarters in a building owned by Frank A. Munsey.

"We elected Taft four years ago out of the International Harvester Company building in Chicago," said Chairman Dixon. "Our headquarters occupied the sixth floor of that building and so far as I know no rent was paid for the rooms.

"If personalities are wanted in this campaign," Senator Dixon continued, "we will give them more than they expect.

"Four years ago, when I was trying to elect Taft, Mr. McKinley, now head of the Taft Committee, was down South rounding up delegates for Speaker Cannon."

The national Taft headquarters gave out a statement declaring that the "farmers of the Middle West" are "demanding that George W. Perkins and Medill McCormick, related to officials of the harvester trust, separate themselves from Mr. Roosevelt and his campaign."

"In this demand," the statement says, "they are only indicating their ignorance of the fact that Mr. Perkins probably would have lost his job long ago had it not been for his intimate friendship with Mr. Roosevelt, running back over many years.

"While still remaining a director of the steel corporation and of the International Harvester Company, Mr. Perkins recently has severed himself from many of his business connections and now is devoting much of his time to 'solving the problems of the times.' The first great work along this line to which Mr. Perkins is now directing his undivided attention and his pocketbook is the nomination and election of Mr. Roosevelt to a third term as President."

President Taft's manager, Representative McKinley, made the following statement regarding the alleged activity among Federal employees:

"Under the recent ruling of the Civil Service Commission the managers of the campaign of any Presidential candidate may inquire of any Federal office holder as to political conditions in his vicinity and may even ask his own political preferences, which I distinctly did not do in my letter of the 24th.

"I might suggest that Mr. Roosevelt's managers are as free as I am to write any office holder in the United States at any time and what is more to the point they are doing it. The friends of Mr. Roosevelt, among whom Senator Dixon has always been conspicuous, did not hesitate to follow a similar line of action four years ago, and properly too, because only in that way could they have secured any reliable information on which to map out their campaign."

ROOSEVELT IS STILL EXPLAINING LETTERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 5.—To clear up conflicting statements as to what he had said in the past regarding the Presidential nomination, Theodore Roosevelt made public today a letter which he wrote last January to Frank A. Munsey, the publisher.

Mr. Roosevelt's object in giving out the communication, he said, was to refute the charge that he was breaking a promise in agreeing to accept the nomination if it were offered to him. He called particular attention to a passage in the letter which, while stating he would not be a candidate, declared that he would not go on record as being unwilling to accept the nomination.

"To every man I talked with," Mr. Roosevelt said, "I made in substance that same statement and I made it in hundreds of letters."

The portion of the Munsey letter to which he called particular attention, follows:

"What I have said to you and am about to say, I have for instance, said not only to other friends who think I ought to be nominated but to friends (and even foes) who think I ought not to be nominated, provided only I could trust their sincerity, intelligence and truthfulness. For instance, I have said the same thing to Secretary Stimson, Secretary Meyer and Congressman Longworth, who are supporting Taft; to Mr. Pinchot and to Congressmen Lenroot and Kent, who are supporting La Follette. I have said that to editors, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Van Valkenburg and Mr. Wright; I practically said that to the entire Aldine Club—Democrats, Republicans—everyone.

"I am not and shall not be a candidate. I shall not seek the nomination, nor would I accept it if it came to me as the result of an intrigue. But I will not tie my hands by a statement which would make it difficult or impossible for me to serve the public by undertaking a great task if the people as a whole seemed definitely to come to the conclusion that I ought to do that task. In other words, as far as in me lies, I am endeavoring to look at this matter purely from the standpoint of the public interest, of the interest of the people as a whole and not in the least from my own standpoint.

"If I should consult only my own pleasure and interests I should most empathatically and immediately announce that I would under no circumstances run. I have had all the honor that any man can have from holding the office of President. From every personal standpoint there is nothing for me to gain either in running for the office or in holding the office once more, and there is very much to lose.

"Under such circumstances, if I consulted only my own interest, the obvious thing to do would be to announce that I would not obey any popular mandate; that I would not run if nominated. I shall not follow this course, because I am sincerely endeavoring to look at the matter only from the standpoint of the popular interest. It is not only necessary for the people to have the right instrument, the right tool, with which to work in any given emergency, but it is necessary that they themselves shall choose, and shall believe in the sufficiency of that instrument. If at this particular crisis, with the particular problems ahead of us at this particular time, the people feel that I am the one man in sight to do the job, then I should regard myself as shirking a plain duty if I refused to do it.

"If the people should feel that I was the instrument to be used at this time, I should accept even although I knew that I should be broken and cast aside in the using.

"In short, I am not concerned with the welfare of any one man in this matter, not with Mr. Taft's welfare, nor Mr. La Follette's, and least of all, my own; I am concerned only with the welfare of the people of the United States.

"If, at this time, I announce that I would accept if nominated, it would be blazoned abroad by all my enemies and ultimately believed by a large portion even of my good friends and well-wishers, that I had in my own interest announced my candidacy; that I was an active candidate; that I was striving by every means to secure the nomination for President. At this time—whatever may be the case in the future—I do not see that any other outcome could be expected.

"Let me illustrate what I mean by referring you to the language in which, after the election of 1904, I announced that I would not be a candidate for renomination. At the time good friends of mine suggested that I should use some such formula as stating that I would not be a candi-

If you want to see the Burbank company's biggest comedy success of the season you'll have to hurry, because THIS IS POSITIVELY THE LAST WEEK OF

Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch

Ever since the first performance, the Burbank theater has been crowded with delighted and enthusiastic audiences. It is not a difficult matter to understand the liking. MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH is a clean, wholesome, typically American play.

You know this is the first time "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" has ever been played by any Stock Company—its popularity with the Burbank audiences has been little short of sensational.

There will be only six more performances of MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH at the Burbank Theater. This means that the house is certain to be jammed to the doors at each of the remaining performances—YOU KNOW THE ONLY WAY TO BE SURE TO GET SEATS IS TO ORDER THEM QUICK.

Regular Burbank prices for this notable success: Nights, 25c, 50c and 75c; Matinees TOMORROW, Saturday and Sunday, 15c and 25c.

Not Guilty.

ORMER MAYOR IS ACQUITTED.

ene Schmitz Is Absolved on Court's Order.

istrict Attorney Says He Has No Evidenne.

dge Directs Ruef's Return to San Quentin.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Eugene E. Schmitz, former Mayor of San Francisco and the last of the men implicated in the famous graft cases in 1906 to face a jury, was set free today of the charge of having extorted Supervisor Andrew Wilson in the so-called gas cases, for which he was indicted by the grand jury in May. Acting upon the request of Dist. Atty. Charles M. Fickert, Judge William P. Lawlor instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, which was done.

Both Schmitz and Abraham Ruef, political boss of San Francisco at the time Schmitz was Mayor, and now serving a sentence of fourteen years in San Quentin for bribery, were in court when the case was called. Ruef was brought from the penitentiary to testify against Schmitz, but had refused to do so, as a number of indictments were still pending against him, one of which had been dismissed by Judge Lawlor.

Judge Lawlor asked the District Attorney today if any action had been taken on the indictments still pending against Ruef in Judge Dunne's court. Fickert replied that there had not, and added:

"We have no evidence that the defendant gave a bribe to Supervisor Wilson. I do not believe we would be justified in placing responsibility of bribing this mater upon the jury, which I think should be advised to find the defendant."

The court accordingly instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Judge Lawlor declared that even if they disregarded his instructions and found a verdict of guilty he would be forced to set it aside, under the State Supreme Court's interpretation of the law.

Judge Lawlor said he would consider within two weeks motions for the dismissal of the remaining indictments against Schmitz and, after the jury had filed out, entered an order for Ruef's return to San Quentin to-morrow.

Ruef's attorney interrupted proceedings at this point.

"I submit, your honor, that there must be some legal way whereby Abraham Ruef should not be sent back to San Quentin when his co-defendants, all of them, have been discharged from custody. It is not just, and this court must realize the injustice of this."

Judge Lawlor declined to discuss his ruling, and Ruef was taken back to the County Jail. Schmitz smiled when the verdict was announced, and bowed to the jurors as they left the court room.

Seattle Graduate Gets Judgment When Treatment Fails to Work.

[A. P. NIGHT NEWS REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 5.—George B. Wynns, who took a course of treatment in a drink cure institution, and then, according to his testimony, began drinking again as soon as discharged, won a verdict for $175 against the institution in the Superior Court today. Testimony showed that the institution pledged itself to return a $125 fee and forfeit $50 if a cure was not effected. Wynns testified that his appetite for liquor was as vigorous now as before the treatment.

HEADS FIRE UNDERWRITERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—The first regular meeting of the newly organized Intercity Association of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific Coast was held here today. Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles were represented. Although organization was completed a month ago officers were not chosen until today. D. W. Pierce of Los Angeles was made president and former State Senator Frank P. Jackson of Washington, secretary. The object of the new association is to consider questions pertaining to insurance conditions which are similar in the four cities.

NEW TEMPLE FLOODED.

SEWER TRAP ADMITS WATER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Police reserves at the new Hall of Justice waded in water knee deep for several hours today when the lower floor of the structure was flooded by the bursting of a trap on the storm sewer. Members of the night watch were peacefully dosing when a small sized geyser sprang up in the floor of the captain's office. When the trap gave way, water shot up four feet in the air, and within thirty minutes the entire lower floor of the building was flooded. Policemen removed their shoes and stockings, rolled up their trousers and suppressed the gushing water. An explosion in the basement of the building injured three persons yesterday and caused considerable damage.

REQUISITIONS ARE HONORED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO (Cal.) March 5.—The requisition from the Governor of Washington for the return of A. F. Eddy, arrested in Berkeley on a charge of grand larceny, was honored today by Gov. Johnson. Requisition papers from the Governor of Illinois for the return to Chicago of John Richardson, alias Valley O'John, now under arrest at Fresno, also were honored. The prisoner is wanted in Chicago on a charge of murder, committed in 1903.

WILSON TICKET NAMED.

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—The first complete ticket of delegates in the field for the campaign to precede the Presidential primary election, to be held May 14, is that named by the supporters of Woodrow Wilson. his ticket is representative of the entire State and has on it a number of the best-known Democrats in California. It follows:

For delegates at large: James D. Phelan, San Francisco; Senator A. Caminetti, Jackson; Timothy Spellacy, Los Angeles; George S. Patton, San Gabriel.

Second Congressional District: M. C. Kerr, Quincy; W. A. Dower, San Andreas.

Third Congressional District: Judge C. E. McLaughlin, Sacramento; George E. Catts, Stockton.

Fourth Congressional District: Ex-Mayor Edward R. Taylor, San Francisco; Irving Ackerman, San Francisco.

Fifth Congressional District: Thomas E. Hayden, San Francisco; Charles W. Fay, San Francisco.

Sixth Congressional District: W. B. Reinhart, Oakland; J. Early Craig, Oakland.

Seventh Congressional District: Senator George W. Cartright, Fresno; John Griffin, Madera.

Eighth Congressional District: John A. Barnaberg, San Luis Obispo; B. F. Thomas, Santa Barbara.

Ninth Congressional District: Z. T. Malaby, Pasadena; Lorin A. Handley, Los Angeles.

Tenth Congressional District: Charles Wellborn, Los Angeles; Jeff P. Chandler, Los Angeles.

Eleventh Congressional District: Albert Schoonover, San Diego; George M. Cooley, San Bernardino.

Rumor Again Has Her About to Wed.

Miss Katherine Elkins,

Rumored fiancee of the Duke of the Abruzzi, who sails today for Guatemala. W. F. Hitt, persistent suitor, whose bride, it is rumored, she may become, sails on same ship.

Romance.

KATHERINE ELKINS MAY BECOME A BRIDE AT SEA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Occupying adjoining suites at the St. Charles Hotel, Miss Katherine Elkins, once the fiancee of the Duke of the Abruzzi, and W. F. Hitt, son of R. R. Hitt, American Minister to Guatemala, spent today and tonight in New Orleans, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Elkins, brother and sister-in-law respectively of Katherine.

The entire party sails tomorrow morning for Puerto Barrios and will spend two weeks in Guatemala City as the guests of Minister Hitt. They will then go to Panama to inspect the canal and thence to Jamaica, returning from Kingston direct to New York.

Mr. Hitt does not deny that he is still the devoted cavalier. He has trailed Katherine about the world for the last year, but it seems she will not consent to marriage.

Eight months ago Mr. Hitt, Katherine and the Elkinses formed a house-boat party that went to Avery Island, Louisiana, in the heart of the Creole country, and spent two weeks rusticating. At that time rumor was persistent that announcement of the engagement would soon be made. While no definite statement could be obtained tonight, it is understood that before Katherine Elkins returns to New York she will have changed her name. It was intimated tonight that the marriage might be performed on the sea.

The voyagers will have perfect moonlight nights the greater part of the trip and friends say Katherine likes a bit of romance.

date in 1908, because of the custom that had grown up not to elect a man as President for a third consecutive term; but, on thinking it over, I became convinced that if I used such language it would inevitably be taken as an announcement that I would be a candidate for another term in 1912—and this in spite of the fact that, of course, the language, if taken literally, would only have referred to 1908, and have had no more bearing on 1912 than on 1916 or 1948.

"Accordingly I used language which simply stated that I paid heed to the essence and not the form of the wise custom of our forefathers in reference to the third term; the essence, of course, being that the custom applied just as much when my first term was the filling out of an unexpired term of my predecessor as if it had been an elective term and that, on the other hand, it had no application whatever to the candidacy of a man who was not at the time in office, whether he had or had not been President before. Yet, even as it was, men at once began to ask me whether my remark was to be held to apply to 1912 or to 1916; to which I of course responded that it would be preposterous to answer such questions one way or the other.

"If my position were only pose, I should certainly act differently from the way I am acting, for I am well aware that the way I am acting is not the way in which to act if I desire to be made President. But my attitude is not a pose. I am acting as I do because, according to my lights, I am endeavoring, in a not too easy position, to do what I believe the interests of the people demand.

"I have been President; I am well known to the American people; I am to be judged not by words, but by my acts, and whether the people like or dislike me, they have these acts all before them for their decision."

ENGAGED TO MILLIONAIRE.

Daughter of Former New York Policy King Soon to be Married to Member of Cincinnati Family.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Jack Gallatin, daughter of "Al" Adams, one-time policy king, is to be married to Francis Baldwin Anderson, a young Cincinnati millionaire, who has just been divorced by his wife. Mrs. Gallatin was secretly divorced last August.

The wedding will take place somewhere in the West Indies before the end of March. Mrs. Gallatin is now on a cruise and Anderson will join her as soon as he can come from the West. It is said that he is now in Denver.

Young Anderson, who is about 30 years of age, is a member of the Cincinnati family of that name, which rides on the crest of the Cincinnati social wave along with the Tafts and the Longworths.

GUNBOAT PLANS REVISED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Navy Department experts have revised the plans for the gunboat Sacramento, for the building of which no bid was received within the Congressional allowance of $500,000. The tonnage of the projected vessel has been reduced from 1675, as originally designed, to 1500, and other changes and eliminations have been made, the most important being a reduction of the speed of the ship from fourteen knots to twelve knots. These changes, it is believed, will result in bids within the limit of the appropriation, when another call for proposals is made.

COLORADO STRIKE ENDS.

COAL MINERS RETURNING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, March 5.—By an agreement entered into by officials of District 15, United Mine Workers of America, and officials of the American Fuel Company, the strike in the Northern Colorado coal fields which has continued for nearly two years, is virtually settled so far as the eight mines of this company are concerned. As a result about 300 men will return to work in Louisville and Lafayette tomorrow and nearly 1000 men will return to work in the northern fields within ten days. The agreement was the result of concessions on both sides in order to end the industrial warfare which has cost each side nearly $500,000 since April 1, 1910. Under the terms of the agreement the men are given an increase of 3 cents a ton on the run of mine coal and of 5 per cent. on day work. They asked for an increase of 5.55 per cent. on all work.

DOLLAR GAS.

FRESNO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This city is to have a dollar gas on and after the first day of October unless the gas company is able to knock out the city ordinance in the courts. The ordinance reducing gas from one dollar and a quarter to one dollar per thousand feet was passed at the meeting of the city trustees today but does not go into effect until October. Manager Henderson of the local office has announced that gas cannot be made with a profit at one dollar so it is supposed that the ordinance will be fought in the court.

COTTERILL IS IN LEAD FOR MAYOR OF SEATTLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George F. Cotterill early this morning looks like Seattle's next Mayor. Although only a little over one-half the city's votes have been counted, it appears that Hiram C. Gill has lost his fight, the women apparently having turned against him.

It was one of the bitterest fights in the history of Seattle's politics and at this hour Cotterill is leading by 500 votes.

Some strong Gill precincts have not yet reported. It is believed, however, that nine university precincts will more than offset the Gill downtown precincts.

The Socialists made a strong effort to elect their candidate for corporation counsel, Dr. E. J. Brown, and it is predicted that he will have at least 25,000 votes.

The referendum ballots have not yet been taken up and there are no returns on the single tax, municipal, telephone and civic plans propositions.

RACE IS CLOSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 5.—One hundred and fifty out of 281 precincts give Cotterill 16,386; Gill 16,344.

With returns in hand from half of the city, George F. Cotterill, municipal ownership and single tax candidate for Mayor, has a slight lead over Hiram C. Gill, open-town candidate, who was recalled a year ago, and who sought vindication in the present campaign. In the precincts that have reported are many of the Gill strongholds. Gill held the vote which he obtained in the primary of February 20, and added something to it; whereas Cotterill frequently doubled and trebled his vote. Supporters claim a majority of more than 2000 for their candidate. During the last few days the campaign took on the aspect of the battle for the recall of Gill, when church people and women were called on to vote for the suppression of vice.

Are Microbes In Your Scalp?

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Prof. Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabourand, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the Sebum, which is the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and he scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize he hair roots, and overcome baldness so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It wil frequently restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by making every hair root, follicle and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give Rexall "93" Hair Tonic a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it in Los Angeles only at our stores, The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle and Spokane.

today that they fear the moral effect on American miners of a victory by the English workers.

Operators say that the severe winter has made heavy demands upon the supply and estimates place the amount of anthracite coal on hand at about 10,000,000 tons. This will last about a month.

MINER'S DEMANDS MUST BE MODIFIED IN EAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—Representatives of the bituminous coal operators' associations in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois met today with officials of the United Mine Workers of North America, and it was decided that another meeting should be held in Cleveland, March 20, when the coal mining situation will be discussed.

More than 400,000 men are involved.

Harry N. Taylor of Illinois, one of the operators' representatives said the union was demanding a 20 per cent. increase in wages. He said unless this demand was modified a disagreement would result. He said the increase was demanded in the form of 10 per cent. increase in pay and the reduction of the eight-hour day to seven hours, and five hours on Saturday. The meeting was the result of an adjournment of a similar conference at Indianapolis, February 1.

SIX MILLION TONS OF COAL IS IN STORAGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILKESBARRE (Pa.) March 5.—It is estimated that the anthracite coal operators have about six million tons of coal in storage in preparation for a strike, which may come when the existing agreement expires, March 31. There are also about 2,000,000 tons in New York City at present, this being almost half a million tons above the normal supply. Most of the railroads have about a month's supply in hand.

FRUIT STEAMERS FROM SPAIN ARE SUSPENDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CASTELLON DE LA PLANTA (Spain) March 5.—In consequence of the British coal strike numerous steamers engaged in fruit transportation to England have been suspended. The cultivators are menaced with ruin and thousands of workers have been thrown out of employment.

IRON MINERS IN SPAIN STRIKE; NINETEEN HELD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTANDER (Spain) March 5.—The workmen at the mines of San Salvador and Sateres, from which a large quantity of iron ore is exported to Great Britain, went on strike today. Nineteen of the men have been arrested on a charge of coercing the others to strike.

GENERAL STRIKE IS IN PROSPECT IN GERMANY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, March 5.—The men at one of the British mines at Bochum, who went on strike unexpectedly yesterday, resumed work today and the movement has not spread to other mines. There are prospects, however, of a general mining strike in Germany. The government has prepared the necessary police measures for dealing with eventualities.

CLASH OVER SUGAR BILL.

DEMOCRATS IN A QUARREL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—A spirited clash between Democratic members of the House over the free sugar bill reported today marked consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill. Representative Garner of Texas, Democrat, sought to have adopted an amendment to the agricultural measure providing $5000 for investigation and experiments with sugar-production plants in the Rio Grande Valley in Texas. Representative Martin of Colorado, Democrat, offered a substitute amendment to grant that amount to the State of Colorado. He arraigned Representative Garner for endeavoring to curry political favor with his constitutents at the expense of the government.

WIFE DEMANDS DIVORCE FROM FORMER FRISCO HEAD.

Mrs. Alfred J. Davidson Declares She Has Considered His Feelings As Long As Her Own Interests Will Permit—Claims to Have Had Advices of His Doings.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Pearl Elliott Davidson announced today she would prosecute the divorce she filed Friday against Alfred J. Davidson, former president of the 'Frisco Railroad, notwithstanding the friendliness of a letter she just had received from her husband. She said she believed she has been considerate of his feelings as long as her own interests would permit.

The letter began: "My Dear Pearl," and ended, "Lovingly, Fred," she said.

"It seems almost ironical doesn't it?" she said, "that I should be forced to endure the humiliation and publicity of this. I have heard that my husband has been converted and baptized into a Baptist church of Portland, Or. They say he sings in the choir every Sunday."

She didn't want to injure him, she said, and withheld the suit until he got a position with the Portland and Seattle Railway.

"And it wasn't my extravagance at all that brought about our separation," she went on. "I always tried to live within our means. But my husband was a lavish entertainer, as a railroad man he visited many cities, and like a sailor, he had women friends in every place, on whom he spent much time and money in entertainment.

"Why, this went on even after we had left St. Louis for California, and I was doing the best I could to economize. A friend of mine was in a San Francisco cafe at a table next to one at which my husband was sitting. While the merriment was at its height, this friend told me, he heard my husband call a waiter and order him to deliver $50 worth of wine at the apartment of a woman acquaintance.

"Another thing which kept him away from home for long periods was his interest in a musical comedy singer. Four or five years ago, the first night of this company's engagement, he amazed the players by a gift of a floral piece, six feet high, to the star of the company. I understood afterward that he kept up his interest in the company when it moved to other cities to which his affairs called him.

"I tried to be liberal with Mr. Davidson. I never chided with and I kept patience with him as long as possible. But things finally had come to such a pass that I couldn't remain patient any longer, and I decided to seek divorce."

Referring to Canal Matter, He Says Californians Want to Continue "Cutthroat" Methods.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Maxwell Evarts, general counsel for the Southern Pacific Railway, and R. P. Schwerin, vice-president of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company advised the committee on interstate and foreign commerce today to put the regulation of rates on the Panama Canal in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The only complaint comes from the people in California who have something to sell," said Mr. Evarts. "When they had $3 freight rates around Cape Horn, a $6 rate over the Isthmus of Panama, and a $9 rate on the railroad across the continent, they fixed prices on the basis of $9 rate and put the extra $6 in their pocket. They want to keep up this "cutthroat competition."

The resolution reported to the House by the Rules Committee was introduced by Representative Hardy of Texas. It directs the committee to make a thorough investigation of the practices of all steamship lines.

Mother of Twelve Children Files Suit Accusing Husband of Extreme Cruelty.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After nearly thirty years of married life, during which time they reared twelve children, five girls and seven boys, Mr. and Mrs. Knox A. Thorp, residing near Lodi, have chosen different paths and the latter has filed a divorce complaint. Mrs. Thorp alleges extreme cruelty, specifying that on several occasions her husband applied vile epithets to her and ordered her away from the home. She avers that on one occasion, during an outburst of temper, he dragged her from one room to another by the hair and threw her out of the house with such force that she was rendered unconscious. She also charges Thorp with being intemperate. The couple were married in Mokelumne Hill on July 8, 1883. Thorp is a plumber and also a farmer.

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough—has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SUN CULT HEAD STILL SMILING.

Hanish Emerges from Jail in Rare Good Humor.

His First Release Leads to a Second Arrest.

Sureties Schedule Quarter Million in Property.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, bubbling over with good humor and philosophy, emerged this afternoon from the County Jail, after an imprisonment of nearly twenty-four hours. The various hitches during the day in securing his release on bail, a second arrest, after the first bail was secured, the siege of camera men—none of these tribulations could disturb the jail-given good humor of Dr. Hanish.

It was nearly 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the leader of the Mazdaznan cult of sun worshipers, arrested Monday on the charge of sending objectionable literature from one State to another by express, was released. No sooner, however, had his bail bond been signed by his friends and he set free, than the State authorities arrested him again, this time on the charge of harboring obscene literature in his home. A second bond had to be furnished.

The delay in securing the release of the high priest of Mazdaznanism was caused by the lengthy bargaining between Assistant United States District Attorney Childs and counsel for Hanish, over the reduction of the $25,000 bond, fixed Monday by Commissioner Foote. It was finally reduced to $10,000. Then the papers were signed by George Herwig, his wife, Mrs. Emma Herwig, Albert L. Kuehmstedt and his wife, Mrs. Julia Kuehmstedt, Honoria Tully and Minnie Brauckmann. All are followers and disciples of Hanish, and all are well supplied with the goods of this world. They scheduled property to the value of $250,000. Some of them could have scheduled that amount individually. Dana Angier, postoffice inspector, took large quantities of printed matter of all kinds, confiscated in the raid, before the grand jury today.

Dr. Hanish ran a gauntlet of snapping cameras. He gave the newspaper men today a sketch of his life, saying that he was born in Persia; that his father was a German Baron and his mother a Russian Princess. He said he had become a subject of the United States twenty years ago. He said he had established himself in Salt Lake City, where he had many a merry battle with the Mormon church. He refused to acknowledge that the Mormons had driven him to defeat and out of Utah. His cult had a branch still flourishing in that city, he said.

Massachusetts Court Sentences Her to Die With Man in Electric Chair for Murdering Husband.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PLYMOUTH (Mass.) March 5.—For the first time in Massachusetts criminal procedure, a woman, Mrs. Lena Cusumano of Hull, was sentenced to death in the electric chair today, by Judge Quinn in the Superior Court here.

Enrico Mascioli, who was convicted jointly with Mrs. Cusumano for the murder of the woman's husband in September, 1910, also was sentenced to death.

Both sentences are to be carried out in the week beginning June 2.

CINCINNATI, March 5.—That traffic in human beings can be regulated by the interstate commerce acts a swell as traffic in chattels, was held by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today in an opinion delivered by Justice Dennison. The conviction of three women on the charge of violating the "white slave law" was upheld and the women ordered to serve their sentences. The attorney for the women gave notice that he would carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

PACKERS' CASE NEARS END.

Trial Materially Shortened by Admission of Important Corporate Statement by Stipulation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—The government expects to rest its case in the trial of the ten meat packers, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law, tomorrow or Thursday.

The trial, which began December 4, was shortened materially today when both sides agreed to have read to the jury stipulated corporate statements, describing the organization and financial condition of the four companies controlled by the defendants, instead of calling a score of witnesses to prove the facts.

The first of these statements was that of Armour & Co. It showed that the company was incorporated in 1900 with a capital stock of $20,000,000, and has a surplus of $70,000,000.

NEW BLOOD IN GENERAL STAFF.

Nearly Two Dozen Army Officers Called in From Field to Replace Those Long at Washington.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Carrying out the theory upon which it was founded, that the general staff of the army be kept supplied with new blood by continually displacing the officers who have seen four years' service by men called in from the field, nearly two dozen changes in that body were announced today.

Four lieutenant-colonels were added, as follows: Charles R. Noyes, Twenty-first Infantry; Harry C. Benson, Fifth Cavalry; William G. Haan, Coast Artillery, and Frederick S. Foltz, Fifteenth Cavalry.

Four majors were added, as follows: Daniel W. Ketcham, Coast Artillery; Frank E. Harris, Coast Artillery; Arthur S. Conklin, Coast Artillery, and Benjamin A. Poore, Twenty-second Infantry.

Twelve captains were added: William Mitchell, Signal Corps; S. J. Bayard Schindel, Sixth Infantry; James T. Moore, Twenty-seventh Infantry; William T. Merry, Ninth Infantry; Halstead Dorey, Fourth Infantry; John W. Wright, Seventh Infantry; William J. Glasgow, Eighteenth Infantry; George C. Barnhardt, Fifteenth Cavalry; Melvin W. HARD SENTENCE DISMAYS WOMEN

Window Smashers Gets Prison and Hard Labor.

London Magistrates Buried With Their Cases.

Leaders Declare They Will Spread Reign of Terror.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 5.—Two of the suffragettes who took part in last night's window-smashing campaign in Victoria street, in the vicinity of the Houses of Parliament, were sentenced by the Bow-street magistrate today to two months' imprisonment at hard labor.

The magistrate has 150 cases against suffragettes still to deal with, eighty-seven of them arising from the serious riots of last Friday, when the accused caused damage of $25,000, and the other in connection with last night's disturbance.

Alice Wright, described as an American resident of Paris, was sent today by the magistrate sitting in the West London Police Court to two months' imprisonment at hard labor on a charge of window smashing.

All the other women who engaged in the raid yesterday in the west end of London received similar sentences.

The addition of hard labor to the term of imprisonment is a departure on the part of the magistrates and has caused dismay among the women.

The much-advertised meeting of suffragettes in Parliament Square last night to protest against the refusal of Premier Asquith to receive a deputation, proved a fiasco, so far as concerned any sensational display of militant prowess and cunning, which was predicted by the organizers.

About fifty women were arrested, but the damage done was inconsiderable compared with Friday's raid.

STUDENTS TAKE REVENGE.

While the militant suffragettes were vainly endeavoring to break through the cordon of police about Parliament Square, two hundred medical students organized a raid on the suffragette premises to pay them back in their own coin.

Marching to the building occupied by the Women's Press in Charing Cross Road, where there was a big display of suffragette literature, they bombarded it with stones, smashing all the windows to an accompaniment of cheers from spectators.

Another band attacked the International Suffrage Shop in Adam street, The Strand, smashing a big plate glass window and wrecking the front of the building.

Meanwhile the suffragettes were being balked in all attempts to hold a meeting, through elaborate police precautions. Mounted police were stationed at short intervals along the main thoroughfares leading to Parliament, while solid phalanxes of officers on foot lined the curbs.

Long before the hour for the meeting to begin a huge crowd filled Trafalgar Square, Whitehall and the adjacent streets. Notwithstanding the watchfulness of the police, one suffragette succeeded in smashing half a dozen windows in government offices.

CHAINS HERSELF TO TREE.

A woman chained herself to a tree in Whitehall and, unable to remove the chain, the police uprooted the tree with the suffragette still attached and carried both to the police station.

The aspect of the streets gave evidence of the extent to which the suffragettes have terrorized London. Many shops were closed and shuttered long before the usual time. Others were boarded up.

Even in the city, far from Parliament, banks and other big establishments were protected by shutters and barricaded. Sir Edward Poynter announced that the exhibition of old masters at the royal academy would be closed today—a fortnight earlier than was intended. It was thought suffragists might attempt to damage the pictures.

Foiled in their efforts to hold a demonstration, a number of suffragettes organized a window-smashing raid in Victoria street.

Addressing a packed meeting of militant suffragettes this evening, Mrs. Frederick Pethick Lawrence, one of the editors of "Votes for Women," who in November was sentenced to a month's imprisonment, declared that the women would not hesitate to burn down a royal palace if it were necessary to gain their ends.

Referring to the threats to bring a suit for conspiracy under which the suffragettes could be sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, Mrs. Lawrence declared that that would be the best day's work ever done for the women's movement. Continuing, she said:

"I throw out a message of absolute defiance to Mr. Asquith. We mean to be militant throughout the session. If Friday's methods were not strong enough, we will terrorize the whole country."

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frederick Hix, gentleman burglar, arrested here for robbery of the Monon station, is one of the shrewdest criminals ever dealt with by Lafayette police. So cleverly has Hix concealed his identity and his work that not a person in Lafayette, save the one man to whom he was reporting monthly, knew that he was a paroled convict. At the Y.M.C.A. he was highly respected and everywhere he was introduced he made a most favorable impression. Hix and a young woman of social rank were engaged. Her father interviewed Hix and for the first time since his arrest he broke down and cried as he tried to explain why he had concealed from her his past life.

NEW MILITARY ATTACHE.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Maj. George C. Squier, U.S.A., has been appointed military attache to the United States Embassy at London, to succeed Maj. Stephen L. H. Slocum. He will leave for London in June, but in the meantime will make a trip to the Isthmus of Panama to select sites for five wireless stations. Maj. Squier, who for some time has been attached to the signal corps, invented the multiple telephone and dedicated his patent to the government.

SUFFRAGETTE MUST PAY TAX.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—Miss Belle Squire, president of the "No vote, no tax League," who for several years has refused to pay taxes because she had no vote will be compelled to pay this year, according to County Attorney Francis S. Wilson. Miss Squire recently wrote an insurgent-toned letter to County Treasurer O'Connell in which she said she would not pay her personal property tax unless she was allowed to vote for the men who made the assessments. Attorney Wilson places Miss Squire in the same position as a miner whose property is taxed and who has no vote.

LOSES MONEY FOUND IN BANK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 5.—A. W. Foster cannot have the money he picked up on the floor of a Kansas City safe deposit company. The Court of Appeals declared today the money should remain with the deposit company. Foster upon finding $180 on the vault floor turned it over to officers of the company. No owner for the company was found and he brought suit to recover it. Several months ago a jury awarded him the find and the deposit concern appealed.

PATRIOTISM OF CHILDREN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) March 5.—"Too much patriotism of form and not enough real patriotism, too much national and not enough personal patriotism is taught the average grade pupil, according to A. W. Dunn, chairman of the Civic League of New York City. He was talking before a meeting of the principals of the Kansas City schools today. "The study of civics should always begin with, and always consider the interests of the child," Mr. Dunn said; "a child should be taught, for instance, in considering a division of the municipal government, not the work and duties of that department but its relation to him. In the same way patriotism should be personal and not national."

"GOODY GOODY" CONDEMNED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MINNEAPOLIS, March 5.—That the "goody goody boy," who does not play "hookey," from school, "swipe" water melons and go swimming in the creek in the face of parental protection, is not worth much even as a minister when he grows up, is the belief of the Rev. F. A. Cone, pastor of the St. Anthony Park Methodist Church. "If preachers are taken from this 'goody goody' type of boys, so much the worse for the profession," said the Rev. Mr. Cone in an address here yesterday at the Minneapolis Ministerial Association. "I do not believe the adolescent period of a boy's life when he would rather follow in the footsteps of Buffalo Bill than any of the saints, should be avoided."

BENEDICTINES LOSE ESTATE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—By a judgment in the Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday the lower court decisions under which a Catholic Monastic order received the property of a member who died was set aside. The Appellate Court held that when an order once permitted a monk to own property, the inheritance passes to the natural heirs unless he has arranged otherwise in a will. Augustine Wirth, a Benedictine monk, has been permitted by the abbott to own the copyright of his books. When he died his order claimed the royalties and brought suit against the administrator. The administrator pleaded that as the order had released Wirth from his vow of poverty, it had no claim on the property.

WIGGLE DANCES BARRED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—Harry English, a steward of the University of Chicago Club of men students, last night issued a ukase against the "grizzly bear" and similar dances in the clubhouse of the Reynolds Club. The reason for the action came from complaints that there had been "hints of the dance given at the last dancing party given by the club." Similar "hints" had been given at dances of other organizations in the clubhouse, Mr. English said, so the heard of managers decided that no more "hints" should be given.

University of Chicago Head Announces Plan to Cut Two Years Of Course of Business Preparation.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 5.—President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago, in his annual report, issued yesterday, announced novel plans for the reorganization of that institution, which, he said, would place men in business two years earlier than at present.

President Judson asserts that the university's progress only twenty years after its foundation has reached the record figure of 6466 students, regardless of continuous stiffening of scholastic requirements.

President Judson outlines two radical innovations in the scheme for the institution. These are:

(1.) Furnishing college educations to students at the age of 18 by cutting two years from the elementary school, one year from the high school course and inserting a junior college course of three years.

(2.) Extending opportunity for college education to thousands of Chicago young men and women now forced to forego such training by means of the foundation of new schools and reorganization of existing courses.

Above the college, according to the report, would be the university, which would offer an undergraduate course of two years and post-graduate courses of two or more years. This would give the student the bachelor's degree at the age of 20, and if he desired to specialize in one of the professions, he could complete his work in from three to five years more, so that he could be engaged in the actual practice of his profession at the age of 25.

To fill out the details of President Judson's plan, a number of Chicago's wealthy men will be asked to perpetuate their names in the foundation of new schools and the donation of new buildings.

CAR OF MAIL TRAPPED.

Reaches Omaha Frozen in Solid Mass of Ice as Result of Fire and Attempt to Quench It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frozen into a solid mass of ice, 210 sacks of paper mail from New York and New England, en route to Pacific Coast points, reached Omaha last night, and today the postal authorities have been busy trying to thaw the lump into pieces which can be handled. It is believed the entire lot is ruined.

The condition of the mail is the outcome of a fire in the railroad yards at Aurora, Ill., when a carload of second-class mail, which was being transported by the Burlington, took fire. The car was rushed to a locomotive watering tank and a flood of water turned on it. The fire was extinguished, but the contents of the car were soaked.

The train continued on its way and the water froze the mail into a solid cake of ice. The car was unloaded with pickaxes and crowbars. Much of the stuff has been transported to the basement of the Omaha postoffice building, where it is stacked around the furnaces in an effort at thawing it. A part will be sent to its destination. But a larger portion of it is completely ruined.

FRENCH CLAIMS TO FRONT.

Paris "Temps" Expresses Hope That Secretary Knox Will Solve Cuban and Venezuelan Cases.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 5.—Whatever may be the results of American Secretary of State Knox's trip to Central America and northern South America, the Paris Temps this afternoon says, the relations between the United States and Europe will be favorable so long as Europe's rightful interests are safeguarded.

It is hoped, the newspaper adds, that Mr. Knox will influence the governments of Venezuela and Cuba to arbitrate the long standing French claims against the countries.

France's claim against Cuba is for damages resulting from the destruction of property of French subjects in the course of the Cuban War of Independence.

The claims of France against Venezuela arose from the expulsion of several French citizens from Carupano in February, 1908.

INDIAN BOARD MEETS.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Board of Indian Commissioners, an unpaid body of ten members, first appointed by President Grant, and for many years a prominent factor in determining the Indian policy of the government, will hold its forty-third annual meeting at its offices in this city, March 6 and 7. Among those who will attend are Dr. Andrew S. Draper of Albany, Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, Dr. Samuel A. Eliot of Boston, Frank Knox of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., George Vaux, Jr., of Philadelphia, Bishop William D. Walker of Buffalo, Prof. W. K. Moorehead of Andover, Mass., Michael A. Banning of Brooklyn, and Dr. Merrill E. Gates of Washington.

JURY IN KIMMEL CASE DISAGREES.

LENGTH OF DELIBERATIONS IS RECORD BREAKER.

Jurors Get to Quarreling After Being Out Seventy-three Hours and Physical Clash Is Narrowly Averted—Majority for Plaintiff, Intimate Undue Influence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After having been out seventy-three hours, breaking the record for both Federal and State courts in Missouri, the jury in the Kimmel life insurance case was discharged this afternoon by Judge Amidon in the Federal District Court.

So bitter had the disagreement between members of the jury grown that just before their discharge the members fell to loud open recrimination while they occupied the jury box as to the unanimity of the partial verdict rendered the day before, and a physical clash between the leaders was only averted by the summary discharge of the jury.

It became known after the discharge that for days the jury had been lined up unchangeably eight for the plaintiff and three for the defendant. The twelfth member, Charles E. Booth of Hillsboro, was the only juror who after the first two ballots changed his vote. The three jurors who supported the defendant life insurance company were James F. Sullivan, James A. McMyler and William H. Gregg, Jr., of St. Louis. The majority of jurymen freely hinted their belief that undue influence had been brought to bear on their minority colleagues.

"One man, the moment he entered the jury room, boldly declared his mind was unchangeably made up in favor of the insurance company," said Henry M. Schliser, the foreman.

"No one has asked me to investigate the jury," said Federal Dist.-Atty. Charles A. Houts. "I believe both sides received and supported their views honestly."

Attorney Bacon for the plaintiff declared he was inquiring into a number of reports that had reached him regarding the jury, but stated he had not decided to ask a grand jury investigation.

"The case will probably come up again in the fall and we shall go on trial on the same pleadings as before," he said. "Disappearance is only one circumstance in establishing death."

J. A. McMyler and W. H. Gregg, two of the three jurors in the case who held out for the insurance company, said tonight they had seen untoward events on the part of the attorneys with members of the jury. They declared they were of the opinion the claimant was Kimmel, and as there had been no evidence to show Kimmel was dead in their opinion, they could not reconcile themselves to any verdict that was against the life insurance company.

SIAM FINDS REBEL PLOT.

BANGKOK (Siam) March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A serious revolution in favor of a republic in Siam has been unearthed. Many officers of the army and leading civilians have been arrested. The documents seized by the authorities show that the plot was of formidable proportions, both the navy and army being implicated.

LEAD LOCAL RAIN

THE precipitation of rain for the storm and season, up to last midnight, in this city and other California points, follows:

	Storm. Inches.	Season. Inches.
Los Angeles	2.52	5.41
Pasadena	4.17	7.43
Santa Monica	1.26	2.52
Pomona	2.06	6.04
Redlands	.75	4.15
Colton	.80	5.18
San Bernardino	.81	5.28
Santa Paula	2.20	4.60
San Diego	1.85	4.42
Ontario	.44	5.72
Santa Barbara	3.88	7.05
Elsinore	.81	...
Santa Ana	.97	3.34
Highland	1.14	6.54
Rialto	.85	5.09
Van Nuys	2.84	7.22
San Luis Obispo	2.39	...

The past twenty-four hours have added materially to the total rainfall for the season in Los Angeles and surrounding territory, and Forecast Official Wollaber says more may be expected today. The storm, however, is now central off the Northern California coast and unless a new situation develops the rain will be practically over by tonight.

The total rainfall in this city up to midnight for the storm was 2.52 inches and for the season 5.41 inches. Up to the same date last season 12.77 inches had fallen and, according to the statistics in the weather bureau, the average rainfall for the past forty-five years is 11.51 to this date. In the northern part of the State the fall was considerable. San Francisco received 1.32 inches for the storm and Fresno up to 6 o'clock reported .70 of an inch for the present storm.

In all parts of Southern California liberal rains fell. One result of the visitation will be the settling of hay prices to a normal basis. The continued dry weather had resulted in a condition where it was almost a misfortune to own live stock. In some sections cattle and horses were shipped out for points where provender could be secured at reasonable prices. It is believed that hay and grain will at once settle to a level where cattlemen will again operate profitably.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

TOTAL MATERIALLY RAISED.

PASADENA, March 5.—The rain which fell steadily yesterday afternoon and last night and made small rivers of the gutters in Pasadena, raised the precipitation figures very materially. The last reading taken by Weather Observer Sorver was at 9 o'clock last night. Then 1.47 of an inch had fallen since the last reading, making the total precipitation for the storm 4.17 inches, and the precipitation for the season, to date, 7.43 inches.

In Altadena 1.50 inches of rain had fallen at 9 o'clock, making the record there for the season, to date, 5.50 inches.

On Mt. Wilson the storm was more marked than anywhere else in this section. It was reported at the Cartagle observatory last night that the total precipitation for the storm up to 9 o'clock was about six inches.

At a late hour last night no damage by the rain had been reported at police headquarters and everywhere in the city and environs much joy was expressed over the abundance of the water.

WILL SAVE THOUSANDS.

GLENDALE, March 5.—Tests show that about three inches of rain fell in this city during the storm of Sunday night, Tuesday and Tuesday night. Throughout today a light but steady rain fell and practically none of it ran out of this valley. The local ranchers claim that this storm will result in the saving of thousands of dollars to farmers of this valley, who had many acres in grains and alfalfa. Owners of citrus groves claim that they also have been greatly benefited by the downpour.

SANTA MONICA, March 5.—Last night's rain added .32 of an inch to the precipitation, making the total for the storm 1.26 and for the season 2.52. These light rains have fallen so gently that there has been practically no storm water to be cared for. Practically the entire downpour has soaked into the earth. Early this evening rain was still falling.

WORTH A MILLION.

COVINA, March 5.—The Covina Valley started in tonight on the fourth inch of rainfall. The first signs of green on the hills began to show when the clouds dispersed for a moment, a welcome sight, after months of brown and parched landscape. Grain growers are rejoicing, and the private pumping plants that have been in almost constant operation on the orange ranches, have shut down.

The rain has already been worth a million dollars to the valley, and when it first began falling, was priced by a rancher as worth "a dollar a drop." The most significant change in the Covina Valley will come immediately in the price of hay. Ranchers who have been holding large amounts of stock-feed because they were afraid to sell and leave their own stock without feed, now see that the hills are going to furnish feed, and will be ready to let go of the local hay at reasonable prices.

ARE STILL SHORT.

SAN PEDRO, March 5.—The wind switched to the southeast this afternoon and at 5 o'clock tonight was blowing briskly from that direction accompanied by a heavy rain, with indications that the storm will continue during the night. According to the Point Firmin light station gauge the precipitation up to 5 o'clock tonight for the past twenty-four hours was .35 inches bringing the total up to 4.44 inches for the season, as against 2.54 inches for the same season last year.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

SECTION IS DRENCHED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] San Bernardino storm .81 season, 5.28. Highland storm, 1.14, season, 6.54. Colton storm, .80, season 5.18. Redlands storm, .75, season, 4.15. Rialto, .85, season 5.09.

Frequent showers during the day throughout the valley have added considerably to the season's rainfall. Tonight the heaviest downpour since the storm commenced, Saturday, is drenching the county. The storm for the day, up to 6 o'clock tonight amounted to a precipitation of: San Bernardino, 10; Redlands 10; Highland 9; Colton 8; Rialto 9.

HEAVIEST OF SEASON.

ONTARIO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The heaviest rain of the season commenced falling over this city at 2:30 this afternoon, continuing in a steady downpour until well after dark adding .44 inches to the season's total, which now stands 5.72 inches.

It is still raining intermittantly. Gutters on Euclid avenue were overflowing at 7 p.m., and foot bridges are covered with water. Rain more than welcome to ranchers and farmers. Price of hay, which had reached $20 per ton has already dropped. Good crops are assured.

VENTURA COUNTY.

TORRENTIAL RAINS FALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The entire county received another drenching today, some sections during the afternoon being visited by torrential rains.

In this city a half inch fell during the day. In Pentura avenue .80 of an inch fell in one and a half hours. There were splendid rains recorded from every section last night. Ventura received .30 and 1.99 for the storm. Santa Ana, the great hay section, had a fall of two inches last night. Oxnard .42 last night, Santa Paula has had 2.20 for the storm, Camarillo received .22 last night, 2.37 for the storm up to this morning. Conejo has 3.11 for the storm this morning, with the heavy fall today.

Everywhere the gauge will register a fine precipitation for the storm. Besides the wind is still strongly southeast. Farmers and all classes are pleased and feel there is little doubt about good crops in nearly everything.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

INCH OF RAIN IN AN HOUR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At 8 o'clock tonight rain is still falling, having been almost continuous for the past twenty-four hours. The total precipitation for the season is 7.05 inches, with 1.34 inches for today and last night, and 3.88 inches since March 1. Weather Forecaster Russell of this city stated tonight the barometer fell 10 degrees this afternoon.

A report from Goleta, seven miles north of here, says there was a cloudburst there late this afternoon, more than an inch of rain falling in less than an hour.

ORANGE COUNTY.

APIARISTS ARE PLEASED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tonight a slow rain, accompanied by some wind, is falling over Orange county. Rain began falling at 2 o'clock this afternoon and by night .20 inches came down, making 3.34 inches for the season, and .97 for March.

Every one pronounces the rain tiptop, only another inch or two at this time would be double assurance of good crops.

The apiarists are satisfied that so far as can be judged at this time, they will have a good season.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

FOURTH SINCE FRIDAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The fourth heavy rain since last Friday is sweeping over San Diego county tonight. Up to 7 o'clock the rainfall since 5 o'clock had amounted to .10 inches. The rain is steady. The season's rainfall is now 4 inches. Tonight's rain followed a day of warm sunshine and was unexpected.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

ELSINORE GETS SHARE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELSINORE, March 5.—W. Wilhite's rain gauge has measured .81 inches of rain for March, in Elsinore. Around the lake and near the mountains there has been considerable more.

WILL PROTECT FORESTS.

BANNING, March 5.—The heavy rains that have swept over the national forests in the last few days have caused a feeling of intense relief among the fruit growers dependent on the mountain water supply. The national forests of the Cleveland and Angeles reserves near Banning have been practically without protection since the first of the year, when the stations of the deputy rangers at Banning were closed for an indefinite period, owing to lack of funds with which to carry on the work. It had been the policy of the forest supervisors for years to have men stationed at Banning the year around, but the state of finance left no alternative other than to dispense with their services this winter. As a consequence the forests were not protected other than by citizens' volunteer fire companies and the big timber was in real danger up to the beginning of the belated rainy season. Now the area is covered with snow and it would be extremely difficult to even start a camp fire in the woods. Happily, the only serious blaze this winter was on the Malki Indian reservation here, where a large area was burned over. Announcement comes that the local rangers will be reinstated June 1.

FRESNO COUNTY.

SNOW IN THE MOUNTAINS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, March 5.—Heavy precipitation continues here with no signs of abatement. Snow is falling in the mountains and cold weather will pack it as an assurance of late water for irrigation. All crops have been benefited, especially newly planted alfalfa and young trees and vines. Some slight damage is reported in knocking off early apricot blossoms. Snow has saved lumbermen, giving them water for fluming operations and also assures to power companies reservoir supply.

San Joaquin Valley.

CORCORAN, March 5.—The best rainstorm of the season visited this section today, nearly on inch of rain having fallen since morning. It will be of vast benefit to all crops.

Happy.

RAIN WASHES OUT WRINKLES.

Golden Smile Breaks Out on Dame California's Face.

Downpour General Throughout State, North and South.

Will Keep Up Till Land Is Soaked, Says McAdie.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It's raining all over California.

That's the happy news the telegraph clicks into the ears of Alexander G. McAdie, chief of the United States Weather Bureau.

It will keep up until the State is soaked thoroughly, and there is plenty of snow on the mountain slopes to keep the streams running and the wheels of industry humming.

Literally these are golden drops that have been falling from one end of the State to the other, and the direct benefit to the people of California will be millions of dollars. While there has been no danger to the fruit crops, nevertheless the rainfall has taken the wrinkles out of the brow of the farmer.

"The rain has been general," said McAdie. "In San Francisco there were moderate rains up to 5 o'clock this morning, and then a heavy downpour, amounting in all to 1.50 inches up to 10 o'clock this morning. Then shortly after noon the heavy downpour began again and has continued late into the night with every indication that there will be no change in the weather tonight.

"In other portions of the State the rainfall was equally generous. In the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys the amounts varied from .25 to .50 of an inch, to be followed by more tonight. There are also rain and snow in Nevada, and by Wednesday night there probably will be fifty inches of snow on the ground in the mountains.

"The rain relieves the anxiety and puts an entirely different phase upon the state of affairs in California. The fruit crops were not in jeopardy at any times, but the rainfall relieves the fear of deficient water later on.

"The State has need for more water for nearly all purposes. The present supply will relieve the pressure on the power companies, which were using auxiliary power in many instances. Now there is water enough in sight to run for several weeks.

"We welcome this rainfall and want more just like it. The State is 50 per cent. behind, except in the northern Coast counties, and these are above the average.

"There will be heavy rains tonight and tomorrow. Storm signals are flying for southwest winds along the Coast from Point Concepcion to Cape Mendocino, so the good work will go on."

The heavy wind and sea drove the Union Oil Company's tank steamer Santa Maria into the company's new pied at Oleum, on the Contra Costa county shore of the bay today. Four hundred feet of the pier was wrecked and oil escaping from broken pipes was ignited by fallen electric power wires.

Several small coastwise steamers delayed putting to sea today on account of heavy weather.

SACRAMENTO VALLEY WELCOMES LONG RAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The storm that began in the Sacramento Valley yesterday and in the mountains the previous evening is still raging tonight. Rain has fallen almost continuously up to 5600 foot altitude and above that snow has fallen.

The precipitation has amounted to from one inch in the valley to several inches of rain or snow in the mountains and the drought that theratened to destroy a great part of the crops and was interfering with mining, electric power generating plants and navigation, has been effectually ended.

Several reservoirs that had run quite low, jeopardizing the source of power plants, have been filled or are being filled rapidly, and mines that have been closed down for lack of water will immediately reopen.

This storm has a direct value to farmers, stockmen, miners and electric companies of millions of dollars, and its effect on business is already noticeable.

Some local jobbers had taken off traveling men because trade conditions were becoming bad on account of poor crop prospects. Usual spring rains will make this a very prosperous season.

The total precipitation is one-fourth what it was last season at even date, being now five inches. There had been no rain in the valley since the middle of January. Indications are for a continuance of the storm tonight.

SAN JOSE ORCHARDISTS AND FARMERS REJOICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, March 5.—The rain, which began to fall here early last evening, continued throughout the night and intermittently today, .75 of an inch having fallen up to 5 p.m., with every prospect for more during the night. The total rainfall for the season is 5.52 inches, against a normal of 12.12 to this date. The rainfall in the hill sections is almost double that in the valley. The rain came at an opportune time and has caused great rejoicing among the orchardists and farmers.

CROPS IN SONOMA ARE SAVED BY DOWNPOUR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SONOMA, March 5.—Crops in Sonoma Valley were saved from threatened destruction by drouth by a precipitation of nearly two inches during the past twenty-four hours. Rain is still falling and indications are that the downpour will continue tomorrow.

THOUSANDS ARE LOST.

WEI HAI WEI (China) March 5.—It is estimated that 1000 people were killed in the course of the recent fighting between the republicans and the villagers outside the British concession here. The republican troops now are in complete control of the situation.

Cascarets for a Sick, Sour Stomach

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

GOLDEN HARVEST OF BIG CIRCUS.

SHRINERS' SHOW GREATEST ON EARTH, B'AR NONE.

Second Day's Performances Run Off More Smoothly Than Rain Water—Ticket Taker Taken With Cramps—Side Shows Do Department Store Business.

The Shrine Circus, the greatest show on earth—or off—played to crowded tents yesterday afternoon and evening at Praeger Park, Washington street and Grand avenue.

The show went off with even greater dispatch and smoothness last evening than at any of the previous performances. Over a hundred members of Al Malaikah Temple participated in the production in various and sundry roles and capacities.

There was the regular grand entrance with the pachyderms; Shriners riding camels; sacred bovines; lovely Amazons; High School equines; jewel bespangled wagons. Every feature of the pageant was in the parade, save the bloodthirsty lions and velvety-skinned tigers and leopards.

From this until Impresario Cornish blew out the lights it was one feature after another, and most of them chuck full of those thrills of expectancy. Any person who had promised himself the treat of seeing some Shriner chewed and mangled must have left sorely disappointed.

The clowns were funnier than ever and rang in several new and bewildering stunts that tickled the spectators.

The three side shows did a department store business and Bernal Dyas, Harry Holabird and Tommy Burgess called in William Longyear and W. Wincup to assist them in counting the dimes and nickels.

Marion Gray, George T. Hazard and Dr. F. S. Hardin sold several millions sacks of double-jointed hump-backed California peanuts—more or less and incidentally peddled out several vatfuls of the pinkest lemonade Barnum ever dreamed about.

Several prominent Nobles were arrested by Shrine patrolmen. Frank A. Jay and Heinie Lieber were fined $5 for getting their feet wet.

Col. Truman G. Teed, chief ticket seller and taker, suffered a severe attack of ticket taker's cramps in the right wrist last night and failed to appear. Manager Cornish fined him four iron dobeys and Charley Andrews and Dr. Miller were stationed at the main entrance in his stead.

Everything went off as advertised on the scarlet flaming billboards. The educated elephants, trick dogs and ponies, musical seals, trained Numidian lions and Bengal tigers; bareback riding panther, dashing equestriennes, diving monkeys, and the circus brass band, all did their stunts.

The Shriners will give a street parade tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock—rain or shine. Prominent Nobles will ride in the pageant, attired in their theatrical costumes.

WONDERFUL PAGEANT.

PUTS OTHERS TO SHAME.

The Shriner circus parade came off as scheduled yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in spite of the threatening weather conditions.

Headed by Noble C. E. Sebastian, Chief of Police, and a squad of mounted patrolmen, the glittering gold pageant started from the circus grounds at Washington street and Grand avenue, shortly before 10 o'clock.

From the show grounds the parade headed toward Main street. Turning north on Main street, Noble Sebastian and Impresario Cornish and his aides, led the procession to the business section.

The line of march was thronged by thousands who applauded the fez-capped near-potentate sawdust actors as they passed.

Twenty gayly bedecked automobiles filled with Shriners formed the first division of the parade. Then came the silver and gold bespangled trucks bearing the Numidian lions, Bengal tigers, velvety skinned leopards and pumas and monkeys.

Real dyed-in-the-wool circus music was provided by four brass bands and a clown band composed of George T. Hazard, Jack Tehan, Harry Holabird, Frank E. Hand, Heine Lieber, Al Lusby and Frank Jay. The harmony these ancient and young Mystic Nobles tore off with their scrap-iron instruments of torture would make Creatore turn a flip-flop. It was immense.

Then there were fine big pachyderms from Africa, highschool horses and ponies, trained dogs, camels, zebras, a trick Jersey cow, charming blonde bareback riders and brave animal tamers.

Bringing up the rear was Al Faulkner and Sidney A. Butler, Jr., star clowns. Faulkner drove a twenty-three candle-power motorette, of the vintage of 1849, which drew an old one-horse shay, in which Butler was seated made up as a dill pickle.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before the end of the year the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad will be virtually double-tracked between Colorado Springs and Grand Junction, and the improvement will be the cheapest known in the railroad history of the mountain region, costing only $150,000 for the 275 miles of line.

This is to be done through the acquisition by one of the Gould roads, either the Missouri Pacific or Western Pacific, or the half interest of the Colorado and Southern in the Colorado Midland after the Supreme Court of New York gives the Colorado and Southern permission to sell that company's share in the Midland.

WITH WATER.
A PART OF "LUCKY" BALDWIN'S LAND.

It is worth your while to thoroughly investigate the many advantages which our land presents. We know the soil is absolutely the best in the country. We know there is no hard-pan under the surface. We know the water supply is abundant and ample for all time.

Permit us to demonstrate these facts to you.

Grow oranges, lemons or walnuts. Raise alfalfa, potatoes and all vegetables. Chickens thrive wonderfully well in this valley owing to the dryness of the climate.

The only acreage near the big city which will have gas and electricity, and the proposed new electric car line will pass the Rancho.

Both the Salt Lake and Southern Pacific now serving the land.

Thirty minutes' ride—5-cent fare by hook.

20-ACRE RANCH.

There's no other land-buying proposition where so many absolutely "right" conditions are required as in buying a ranch. I have a 20-acre ranch which, for fertility of soil, abundance of water, ideal climate, lowness of price and fairness of terms is certainly attractive. $200 to $250 an acre is my price—terms easy. Alfalfa and orchards do splendidly here—other vegetables thrive. Every acre carries with it a share of water stock free. Los Angeles only 2 1-4 hours away. Perris, the Santa Fe railroad, packing houses, schools, within convenient reach. Let me take you out—examine the deep, rich silt soil, look into the water conditions, talk with surrounding ranchers—then, make up your mind. A LOAN FROM US
Saves Money.
If you want money on FURNITURE, PIANO, horses, wagons, live stock or other personal property, without giving up the possession or use of same,
BORROW FROM US AND SAVE MONEY.
Our plan gives you a definite amount to pay each month, including both principal and interest, and you know just where you stand at all times, and if you find that you can pay before the loan expires you will receive a substantial rebate on the total cost. In this way a loan can be paid off much quicker and cost much less than the old-fashioned plan providing for payment of interest only. The reputation we have firmly established with those who know us is A SQUARE DEAL ALL THE TIME.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

INCINERATOR SITE CHOSEN.

Pasadena Voters Settle Vexed Question At Last.

Judgment of Council Approved, Says Mayor.

Traffic Ordinance Will Be Materially Amended.

(Office of The Times, No. 38 S. Fair Oaks Ave.)

PASADENA, March 6.—At yesterday's election, held for the purpose of selecting a site for the proposed new city garbage incinerator, the site on South Raymond avenue, originally chosen by the city officials, received 1396 votes, a majority over all of 1606. The full returns follow:

For the Raymond-avenue site—First precinct, 451; second, 340, third, 254; fourth, 226; fifth, 404; sixth, 221; total, 1896.

For the Arroyo site—First precinct, 43; second, 26; third, 104; fourth, 43; fifth, 8; sixth, 25; total, 249.

For the site in the San Gabriel wash, near Azusa—First precinct, 5; second, 5; third, 8; fourth, 14; fifth, 3; sixth, 7; total, 41.

Total votes cast—First precinct, 498; second, 370; third, 366; fourth, 288; fifth, 414; sixth, 256; total, 2106.

Majority of votes for Raymond-avenue site over all—First precinct, 404; second, 210; third, 142; fourth, 170; fifth, 394; sixth, 186; total, 1606.

The site which was selected fronts on South Raymond avenue and is 250 feet north of Glenarm street. It is now a part of the Hill estate, and an option on it is held by the City Council.

"I think this shows that the Council has as good judgment as the people themselves," said Mayor Thum last night. "We will go to work now on the specifications, so that bids for the work may be advertised for at the earliest possible time. We will see that the work is done well."

Councilman C. W. Rhodes, chairman of the Council committee which had charge of the election, said:

"We appreciate what the people have done and are pleased with the results. We appreciate the help of the people."

IS TEMPTED; [illegible]

A broken glass in a fire alarm box at the corner of North Raymond and Orange Grove avenue proved too great a temptation to Henry Staats, a 16-year-old boy who lives at No. 151 Carlton avenue, yesterday afternoon. The boy stood in the rain and gazed at the exposed key. At last he could stand the strain no longer and opened the box and gave a twist that reached the fire department with such energetic and prolonged ringing that one of the fastest runs in the history of the city was made.

The police followed the fire department, and after a half-hour's chase about the neighborhood, in which the boy dodged and doubled and the police splashed through pools of water in an automobile, he was captured and taken to headquarters. Later he was allowed to return to his home.

NOMINATE CANDIDATES.

The Ladies of the Shakespeare Club, who have recently been making a study of things political, decided that no better way of testing the direct primary method of voting could be arranged than to thus nominate their own candidates for office. Accordingly, they so voted yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Calvin Hartwell, chairman of the Civics Committee, received the largest number of votes for president. Mrs. H. G. Cattell came second, but withdrew. As there were no other candidates, Mrs. Hartwell will be elected unless other nominations are made from the floor the day of the election. The names of other candidates follow:

For first vice-president, Mrs. Dorothea Hayden and Mrs. Samuel W. Packard; for second vice-president, Mrs. A. G. Merriam and Mrs. J. L. Atkinson; recording secretary, Mrs. J. L. Atkinson and Mrs. Rose Stanton; corresponding secretary, Dr. Mercia Gilmore and Dr. Emily Hunt; auditor, Mrs. Clayton Taylor and Mrs. C. E. Ashcroft; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Carder (unanimous); chairman of Playground Committee, Mrs. C. E. Ashcroft and Mrs. Clayton Taylor; chairman of the Civics Committee, Mrs. C. P. Allen and Dr. Mercia Gilmore; chairman of Membership Committee, Mrs. T. E. Mercer and Mrs. A. G. Merriam; chairman of House Committee, Mrs. Clara Hale and Mrs. C. L. Severy.

The names of seven directors were also voted for, but there was insufficient time yesterday to count the ballots. While the other ballots were being counted an enjoyable programme was given for the entertainment of those present.

IS INJURED.

Pearl Moore of No. 515 West Second street, Los Angeles, who is employed as a barber at the Hotel Raymond, missed his footing last night as he was about to board a Short Line car for Los Angeles, near the hotel, and was thrown to the ground. He sustained bruises on the head.

The man was taken to the office of the Pacific Electric company at the car barns, where he was attended by Dr. F. F. Rowland. His injuries are not thought to be serious.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE PASSED.

The proposed amendments to the traffic ordinance were passed upon first reading by the Council yesterday afternoon, although they were opposed by Councilmen Root and Korstian. They are a compromise between the provisions originally proposed and those which the teaming companies of the city desired to see obtain.

One of the chief changes in the ordinance, when it becomes operative in its new form, will be the matter of allowing horse-drawn vehicles to stand on the street without hitching the horses.

The Council set 3 o'clock next Monday morning as the time for hearing representatives of the Electrical Contractors' Association upon the proposed new city electrical ordinance.

The ordinance which banishes all engaged in necromancy from carrying on their operations in the city was passed upon second reading. A few petitions were received from fortune tellers, asking that they be given a longer time than the ordinance specifies to move to other fields, but the Council did not change the ordinance in any particular.

CITY BRIEFS.

A report made by the librarian of the Pasadena Public Library yesterday shows that the circulation of books has recently increased perceptibly. The February circulation was 15,053, and, with the branches, 19,021, a gain of 1553 over February, 1911.

The Board of Trade is distributing post cards, upon one corner of which is printed a table showing the rain record for Pasadena in recent years. The total postoffice receipts for the month of February, last, were $11,320, an increase of $883.55 over the month of February, 1911.

SETTLE ROAD CONTROVERSY.

Soldiers' Home Officials Meet With County Representatives and Agree on Mutual Concession.

SOLDIERS' HOME, March 5.—Except for the exchange of the necessary legal papers, the matter of the county's right and title to a continuation of Wilshire boulevard through the grounds of Soldiers' Home is settled.

Conclusions were reached between Supervisors of the county and prominent citizens, on one hand, and officials of the Soldiers' Home on the other, said Col. T. J. Cochran.

"The question was as to the validity of the county's title to a piece of road within the home grounds, upon which for many years have been located several large buildings — among which is the hospital. This piece of road was claimed by the county, and was shown on the county's map, as part of the county road.

"Besides Judge York there were present at the conference, as representing the National Home, Maj. J. W. Wadsworth, president of the board of managers; Maj. E. W. Moore, treasurer of this branch, and myself."

"Maj. Wadsworth suggested that the National Home would agree to cede to the county absolute title to Brown boulevard, conditional upon the county's agreement to 'quit claim' on the site, as shown on the county's maps, and the further condition that upon taking over Brown boulevard the county would keep the same in repair. The proposal was promptly agreed to."

The president of the board also agreed to cede to the county, upon the same conditions, that portion of San Vicente boulevard, within the home boundary, which completes the circle of the famous Santa Monica automobile race course.

To perfect these agreements it only remains for action, first, by the board of managers at its next meeting, and later the exchange of necessary legal papers.

The president decided that Bonsall avenue, leading from Sawtelle to Brown boulevard, and about which there was some question, should be open to the public only between the hours of reveille and tattoo.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORS MEET.

Pomona Concern Elects Officers and Adopts a Policy of Development—Franchise Discussion Held.

POMONA, March 5.—The annual stockholders meeting of the local Home Telephone Company was held here today and the reports of the officers showed the affairs of the company to be in excellent condition and indicated a steady growth during the past year. The company now has four individual exchanges about the valley connected with its Pomona plant and is preparing to install a separate exchange in the Walnut district.

The old board of directors was re-elected as follows: Dr. F. W. Thomas, J. Albert Dole, Charles E. Walker, D. S. Parker, R. K. Pitser, L. A. Lorbeer and Arthur M. Dole. Officers re-elected were, Dr. Thomas, president; J. Albert Dole, vice-president; Arthur M. Dole, secretary; Mr. Walker, treasurer; Mr. Parker, manager, and Carl H. Lorbeer, assistant manager.

DISCUSS FRANCHISE.

At a meeting of the City Council held this afternoon for the final consideration of the matter of granting a franchise to operate over the city streets, to the Ontario and San Antonio Heights Electric Railroad, a warm discussion developed. The opponents of the measure, unless the railway agreed to operate its yellow cars over West Second street were out in force and their cause was championed by A. J. Williams and Councilman Vandergrift. The latter plainly stated that the public knew that he stood for the people against the corporations and he would not give in to the latter. President Morris H. Wilson of the Board of Trade, representing the directors of that body and the people who signed the subscription list which was instrumental in getting the right of way for the railway here addressed the Council requesting that the franchise be granted. Mr. Wilson stated that no stipulation was made with the railway company whereby it agreed to run yellow cars on West Second street, the company agreeing only to operate cars between Pomona and Upland, which it is now doing. After some lively argument a vote was taken and the franchise was granted. Mayor Matthews and Councilmen Hansler and Boyd voting for it and Councilmen Vandegrift and Tarr voting against it.

Long Beach.

COMMISSION IS ABOLISHED.

Long Beach Mayor Outwits Members of Body.

Victims May Invoke the Referendum in Retaliation.

Recall of Mayor and Council May be Result.

LONG BEACH, March 5.—Unable to persuade the three members of the Water Commission to resign who defied his wishes in the matter of appointments, Mayor Hatch last night with the assistance of the City Council, introduced an ordinance abolishing the Water Commission, which was created by ordinance, and placing entire control of the water department in the hands of the Board of Public Works.

Trouble in the water department began soon after the inauguration of Mayor Hatch. Friction between the two separate water plant employees became so stronge that the commission secured authority from Council to appoint a general foreman who would have full power. This was all right but when Mayor Hatch suggested F. S. Craig, member of the Board of Public Works, as the man qualified for the place, which pays $1800 a year, and indications seemed to be that the vacancy in the Board of Works would be filled by Dr. A. B. Austin of the water board and for two terms campaign manager of the Charter party, three of the board rebelled and, rejecting the views of the Mayor, appointed as foreman Howard Gill.

Angered at this Mayor Hatch called a meeting of the commission and the Council, but the Council apparently sided with the commission, Dr. Austin thereupon sent in his resignation and Mayor Hatch, with the remark that he would nominate no successor for a while, absented himself from meetings of the water board, with the remark that he would let the commission run things for a while. Last night his plan was shown in the ordinance presented abolishing the commission, which passed two readings and at an adjourned meeting this morning was adopted. It being an "emergency ordinance," it will be effective as soon as published, which will be tomorrow.

Friends of the deposed commissioners and political opponents of the Mayor feel that they have been outwitted. The new ordinance being "emergency," gives them no opportunity under the charter of invoking the referendum, while if they seek the repealing of the new law by an initiative ordinance, there will be a hiatus between the two which disposes of the positions of the present commissioners, and the Mayor, in the event of the people demanding a water commission, would have the appointment of the new board and of course would not name the men he has just got rid of.

According to the opponents of the Mayor the water fight is but the beginning of a struggle which may end in the recall being invoked, not only of the Mayor, but the entire Council.

In the meantime the Mayor has scored a strong point and smiles at his enemies.

LIBRARY GROWTH.

The rapid growth of the public library will soon necessitate the removal of the Chamber of Commerce rooms to other quarters and the organization has petitioned Council for the use of all the available space in the depot pavilion, one side of which is occupied by the Salt Lake road. It is thought that fully one-half of the pavilion can be used by the chamber and that it will be of more benefit in an advertising and information way than the present quarters. Council has the matter under advisement.

PARK COMMISSION.

Acting on the admission of the Board of Public Works that their other duties have made the care and maintenance of the public parks a burden, the City Council has been asked to create a park commission, whose duty shall be along the line of civic betterment of the parks and thoroughfares of the city. A meeting will be held soon between the Council and Chamber of Commerce to decide upon plans for the creation of the commission.

DEBATING LEAGUE.

According to records of the High School debating league Long Beach is at present in the lead with good chances of retaining the championship banner. The next contest will be with Huntington Beach on March 15, at which time simultaneous debates will be held in both cities, the two teams of each school taking opposite sides of the question to be debated. At Long Beach the debaters will be Elmer Tucker and Harry Buffum of Long Beach, Ray Overacher and Paul Leebrick of Huntington Beach. At Huntington Beach the debaters will be Leonard Ivernash and Charles Decker of Huntington Beach and Albert Moroges and Hugh Shippey of Long Beach.

NEWS BRIEFS.

At a meeting of the City Club last night F. A. Knight was elected president; Rev. H. K. Booth and L. H. Ohl, vice-presidents; George Mortimer Roe, secretary and R. F. Tucker, treasurer. Rev. H. K. Booth addressed the club on the "Industrial Situation," advocating compulsory arbitration of difficulties between employer and employee.

New officers of Long Beach lodge of Elks last night resulted in the election of Charles B. Murphy, Exalted Ruler; Dr. A. H. Speer, Leading Knight; W. H. Miller, Loyal Knight; Judge H. S. Underwood, Lecturing Knight; H. J. Klaproth, secretary; Guy R. Powell, treasurer; Joseph Trussell, Tyler; J. R. Williams, trustee; A. L. Parmley, delegate to grand lodge.

Because four carloads of Long Beach members of the South Dakota Society were unable to attend the annual picnic of the society last Friday at Eastlake Park because of the rain, it has been decided to repeat the picnic next Saturday, with a good programme.

The southeast wind having subsided somewhat today it was decided to open the upper deck of the pier to pedestrians. The lower deck is still closed to wagon and auto traffic because of the shaky condition of the structure in the surf line.

The Coroner's jury in the case of Peter H. Peters, who died after a short illness following a fall from an electric car today returned a verdict that death resulted from uraemia, aggravated by chronic nephritis and probably hastened by a fall sustained in alighting from a moving street car. No blame was attached to the railroad, the testimony indicating that Peters tried to alight before the car stopped.

John A. Epley died suddenly this morning of heart trouble resulting from an attack last night while attending a lodge meeting. The deceased was a native of Kansas and 56 years of age. He leaves a widow.

Thomas S. Hill, who came here from Eugene, Oregon, a few months ago, died last night at the family home on Almond street. He was a Civil War veteran and 69 years of age. He leaves a widow and six children.

DON'T WANT THE FACTORY.

Glendale Residents Up in Arms Over Proposition to Establish China Kilns Near Their Property.

GLENDALE, March 5.—Protests are being heard from residents living in the region of Chestnut street and Glendale avenue, against the locating of a china manufacturing establishment on the property owned by Wilmot Parcher at the southeast corner of this crossing. A petition, signed by 100 taxpayers of this city, was presented to the Board of Trustees at their meeting last night, protesting against this company being allowed to locate their plant at the proposed site. It read as follows:

"Your petitioners, the undersigned, would respectfully show that they are citizens and taxpayers of the city of Glendale; that they are informed of a proposition which embraces the sale of certain property to a syndicate which proposes the erection of factory buildings in which to manufacture china; and they believe this action to be detrimental to the best interests of the owners of all adjacent properties. Your petitioners therefore pray your honorable body to consider this matter to the end that said factory be not allowed to dispoil a growing section."

It is probable that action in favor of the land owners will be taken at the next meeting of the board.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

The residents of Central avenue and West Fourth street also filed a "kick" with the board, last night. This petition was signed by a majority of the property owners fronting on West Fourth street and Pacific avenue, and asked that permission be denied any railroad company to build a line along these streets. The petitioners claim that the streets are entirely too narrow and would be ruined by the erection of a line along them. The matter is being considered by the Public Works Committee. The road which may be effected by this protest is the line promoted by E. Goods, which was to have connected Glendale with Griffith Park and the new aviation field.

CITIZENS LEAGUE.

A Citizens' League mass-meeting will be held at Knights of Pythias Hall on Brand boulevard, Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock. Candidates of the Citizens' League for City Trustees and school board will address the citizens of Glendale, and announce the principals for which they stand. The following will be the speakers of the evening. O. A. Lane, T. W. Watson, candidates for four-year term as Trustees; A. F. Howard, candidate for two-year term as Trustee; H. L. Whaley, candidate for City Clerk; G. B. Hoffman, candidate for City Treasurer; and the school board candidates: Mrs. J. N. Witham, C. D. Hillyer and T. R. Croswell.

Visionary.

SOCIALISTIC COLONY IS TO BE FORMED AT PUENTE.

PUENTE, March 5.—The Fellowship Farm Association today purchased seventy-two acres of land one mile north of Puente and a socialistic colony is to be immediately established thereon.

The leader in the movement is George Elmer Littlefield of Boston, who has been elected treasurer of the corporation. Eighty families compose the corporation, each having contributed $100 as a first payment. Forty of these families are to move on the property at once and construct cottages on the acre which is alloted to each contributor. More land will be acquired within the next year, according to Littlefield, and acres will be given to the remaining forty families and others who may join the organization in the meantime.

Littlefield, who is a small man about fifty years old, has established three other similar colonies. One of them is in Norwood, Mass., one in Westwood, Mass., and one in Independence, Mo. He says his people are composed largely of college men professional men and "classical" men.

Water stock will be purchased and a pipe line laid. A co-operative store will be the first structure completed. A motor truck will be secured to convey the vegetable products to the city and convey those to the car line who may desire to work in the city. One of the features of the affair will be an agricultural school which is the preliminary step toward the establishment of a great socialistic university, which Littlefield says in time will equal the finest of the educational institutions of the old world.

The officers of the association are: T. O. Watson, president; Kate Buck, a woman dentist of Los Angeles, secretary, and Littlefield, treasurer. Other directors are Otto Carque, S. G. Pandit, Dr. Claude Buck, and J. B. Cannon.

REASONS FOR INTERVENTION.

Covina Man Says United States Would Be Wholly Justified in Taking Hand in Trouble.

COVINA, March 5.—"There are more sound reasons why the United States should intervene in Mexico than ever existed in our relations with Cuba and the Philippines. The United States is to be forced into intervention if for no other reason that that other countries must stand by helpless because of the Monroe doctrine. Americans have too much at stake to hesitate long. Few people realize how many American citizens are now on Mexican soil, or the millions of dollars of American capital in that country."

This is the practical statement of Gordon Douglas of Covina, a representative of the Sinaloa Land Company, who returned a few days ago from Culiacan, the capital of the State of Sinaloa. Douglas says that he looks for an immediate exodus of American people, following the warning just issued by the United States, but says that many Americans who have large interests will not be able to leave at once, and fears that American blood will be shed before the United States can send troops to a position where they can adequately protect American citizens.

LOCATING CARNEGIE BRANCHES.

Library Board Selects New Site for East Los Angeles and Rejects Two Offered for East Hollywood.

The Library Board last night relocated the branch library for East Los Angeles, changing it from the proposed location at Avenue 26 and Workman street, to Griffin avenue and North Broadway. The new site is 165x188 feet, is ideal for the purpose, and steps will be taken to acquire it by the formation of an assessment district, immediately upon the State law going into effect on March 22.

Both sites that were offered for the East Hollywood branch, one on Carroll avenue and the other at Sunset and Hollywood boulevards, were rejected, and notice will be sent to the residents of the district that others will be considered. There was favorable discussion of Vermont and Santa Monica avenues, as a favorable location.

A large delegation was present from Central avenue, in opposition to the site selected at Forty-third street and Central avenue, and favoring the location of the branch at Forty-sixth street, which the Library Board has already rejected, or at Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets. The board has, however, bound itself to the Forty-third street site, providing it is secured by March 20.

The report of Librarian Perry shows a remarkable increase in circulation for the month of February, 1912, as compared with the same month last year. For February, 1911, it was 65,141; February, 1912, it was 86,405, an increase of 21,264 volumes.

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, shortness of breathing after meals? Or do you smother and choke over the heart, shortness of breath on going upstairs, and the many distressing symptoms which follow poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The blood corpuscles are increased in number—the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries run full with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and new vigor come by this alterative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol. Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed to expel excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, emaciated, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sure remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half so much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

San Diego.

ROSARY LEADS TO CONFESSION.

Burglar Objects to Beads Being Called Plunder.

Thirty Prisoners to Be Sent to Riverside Jail.

Financier Morton Arrives at Bedside of Sick Wife.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN DIEGO, March 5.—Rather than see a set of rosary beads, found in his cell mate, classed as the plunder of a thief, J. G. Daleiden, professional burglar, broke down in the detectives' office here today, and between sobs and imploring to have the beads returned to him, confessed to having committed eight burglaries, four of them in San Diego, and the other four in Sacramento within the past month. "Give them to me, for God's sake, give them to me, and I will tell all," pleaded Daleiden. "They were given to me by my mother when I was a child and I would gladly spend my time in jail to save her gift from desecration."

The beads were given to Daleiden tonight. He will be charged with burglary. Plunder valued at $1000 was discovered by the officers when they found his suit case.

TO TRANSFER PRISONERS.

Thirty prisoners in the County Jail are to be transferred tomorrow to the Riverside County Jail.

Sheriff Jennings today applied to Judge W. A. Sloane of the Superior Court for permission to relieve the jail here of that number of inmates. In a showing that there were 120 prisoners confined in the local jail, Judge Sloane ordered the removal of 30.

FINANCIER ARRIVES.

Called here by the illness of his wife, Joy Morton, president of the Morton Trust Company of Chicago, is here at his winter home, No. 3330 Second street. Mr. Morton arrived yesterday, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Cudahy, wife of John Cudahy of Cudahy Brothers. Mrs. Morton has been a resident of San Diego since last September. When she showed symptoms of a serious illness she was brought direct to San Diego and placed under the care of Dr. D. J. Phelps. Until recently it was said she was not so well, but Dr. Phelps now declares she is improving and that her condition is such that in a few weeks she will be removed to the Cudahy home in Pasadena.

ADVERTISERS ORGANIZE.

With a membership of thirty-two live wire boosters, the Advertising Men's Club was formed last night. At the initial meeting John A. Fox, formerly moved here from Washington, D. C., as an official of the exposition, addressed the members. Mr. Hogaboom stated the organization would be affiliated with the National Association and that it would be entitled to send delegates to the National Ad. Men's convention to be held at Dallas, Tex. W. Hogaboom selected temporary chairman with authority to name a nominating committee of five to report on permanent organization March 9.

THIRTY-TWO PROPOSALS.

The members of the School Board met to consider bids for the erection of a polytechnic high school they are contemplating. The figures show that the building as planned in granite will cost $200,000 and in concrete $185,000. Proposals were invited in ten items, concrete or masonry, plastering and steel work, sheet metal work, roofing, carpentering, painting, plumbing, electrical work, heating and ventilating. The plans were drawn by Quayle Brothers' and Hebbard, who assisted the board in shaping the proposals into shape for letting a contract.

OFFICIAL MAY RESIGN.

City Attorney W. R. Andrews, may resign from office May 1. At a conference of the Council in the office of Mayor J. L. Sehon, he discussed the matter informally with the Councilmen and was urged to remain if he possibly could.

NEARING THE END.

With the completion of the cross-examination of Mrs. Katherine Tingley, defendant in the Thurston will contest here, this afternoon it is believed tonight that the end of the fight by which George L. Patterson hopes to have set aside the will of his mother, the late Mrs. Harriet Thurston, is at hand. The defense announced that it had only one witness in reserve and would not decide until tomorrow whether he would be called. In this event it is believed that arguments will begin tomorrow afternoon. Both sides have agreed to Judge Guy who has presided throughout the hearing, that they will not occupy more than two and one-half days each in presenting their arguments to the jury. This means giving the case to the jury probably not before tomorrow. The action is to set aside bequests amounting to $247,000. The trial was begun December 27, last.

FACTORIES PROPOSED.

Shoe Factory After Shoe Factory and Both of Which Will Employ Many Men.

SAN DIEGO, March 5.—George D. Hall, one of the best known manufacturers of women's shoes in the United States, has just made a visit to San Diego from Portsmouth, O., a shoemaking center which gained prominence through efforts of Mr. Hall. Anaheim was inspected by Mr. Hall with a view to starting a factory here.

Assistant Commercial Agent L. B. Hall of the Southern Pacific Company addressed the local Board of Trade on the subject of a paper manufacturing plant, proposing investment of $1,000,000. He is a branch plant in Southern California has communicated with the railroad company and railroad officials and that Anaheim is well located to meet the requirements which the factory makes. These are considered in a request for a site of five acres, a million gallons of water per day, 40 per cent. of which is to be turned back for irrigating purposes, the water being of good character for use in boilers. The concerns expects to employ seventy men regularly and will have a monthly pay roll of $2500. The Anaheim Board of Trade has announced that the city will furnish a site on the Southern Pacific line free of cost, and the representatives of the paper company are to look over the situation.

TRAIN COMING.

An event that is being looked forward to with special interest is the coming of the agricultural train, which is to be at Anaheim Friday afternoon, and remain over until the following morning. It is not only those engaged in farming that are interesting themselves with the coming of the train, but the teachers of the various schools in the city urge students to visit each car. This train conducted by the Southern Pacific company and the University of California free of cost to the public has accomplished a world of good in the past seasons in advancing scientific methods of agriculture in California. The train this season is the most complete that has ever been sent out. Car No. 1 will contain animal industries; car No. 2, veterinary science; car No. 3, dairy industry and field crop division, soils and fertilizers; car No. 4, native birds and mammals, insecticides and fungicides, plant diseases; car No. 5, horticulture and viticulture; car No. 6, College of Agriculture; car No. 7, public health and home economics.

AUTO ACCIDENT.

Hogan McBride and wife and their guest, Mrs. A. Bartly, narrowly escaped death while driving to this city yesterday in an automobile. The machine turned into a ditch near the scene of the recent fatal McFadden accident, between this city and Fullerton. The auto turned turtle and all the members of the party sustained sprains and bruises, Mrs. Bartly being the most severely injured. She was caught under the machine and it had to be raised before Mrs. Bartly could be released. McBride was driving at the rate of fifteen miles an hour behind another auto, which suddenly stopped and Mr. McBride was compelled to run into the other auto or ditch his own. He took the ditch and the car turned over.

DID YOU LOSE A LETTER?

Five Hundred of Them Stolen With Pouch from San Diego on Mail Truck in La Grande Station.

The theft of a mail pouch from the platform of La Grande Station Saturday night was reported yesterday by C. E. Webster, postal inspector. About 500 letters were lost, none registered.

The pouch was made up on the Santa Fe train leaving San Diego Saturday afternoon as train No. 75. It was to connect with Salt Lake train No. 2, leaving Los Angeles that night. The last seen of the pouch was as it was lying on a truck on the platform. It was filled with mail for eastern points, Nevada and Utah.

On Monday morning the empty pouch was found behind the Parmelee-Dohrmann warehouse, near the station. Beside it was a package of twelve letters for Chicago and a lot of third and fourth-class mail. Later on another bunch of letters was found near the plant of the Pacific Hardware and Steel Company, on East Third street. Other letters, all rifled, were picked up on the same street some distance away. The letters taken in charge by Inspector Webster included a check for $120. It is understood that the missing letters contained a number of money orders and some currency, the amount of value or amount of which cannot be known until complaints begin to come in. The pouch also contained letters from local points and some Mexican mail.

TALK LAWNS AND TREES.

Discussions on lawn and tree planting occupied the attention of members of the Los Angeles County Horticultural Association at their monthly meeting, No. 237—Franklin street, last evening. Charles Winsel read a paper on "The Planting and Care of Lawns." A discussion of his paper followed. President Theodore Paine told of his experience in covering newly planted lawns with sawdust. Tomorrow evening, in the Chamber of Commerce Hall, Ernest Braunton, John J. Reeves and Louis F. Horner will talk on the subject of street tree planting.

Santa Ana.

ULTIMATUM TO GAS COMPANY.

Santa Ana Takes Vigorous Attitude in Matter.

Matter of Rates and Deposits Are Elucidated.

Business Outlook Greatly Improved by Late Rains.

SANTA ANA, March 5.—Today City Clerk J. C. Burke sent a letter to the Southern Counties Gas Company asking that it make a statement to the city for publication to the effect that it has withdrawn three demands made upon its patrons. City Attorney Heathman has ruled that the demands are illegal.

One of the three matters referred to is the notice sent to all patrons that hereafter the minimum for gas used in any one month will be $1. The city attorneys says the ordinance places the minimum at 50 cents. Another demand was that all users produce their receipts for $5 meter deposits.

The City Trustees concluded that this was a plan to make every user, who could not produce a receipt—and many could not for the meters in most instances have been in for years—to make a $5 deposit to insure the payment of bills. The city has no objection to such a deposit in cases of renters, but objects to making property owners being subjected to it. The City Attorney states that in his opinion the gas company has no legal right to demand a deposit. The third matter was a recent notice to consumers that 15 per cent. would be added to all gas bills not paid by the 15th of the month. The City Attorney declares that the company has no legal right to charge more than $1 per 1000 cubic feet of gas.

ANSWER FILED.

An answer filed today in the suit of T. M. Flippen against E. N. Altland, owner of a packing-house at McPherson on the Tustin branch of the Southern Pacific, brought to light the ground of fight between Flippen and Altland. Altland alleges that he bought the packing-house property from Flippen in 1906, paying $2000 cash and giving a mortgage for $2280. Recently Flippen sued to foreclose the mortgage. Altland comes back with the statement that after he secured the property he found that the west ten feet of it, adjoining the tracks, in reality belonged to the railroad and not to Flippen, and that therefore the property was worth $2000 less than the price agreed upon. He asks judgment giving him credit for $2000.

NEW SUBDIVISION.

G. L. Dodds and business associates have secured land and options east of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks, and have started quite a boom for that section. Dodds has secured an option through J. R. Paine on twenty acres belonging to W. D. Mateer and Cood Adams at $1600 an acre. Fordyce Briggs and Mrs. Charlotte Elliott, recently from Winnipeg, Can., from which place Dodds also came, have purchased a walnut orchard from G. R. Smith. This place was offered by Smith as a polytechnic high school site.

Dodds is originator of the plan to build a subway on East Fourth street beneath the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe tracks. He is the man who headed the movement in Winnipeg for its first subway. The subway proposal may be brought before the Chamber of Commerce at some meeting this month.

FINE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

With the good rain that has already fallen, business men of Santa Ana look for the biggest year in the history of Santa Ana. Dozens of development schemes in the way of the planting of new orchards have been held back for a good rain, and now that the moisture is here these schemes will be worked out. There never was a time in the history of the city when there seemed to be so much afoot in the way of prospective development. C. E. French, who recently bought the Rossmore Hotel, expects soon to rebuild a part of it and make it modern in every respect. In the last four months, as shown by the County Recorder's records, scores of lots have been sold in this city. These have been bought for home building. For three months past Santa Ana has been averaging the starting of one new house a day, which shows that the city is growing at a rapid pace.

MAN NEVER FOUND.

Arthur Staley of Placentia today petitioned to be appointed trustee of the property of Abraham Pritchard, a prominent Fullerton orchardist whose disappearance on November 24 last has never been solved. Staley states in his petition that Sheriffs and Burns detectives have exhausted all their schemes in an effort to get some trace of the missing man, but without success. Staley states that Pritchard left a $7000 ranch at Fullerton, and that ranch and personal property need some one's attention. Staley petitions as the nominee of three brothers and a sister of Pritchard, who live out of the State.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Last evening at 7:30 o'clock Miss Mattie S. Tedford, a member of a prominent pioneer family of this county, became the bride of Rev. C. Raymond Gray of Ardmore, Okla. The couple became acquainted four years ago when Rev. Gray was pastor of the South Methodist Church of this city, of which church the bride was a member.

Two young Mexicans received sentence by Judge West today, Antonio Montez to six years in Folsom for snatching a purse from Miss Callie McCullom of Orange, and Francisco Alios to four years in San Quentin for stealing $260 from his friend Joseph Morales of Fullerton. Alios spoiled whatever chance he had for probation by following Montez's advice. Montez told him to say he was but 18 years old, and thus get a light sentence or probation. It was proven beyond question that he was 20. When Montez was told by the judge that the law allowed him to be sentenced to ten years, Montez blurted out: "You might as well kill me."

The Orange County Savings Bank today opened its doors for business in its new building.

Annie Westlake today secured an interlocutory decree of divorce from Robert Westlake, a hair dresser.

Marriage licenses: Louis C. Wellenberg, 28, and Lotos Sherwood, 26, both of Santa Ana; Nathan O. Stephenson, 51, and Helen Johnson, 39, both of San Diego; Fred Rietz, 26, and Florence La Valle, 26, both of Los Angeles.

Santa Monica.

IMPROVEMENT OF BEACH STREETS.

SANTA MONICA GIVES FINAL ORDER FOR THE WORK.

Council Considers an Ordinance Regulating Weights and Measures Two Years, Then Fails to Pass the Protective Measure—Man Will Plead Guilty to Burglary Charge.

SANTA MONICA, March 5.—The final order was given last night by the City Council for several miles of street improvement. The most elaborate of the projects set in motion is that providing for the asphalt paving of Oregon avenue a distance of 23,044 feet, from the City Hall at Fourth street to the city limits of Sawtelle at Cambridge street. The purpose is to make this gateway into the city from the east one of the finest of seaside boulevards. The street is to be ornamented on either side with palms. There will be concrete curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Another order was for the paving of all of the streets and boulevards in the new 200-acre Palisades subdivision. This improvement is to include sewers, water and gas, as well as sidewalks, curbs and gutters. Sixth street is to be opened southward from the new High School to Bay street; Eighth and Ninth are to be opened by condemnation proceedings through the palisades, and portions of California, Washington, Idaho, Fourteenth, Seventeenth, Tenth, Eleventh, Alta, Marguerita, Carlisle and Georgina are included within the scope of improvement.

LABOR LOST.

After having spent two years in the preparation and consideration of an ordinance providing for an inspection of weights and measures and the appointment of a sealer of weights, the Council has refused to adopt the measure. The Mayor, in his annual message, called attention to the frequency of complaints that seaside quart measures do not come up to the standard and that alleged pounds contain not more than fourteen ounces. The main dispute was as to whether the Mayor or the Council should appoint the inspector. In this contest the Mayor won, but when the ordinance reached a vote on final adoption the verdict was that there should be no official regulation of the matter.

SCHUYLER'S FENCE.

A civil war has broken out on the sand section of Hill street, and the crisis was reached when the Council last night gave the order to Street Superintendent Stone to remove all personal property from the city street. This action bears with especial reference upon an iron fence that was erected between two days by J. D. Schuyler. Hill street at this point is not an open highway for wheeled traffic. The sidewalk runs down the middle of the street and when the district was originally platted certain portions on either side were reserved for parking and porch spaces. As the beach developed, there were constant encroachments by the property owners until these spaces have some of them been enclosed behind fences and made a part of the lot rather than a portion dedicated to public uses.

George and Frank Crawford, the alleged burglars, were given a preliminary examination before Police Judge Carrillo and were held to answer before the Superior Court. The last-named says he will give the State no trouble in securing a conviction. He will lose no time in making a complete confession and casting his fate upon the mercies of the court. He says his brother is innocent. In evidence before the court this afternoon were several quarts of gems of the first water and gold watches and other articles of value that had been stolen here, there and everywhere.

ADRIFT AT SEA.

K. Breed of Los Angeles had an exciting experience while adrift at sea in an open boat for seven hours, without food, water or oars with which to propel his craft ashore. While fishing a few hundred rods off shore his oars broke and the little craft was at the mercy of wind and waves. The rain was falling and as Breed was unprepared, he suffered not a little. Fortunately, his wig-wag signals of distress were observed by loiterers along the beach and a small boat was sent to his rescue.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The wife and family of United States Consul J. R. Long, who is stationed at Parral, Mex., have arrived at the beach to make their home during the progress of the Mexican revolution. Following them came the family of R. J. Long, a brother of the Consul, from the same city. One of the children in the family of the latter was taken suddenly ill and the father is due to arrive in El Paso this evening, he having made the trip by automobile from Chihuahua. He is expected here in a few days.

Lewis G. Jones, recent unsuccessful candidate on the Councilmanic ticket in the Third Ward, died suddenly this morning. Blood poison following an ailment of the teeth was responsible for his death, the poison having apparently paralyzed his throat to such an extent that he could not swallow. Death was from strangulation. Deceased, who was 26 years of age, was the son of Sumner Jones and had lived in California twelve years. He is survived by a bride of a few months.

D. W. Baker has returned from Bakersfield, where he had been laboring with the members of the Eagles Lodge in an endeavor to bring the annual meeting of 1912 to this beach. He reports having received much encouragement. Plans are being discussed here now for holding at least four State secret society conventions at this beach during May of next year.

Plans are being considered and an effort will soon be made to raise funds for the construction of a branch library building in the southern part of the city. The suggestion is for a small structure on land to be leased from the trolley line. The library would be made a branch of the main institution in the Carnegie building.

The work of excavating for the foundations for the Anheuser-Busch casino, to be built at the corner of Ocean and Colorado avenues, has been started. George D. Snyder is the contractor, and the structure will cost $32,000. Work is to be rushed, with the object in view of having at least the ground floor and cafe of the project completed and ready for operation on the day of the automobile road races, May 4. Several shipments of ice-making and cold-storage plant machinery have already arrived at the beach to be installed in the new structure.

AN ORATORICAL CONTEST.

South Pasadena Temperance Workers Will Present Gold Medal to Winner of the Event.

SOUTH PASADENA, March 5.—The W.C.T.U. of South Pasadena will hold a gold medal oratorical contest in the Methodist Church, El Centro and Fair View, Friday evening, March 8. The programme will be suffrage, with several good musical numbers, and while the judges retire to make their decision, a demonstration of balloting and other helpful instructions to the newly enfranchised voters will occupy the time.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Lincoln Park League at its semi-annual meeting went on record as favoring a general street improvement of the western portion of the city, and have completed arrangements for a vigorous campaign to accomplish this result.

With the completion of the concrete bridge across the Arroyo Seco, which will be in June or July, traffic between the cities over this thoroughfare will become much greater, and to meet this condition the league will use its best efforts to have the streets paved and otherwise put into shape. The paving of Mission street and Pasadena avenue from Fair Oaks avenue west to the bridge has already been ordered by the Board of City Trustees. During the six years since the league has been organized, it has initiated and carried through many important improvements.

It is important for all voters in this city, both ladies and gentlemen, to bear in mind that a new Great Register is being compiled, and that it is necessary for all electors to register before they can vote at either the Presidential primaries, which occur May 14, or in the national election, which occurs in November. To vote at the primary election, party affiliation must be designated.

NEIGHBORS AGREE TO FIGHT WHEN THEY MEET

SAN BERNARDINO, March 5.—"Guilty with plea for clemency," was the verdict in brief which was returned today in the township court in the case of C. W. Richardson, charged by Joseph Shafer with disturbing the peace. Back of the trouble lies ten years of personal bitterness, starting in a family difference. At intervals the Shafers and Richardson have had their encounters, finally reaching an agreement not to step upon the other's sidewalk, in the business section, and go prepared to wipe out the feud should they ever meet face to face outside of town.

Saturday an airship sailed over the city. Shafer, with others, became eager to catch a glimpse of the machine, and claims that he forgot the agreement for an instant. Richardson and he clashed and hot words, with threats followed. Shafer had Richardson arrested, and the verdict today is the result, the jury finding in the plea for mercy some extenuating circumstances.

During the hearing today it developed that both men go armed, expecting some day to meet outside of town, when loaded revolvers may play in the unusual enemity. Outside of this one difference between them both men are highly regarded in the community, both being men of means and good business judgment.

JOINT DISPLAY.

The various fruit growing sections of this county will maintain a joint display at the Land and Products show, to be held next week at Los Angeles. C. H. Stone of Redlands will have charge of the arrangements. It was decided at a meeting of the various Chamber of Commerce today today, to have representative of the various communities alternate in having charge of the exhibit. A feature design with several alcoves will probably be used, each district to have an alcove. Every effort will be made to have the display as attractive as possible. At the meeting today E. A. Vahey of this city acted as chairman. Those participating were W. S. Devol, Redlands; W. A. Froemire and E. B. Reynolds, Upland; N. Davenport, Colton; J. M. Black, Bloomington; J. D. McGregor and A. B. Miller, Rialto; L. Atwood, Yucaipa.

AFTER OFFICIAL SCALP.

The Southern California Bee Keepers' Association is after the scalp of R. B. Herron, county bee inspector. The recent convention of bee men at Los Angeles adopted a resolution scoring Herron, charging that bees shipped from this county to Utah had been found badly affected with foul brood. This is denied by the inspector. For several years certain individuals have been seeking to dislodge the inspector in order to secure his position. The resolution is said to have a basis in this factional quarrel.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The City Council has accepted an invitation from the two gas corporations to visit their offices and inspect their books. This is the reply the companies give to the Council's order to bring the books before the Council, that an investigation may be made as to the reasonableness of the increased gas rate which the two companies have announced. The invitation has been accepted, and Councilmen Chambers, Irving and Holmes will visit the gas offices. They say an expert will be employed if necessary.

The Conklin-Grepe damage suit was argued before the Superior Court this morning, and submitted. Christopher Conklin sues J. S. Grepe of East Highland to recover $50,000 damages as a result of injuries sustained last summer, when Conklin on a motorcycle rode into Grepe's automobile, at Third and E streets, this city. Grepe was "cutting" the corner at the time. He claims Conklin was looking back over his shoulder and not watching where he was speeding on his motorcycle.

Don't Neglect Your Liver

Many a man has laid down the burden of life from despondency caused solely by torpid liver. Use a pure tonic laxative to coax the stomach, liver and bowels to do their duty, and to regulate those very important organs of elimination, the kidneys.

Never use harsh purgatives; they leave you in a worse condition eventually.

PADRE'S TONIC LAXATIVE is made of mild herbs only, and is marvelous in its results.

Remember the box with the priest on it.

A DEAF MAN'S REJOICING

The Happiness of a Man Whose Use of the Acoustican Enables Him to Hear as Before.

In every one of the offices of the General Acoustic Co. scattered all over the world are hundreds of grateful letters from users of the Acousticon and offering praises of the deepest sort for the good the Acousticon has done for them.

In the purchase of one of our instruments one buys only after a trial of a time long enough to convince the purchaser that every claim we make has been proven. If the trial use of the Acousticon shows you definitely that it fulfills every claim and it is bought, a ten years' manufacturers' bond goes with each purchase.

We want every customer to be thoroughly satisfied before he pays a dollar.

We will be pleased to fully demonstrate and explain the Acousticon to anyone calling at the office of the General Acoustic Co., 530 Security Bldg., Los Angeles, or 554 Monadnock Bldg., San Francisco. Factory, Jamaica, L. I., New York. If you cannot call, write us for folders. Cut this out now and write or call today.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Overcome by Gas.

F. C. Pollack, 39 years old, No. 3308 North Broadway, was overcome by illuminating gas while making pipe connections yesterday in an excavation on South Main street, between First and Second streets. At the Receiving Hospital oxygen was used to resuscitate the man.

Letter Causes Arrest.

Harry Spring, who came to Los Angeles recently from Arizona, was arrested yesterday by Postoffice Inspector C. E. Webster on the charge that he sent an obscene letter to a woman at Clifton Springs, Ariz. The inspectors says that Spring acknowledged having written the letter.

Sad News Seeks Him.

Frank J. McCauley, a member of the Auburn, N. Y., police force, has telegraphed the local authorities to locate Joseph Eisenheimer, late of that city, but more recently of San Pedro and now thought to be in Los Angeles. His father is dead and his family wants him to return home at once.

THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER.

Taft Republicans of Los Angeles and Southern California are to be organized in this city, probably within a week. The organization will be made by Col. Charles Mifflin Hammond, brother-in-law of Theeodore Roosevelt, and chairman of the State organization. A call for this meeting will be issued today, in all probability, by Philip A. Stanton, who is to be the leader of the organization in the South.

Of the large delegation that went to San Francisco to attend Monday's conference only former Senator Flint and former Gov. Gage returned yesterday. The others are expected in today. The plans for organization required much more time for discussion than the one afternoon set aside for them and those who attended would not part without completing the important work.

"It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings I ever attended," said Senator Flint yesterday afternoon. "The attendance was so large that it must be taken as an indication of the active and successful campaign that is to be waged for the next two months in behalf of the renomination of the President."

Mr. Flint said the delegates returning today would be better prepared to discuss organization plans than he as he had to return on business that could not be delayed.

Not only the "old guard," but the progressives who are for Taft will organize the South. At yesterday's meeting in San Francisco provision was made for another meeting in Los Angeles to which all the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republicans who refuse to follow Johnson into the Roosevelt third-term camp will be welcome.

These developments indicate the kind of a primary struggle the State soon will be in. The Taft forces are solidifying rapidly and will present a solid militant front while the insurgent forces are splitting three ways. First there are the Lincoln-Roosevelt members, led by the pioneers of this movement, who still find Taft their faithful progressive leader in national affairs. That element will remain with the President to the end.

On the other hand the La Follette forces, while betrayed by the Johnson machine in Roosevelt's interest, will remain, in the bulk, true to their candidate. The remaining part of insurgency will remain with Johnson and his Roosevelt third-term machine or drift into the socialist ranks.

There is no defection from Taft while insurgency has three separate leaders.

I am told that this La Follette revival is giving the Johnson machine much worry and here, in Los Angeles the Lissner crowd is using all its efforts to prevent a thorough reorganization. As this crowd possesses the political data on which the original La Follette organization was formed it is making the reorganization difficult for T. K. Kase and the officials of the La Follette Club.

It seems inevitable that the California insurgents must go into the primary fight very badly divided. Which is not strange, in fact, as treachery is seldom a method of harmonizing.

The Roosevelt campaign is to be opened Saturday night at a meeting at the Temple Auditorium at which Gov. Johnson is to be the principal speaker. Lieut.-Gov. Wallace is to be the other orator and Marshall Stimson is to preside—that is if Marshall gets home from Kings county, where he is trying a case. Senator Works is the only one needed to make the exhibit complete, but he cannot leave Washington.

This programme is confirmation of the belief that the Roosevelt crusade in California is to be essentially a Johnson "personal influence" fight. It is a tryout of the Vice-Presidential tail-piece. If he can pull the Roosevelt slate of delegates (already named) through, he may have a 'look" at the Chicago convention if the Roosevelt forces should control. Johnson has the obsession that the third-term candidate will win and that if he does it means a boost in the Johnson fortunes. Besides, there has been some nauseating twaddle from the Johnson sycophants that in case of a deadlock Johnson would be the "logical" candidate—if Debs should decline, perhaps.

Assemblyman Wyllie of Dinuba, Tulare county, has shown an inclination to enter the congressional lists against Congressman Needham in the new Seventh District, now that Congressman Smith has declined to run. His inclination seems, also, to be rather "sot," and a formal announcement of a real purpose to rush in and support the Roosevelt policies is regarded as imminent. Wyllie is the author of the county local option law that the "progressives" tried so hard to kill in the last regular session and he showed lamentable incapacity for any other kind of legislation during the session. However, he profited off the Assembly payroll by keeping his daughter on it. Maybe there is some such additional perquisite in sight at Washington he would like.

Former Gov. Francis of Missouri—familiarly "Dave" Francis—is in Southern California again with an unconcealed hope that Champ Clark, his old-time running mate, will be the Democratic last hope for the Presidency. Francis is on his way to San Francisco to explain a few details about managing a world's fair. He was the president of the St. Louis fair of 1904.

The Wilson campaign managers are trying to bring in Senators Gore of Oklahoma and Chamberlain of Oregon, to aid in the winning of California's delegation for the Princetonian candidate.

Healthy Mothers
Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

BACK COVERED WITH MASS OF PIMPLES
Burned and Itched So He Could Hardly Stand It. Tried Medicines, Etc., Nearly 3 Years. In Eternal Misery. Started Using Cuticura Remedies. Now Has No Sign of Skin Disease.
Corbin, Kan. —"My troubles began along in the summer in the hottest weather and took the form of small eruptions and itching and a kind of smarting pain. It took me mostly all over my back and kept getting worse until finally my back was covered with a mass of pimples which would burn and itch at night so that I could hardly stand it. This condition kept getting worse and worse until my back was a solid mass of big sores which would break open and run. My underclothing would be a clot of blood.
"I tried various blood medicines and other remedies and salves for nearly three years and I was not getting any benefit. It seemed I was in eternal misery and could not sleep on my back or lean back on a chair. I was finally given a set of the Cuticura Remedies by my brother who recommended them to me very highly. I started using the Cuticura Remedies and inside of two weeks I could see and feel a great relief. I kept on using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and also the Resolvent, and in about three or four months' time my back was nearly cured and I felt like a new being. Now I am in good health and no sign of any skin diseases and I am fully satisfied that Cuticura Remedies are the best ever made for skin diseases. I will always recommend them to anybody who will use according to directions. I would not be without them." (Signed) W. A. Armstrong, May 26, 1911.
For eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, inflammations and other unwholesome conditions of the skin and scalp as well as for every purpose of the toilet, bath and nursery, Cuticura Soap and Ointment are indispensable. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

Thumb of the Czar.

SHUSTER VICTIM OF WHITE BEAR.

So Says His Mother, Now a Visitor Here.

Brings Inside History of Russo-Persian Affair.

Sidelights on High Politics in St. Petersburg.

Bringing with her the inside, and as yet unprinted history of the famous Russo-Persian imbroglio in which a figure of international prominence was her son-in-law, Mrs. Hayden C. Trigg, mother of Mrs. W. Morgan Shuster, is here as the guest of her son, Herbert B. Trigg, at No. 1129 Hubbard street, this city.

According to Mrs. Trigg, the ex-Treasurer-General of Persia, Shuster, was approached by the Russian government with bribes to be false to his trust very early in the international trouble. She declares that, almost from the beginning of the young man's administration of Persian finances, he was beset with importuning by agents of the Czar to become the secret tool of high politics of St. Petersburg.

"He incurred the enmity of the Russians and the English from the very first, because he refused to bow to their demands, to move along the slow and tedious lines which the diplomacy of the East demanded," she says. "He had come to work and his coat was off the moment he arrived in an endeavor to bring order out of chaos in the financial tangles of Persia. The Persian people themselves recognized his worth and on the day that the Persian Parliament decided not to request his resignation as ordered by Russia, men, women and children carrying banners surrounded his home, shouting in a frenzy of joy: 'Give us liberty, or give us death!'"

Many interesting letters of the days passed in the Persian empire belong to Mrs. Trigg, and she has others of days when Mr. and Mrs. Shuster were in the Philippines, where her son-in-law became Collector of Customs before he reached the age of 22.

FAMOUS FAMILY.

Mrs. Trigg was herself a wartime girl, her father, Col. R. C. Ballard, having owned great plantations in Virginia, Louisiana and Kentucky before and during the war. Romantic is the history of her family after having married a young Kentucky gallant, Hayden Trigg, when she was but 18 years of age. Of their union was born six daughters, queens of Kentucky society, and four sons. In this family Mrs. Trigg has her greatest pride, and all of the children travel hundreds of miles every year to greet each other, and at Christmas time the family in its entirety, when possible, reunites in the old Glasgow home, where they have lived forty-five years.

Because of the long distance to California her husband was forbidden the journey by his physicians and instead went to Florida. He is the founder of the Trigg National Bank of Glasgow, Ky.

C. Underwood McElroy, several times member of the Kentucky Legislature, whose wife is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Trigg, is a cousin of the Democratic leader and possible nominee for Presidential candidacy. Mrs. John Vreeland is wife of the publisher of the Farmers' Home Journal, a national agricultural journal, and is the third daughter.

KENTUCKY BELLES.

"Dr. Louise E. Trigg is the only new woman of the family, one who chose a career rather than a family, and who has never married," said Mrs. Trigg. She is a brain specialist and the head of the woman's department of the Hopkinsville Asylum for Insane. Mrs. P. T. Dickinson is wife of the president of the Trigg National Bank and Mrs. Joseph Kruger is a daughter whose husband is in charge of the work of constructing a railroad in Bolivia, which will afford outlet to rubber and other products of that country at Port Vello.

There are the four sons, the youngest of whom she is visiting. The others are still in Kentucky and number Paul, Ballard and Allanson, all connected with the banking interests of the State. "Their father, whenever they reached the age of majority, gave them sufficient to start out into the world, and then left them to look after their own affairs. And their talents have not been wasted, for all of them have succeeded in their chosen vocations," says the mother.

She will remain here until early summer, getting acquainted with California, which she says is far more beautiful than Florida.

JIM MORLEY'S TWO YEARS UP; SEEKS A DIVORCE.

Desertion the Ground Upon Which He Bases Separation Suit from Former Belle of Redlands on Whom He Settled Ten Thousand Dollars in Precious Stones.

"I hope you will change your mind and return to me. I believe that you will realize your mistake and I will wait two years for you."

These are the words James Morley, local sporting celebrity, is said to have uttered to his wife, Dorris Morley, when she left him in February, 1910, and went to San Francisco to live. The two years are up and Mrs. Morley being still absent, her husband yesterday instituted proceedings for divorce in the Superior Court on the grounds of desertion.

The filing of the suit did not come as a surprise to the friends of the clubman and sporting magnate. When Mrs. Morley decided after ten years of married life that she wanted to live apart from her husband, he tried to persuade her to change her mind,

LA FOLLETTE'S IN IT TO STAY.

Houser Insurging Against Roosevelt Treason.

Will Reorganize Forces of the Wisconsin Man.

May Speak His Mind at a Meeting Tonight.

La Follette's Presidential campaign is being rescued from the hands of "its friends." Walter L. Houser of Wisconsin, personal manager for the insurgent Senator, announced this fact yesterday when he arrived at the Alexandria. His visit is to reorganize the La Follette forces after their betrayal by the Johnson machine leaders two weeks ago.

Houser is a Wisconsin "backwoodsman" coming from Mondovi, which nobody ever hears of. About the only time it was famous was when Houser left it and secured the nomination for Secretary of State of Wisconsin on the same ticket with La Follette and was elected. From that time (1902) until now Houser has been La Follette's political advisor.

He is touring the West to reassure the insurgents that La Follette is himself again and that he is in the race to stay until the last vote has been voted in the Chicago convention.

"The Senator's temporary collapse was due to overwork," said Houser. "He has been bearing the brunt of the insurgent burden for a year and it was a burden too great for any man. But he is at work daily in Washington and will again enter actively into the campaign.

"I know that erroneous intimations of his incapability to resume are being given out in the West—some innocently and some not. There is a purpose in that, perhaps. But the fact is that he is restored to health and that the rumors will refute themselves ere long.

"The Senator, as I said, has borne the burden of the very men who have changed their minds and turned to Roosevelt. It was bearing their burden that he temporarily broke down. Not the shock of this discovery, for he guessed the denouement months back, but the strain of the insurgent movement afflicted him.

ROOSEVELT'S REQUEST.

"Now I have made up my mind not to discuss either Roosevelt or Gov. Johnson or the men of California who turned so suddenly from La Follette to Roosevelt. Rather would I simply say that, had Roosevelt not sent the word

BOYS' AND GIRLS' ESSAYS TO WIN THEATER TICKETS

OPEN to every boy and girl in Los Angeles and surrounding towns in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the public schools, and in similar grades in private schools and seminaries and to High Schools and similar graded schools.

Each contestant must send to the "Rebecca Contest Editor," care of the Los Angeles Times, a fifty-word answer to the question: "What does education mean to a girl like Rebecca?"

Answers must be written on one side of the paper only, and must be received by the Contest Editor not later than Friday evening, March 8, at 6 o'clock.

The judges will carefully consider each answer, and the names of the winners will be published in The Times on Sunday, March 10. The prizes are 200 of the choicest seats for the opening performance of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," at the Mason Operahouse, Monday, March 11. The Times makes this offer, believing it will prove an educational stimulant to the schoolboys and girls of this city.

It should be borne in mind that the answers should be original ideas and opinions. It is not so much a question of "What education did for Rebecca," as "What does education mean to a girl like Rebecca?"

The boys and girls of Los Angeles and surrounding towns are busy writing answers and working for the prizes which go to the winners of the Rebecca Contest, and there are only three more days in which to get them to the "Rebecca Contest Editor," care of The Times.

The prizes comprise 200 of the choicest seats for the big play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," at the Mason Operahouse, Monday, March 11. Each schoolboy and girl in Los Angeles and surrounding towns has the opportunity of winning a place on the honor list which will announce the victors.

Are you in with your answer, boy and girl reader? Has your boy and girl entered, parent reader? Mr., Mrs. or Miss School Teacher, have the boys and girls under your tutelage entered this contest yet? All should begin now and try for the prize.

EVENT OF THE SEASON.

The rules of the contest are very simple. "Rebecca" is a comedy in which the most beautiful side of New England life is presented. The play is a dramatization of Kate Douglas Wiggin's book of the same name. The presentation at the Mason Operahouse will be one of the events, if not the event, along with Klaw and Erlanger's "Pink Lady," of the season, for Klaw & Erlanger have gathered a company which is superb, and they have also given it a most massive and picturesque and altogether delightful production.

The part of Rebecca is played by Miss Ursula St. George, who was last seen in "The Blue Bird," and who is aptly termed "a versatile phantom of delight."

Then there is Aunt Miranda, in real flesh and blood, a pink, hard-shelled old aunt, making life full of penance for her loving Rebecca, who has come from Temperance Town to be auntie's pride and joy. The narrow and prejudiced side of country life portrayed in this gingery old maid, who, nevertheless, had in her heart the fond love and proud devotion to the frolicsome girl in her care, is affectionately contrasted in the play as in the book by whole-souled Uncle Jerry, who is always helping his protege out of the most dire and fateful consequences. The old stage-driver is as true to the rural life in Maine as are his flea-bitten horses and rumbling old stage-coach, though the latter goes back a generation beyond our memory.

MUCH LAUGHTER, NO TEARS.

The play is full of laughter, rather than tears. It is a reminder that, however much the stage may wander from what is sweet and pure and simple and direct in its appeal, the public is ready to accord a warm welcome to the truth and beauty of such plays as this whenever they are produced.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" helps to relax your mind and soul, and to flit back for a time into the sunshine and happiness of those days when princesses and princes were as real as father and mother.

It is safe to say that those who have heard Rebecca will want to see and hear her again, and that everyone who does not go and do likewise, will miss one of the rarest pleasures, too seldom offered by the stage today.

PRAISE FROM PASTOR.

Charles F. Aked, formerly pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, New York, but now located in San Francisco, says: "I rejoice that my friend Rebecca has been placed on the stage where she loses none of her charm in the hands of Miss St. George. The pure and perfect joy of an evening with Rebecca and her friends is a real service to the community. From the dreary musical piece, the problem play, and the disgusting farce, one turns to this fresh, lovely comedy as to a different world."

The Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, New York, says: "I was proud and happy to see the charming picture of life Mrs. Wiggin brought us from down East, the finality with which it absolutely holds up fundamental qualities upon which the world depends and the satisfaction a New York audience took in this exquisite play. I hope for the sake of the American public generally, that it has a longer run than 'Peter Pan,' for it is superior to the bewitching play by miles of reality and dramatic unity."

The subject of the contest is: "What Does Education Mean to a Girl Like Rebecca?" Hurry in your answers.

PUTS ONUS ON COUNCIL.

Mayor Tells Aqueduct Investigating Board That Inquiry Should Have Been Made Two Years Ago.

Mayor Alexander appeared as a witness before the Aqueduct Investigating Board yesterday afternoon, and testified that he and not the Board of Health requested the City Council in 1909 to investigate complaints about the Desmond commissaries and sanitary conditions on the big ditch.

The Mayor stated that the old Council refused to consider the matter and pigeon-holed his letter. The Mayor furnished the inquisitors with a copy of the letter in which he asked for an appropriation of $500 to make the investigation.

"I believe the Council made a mistake in not authorizing an investigation," said the Mayor. "I received many complaints at that time about the food and improper sanitation in the different camps and thought it no more than right that the truth should be known.

"In 1909 it was reported that Desmond was bankrupt, and I believe there was cause for complaint—much more than there was later or is now."

No other witnesses appeared before the board yesterday. The commissioners are getting things in shape so that they can leave on the 11th inst., on their inspection tour of the aqueduct from San Fernando to the head waters of Owens River. They expect to be gone one month. Most of the trip will be made by automobile, but Commissioner Warner stated yesterday that the commissioners will walk along the line part of the way. None of the aqueduct officials will accompany the investigators.

"It isn't going to be a junket party," said Warner. "If there is anything wrong about the aqueduct we intend to let the people know it."

Step Forward.

CITY'S HARBOR BILL NOW BEFORE CONGRESS.

CONGRESSMAN STEPHENS yesterday introduced at Washington a Congressional bill "to enable the city of Los Angeles to carry out its plans for the construction of municipal wharves, docks, slips, warehouses and other appliances for commerce and navigation in Los Angeles harbor, California."

The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That the Secretary of War be, and is hereby authorized to grant to the city of Los Angeles, Cal., all the rights, title and interest of the United States in and to that portion of the submerged land around the military reservation of Deadman's Island acquired under act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved March 9, 1897, which lies west of the westerly pier head line of Los Angeles harbor between Station Fifteen as established by the Secretary of War July 29, 1908, and Station Twelve as established May 31, 1911, containing an area of nine and seventy-five-hundredths acres, more or less, in exchange for the grant by said city to the United States, for use for public purposes of an approximately equal area of submerged land off said city in that portion of Los Angeles Harbor known as the outer harbor, having frontage of 950 53-100 feet on the west channel, and lying adjacent to and southerly of the submerged lands in front of the San Pedro military reservation.

TOWERING OFFICE BLOCK TO FACE CENTRAL PARK.

AN ELEVEN-STORY office building of the most modern steel frame construction will be erected during the present year at the southeast corner of Sixth and Hill streets by W. I. Hollingsworth, capitalist and head of the realty firm of Hollingsworth & Co. The commission for the preparation of working plans for the structure has been awarded to Morgan, Walls and Morgan, architects of the Story building, the I. N. Van Nuys Block, the Kerckhoff building, the I. W. Hellman building and other notable office and business structures of Los Angeles.

The building will be known as the Hollingsworth Block and will be one of the noteworthy improvements of the downtown district. It will contain 250 offices and a number of stores and will cost approximately $600,000. The building will front eighty feet on Hill by 138 feet on Sixth. The site is valued by its owner at about $400,000.

Hollingsworth, in connection with Robert Marsh, bought the corner about six years ago from Frank Garbutt for a consideration of $130,000. Hollingsworth later bought Marsh's interest on the basis of a valuation of $240,000. For years he has cherished the ambition to rear a building of truly metropolitan proportions to bear his name.

The situation of the new Hollingsworth Block will be ideal for such an improvement. The building will look directly upon Central Park. At opposite corners will be the nine-story Consolidated Realty building and the handsome house of worship of the First Methodist Church.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Council adopted a resolution yesterday recommending that the Harbor Commission abandon the Huntington fill, plans on which the commission has been working for years, and adopt a scheme involving a compromise of the city's suit for the possession of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company's so-called Miner concession.

The former partner of a dead saloon man was severely criticised by a judge of the Superior Court yesterday for what the court considered an attempt to get the dead man's business.

HARBOR PLANS TOPSY-TURVEY?

COUNCIL WOULD ABANDON ALL HUNTINGTON FILL.

Recommendation to Commission Is Made to Discard Plans of Years and Accept Compromise Suggestion of Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company to Use Old Grant.

To discard the plans for Huntington Fill at the harbor absolutely for several years and take up an entirely new scheme, was the proposition laid before the City Council yesterday by Councilman Reed and adopted. It would be revolutionary, as all the plans and studies of the City Engineer and the Harbor Commission ever since the formation of the commission have been directed to the improvement of Huntington Fill. Reed's plan is no less than to accept a compromise suggestion that is said to have been made by the Miner Fill people, against whom the city has a suit that, if successful, would drive the private owners from the Miner concession altogether.

"It will simply mean befogging the harbor situation and playing into the hands of the private holders of harbor property," said Secretary Fleming of the Harbor Commission of the proposed plan. "I do not wish to criticise Mr. Reed, but it is the object of the private interests at San Pedro to retard the city's work until after the Panama Canal business shall have come to the private concern's wharves. It is a question of getting the business first. It also means that we would have to go into all sorts of litigation and that we should not be ready for business at the harbor for years. The plan to give the city the 200 by 1000 feet strip and the 100 foot boulevard along the channel, as proposed by Reed, would give us nothing. The Miner people have already arranged for two wharves on that side and the location of the boulevard itself has not been fixed. The company has arranged for pier lines all around this property. How would we get to the city's site? It is merely a scheme to belittle the city's wharves."

Reed's plan, based on a San Pedro city deed to the Miner Concession Company in 1906, refers to the strip at the end of the fill and the boulevard along the channel, alleging that the frontage would be on deep water. It goes on to say:

"Whereas, said frontage is the most readily available piece of harbor frontage now owned by the city and can be developed quicker and at less expense than the Huntington Fill or other portions of the outer harbor frontage owned by the city; now, therefore, we recommend that the Harbor Commission, with the assistance of Leslie R. Hewitt, special counsel, and the City Engineer, open negotiations with the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company, with a view to definitely establishing the exact location of the city's holdings on said Miner Fill and that said holdings be developed by the city at the earliest possible date with money now available for the development and improvement of the outer harbor."

Fleming explained his views of this by declaring that the city had all the thirty-foot depth frontage it would require at the present time. He said: "What is needed is deep-water frontage, where large vessels can unload and take on cargo and passengers and get away with ease. The Miner fill proposition would not give us that at all."

Special Counsel Hewitt, who was asked whether the rights of the city would not be jeopardized in its suit against the Miner Concession Company—the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company, as it is officially known—were any compromise to be agreed to, said he was not prepared to answer that question until he had read the resolution more carefully. He said he had heard something of a proposition on the part of Randolph Minor to compromise the city litigation, but it referred, he thought, only to the strip at the end of the fill. He said he would want to take the matter up with the Harbor Board and the City Engineer before he would be prepared to discuss it.

GUESTS KEPT AWAKE.
TROLLEY FREIGHT ANNOYS.

Manager Loomis of the Angelus Hotel, Hart of the Natick and Johnson of the Westminster, called on Mayor Alexander yesterday afternoon to protest against the street railways, especially the Pacific Electric, being permitted to carry freight along Main street. They said their guests were awakened by the noise at all hours of the night and their business was being seriously intereferred with. They urged that the Mayor favor the Aliso street route to be reached by a line over private rights-of-way bought by the Pacific Electric.

The Mayor promised them his aid, but meanwhile the matter had come up in the Council and had been referred to the Legislation Committee in such a way that the necessary ordinance, now being prepared by Special Counsel Leslie Hewitt, will be taken up by the committee without first being read in the Council. It will probably be ready to report next Monday.

The ordinance allowing the Pacific Electric company to place side tracks along the industrial district on Alhambra avenue, was referred by the Council to the Legislation Committee without comment. The Silver Lake Park matter, through which the Council hopes to find a way to have the park and still allow the Pacific Electric to use its right-of-way through the district to Griffith Park, will not come up for two weeks.

LIGHTS CAUSE FIGHT.
COUNCIL ORATORS TALK.

The warmest oratorical fight that has yet attended the sessions of the present City Council resulted yesterday afternoon when Councilman McKenzie's report from the Light Committee was read. The document recommended that the city in the new lighting contract, contribute a quarter of the cost of maintaining the ornamental electroliers on Main street, from the Plaza to Pico; Spring from Temple to Ninth; Broadway from Temple to Main; Hill from First to Pico; Third, Fourth and Sixth from Main to Hill and Fifth from Main to Central. The city, the report went on to recommend, should contribute one-eighth of the cost of maintaining such lights on Pico from Main to Vermont, Sixth from Main to Alameda; Seventh from the river to Hoover; Carr from Main to Hill.

Topham led the attack on the report. He declared that, until the aqueduct power would enable the city to light all the streets in a proper manner, money ought not to be spent for the benefit of one particular section at the expense of taxpayers of the entire city, especially when there were parts of the city that at present could not obtain any light at all. He could see nothing but unfairness, he declared, in any arrangement that would result in favoring downtown sections and not giving equal assistance to others.

Reed derided this argument in reply. He contended that the downtown streets were the places to which the citizens came down to transact their business, and hence, the city ought to contribute more to lighting them. All the city was interested, in seeing that these streets were lighted in the manner proposed, he said:

Andrews said the report was not fair. If a private citizen wanted anything better than some other private citizen, he said, he paid for it himself. "You make a man in the outside districts pay for the benefit of men in the downtown districts, when often the outside districts cannot get even a fair measure of light for themselves," he declared. "It would not be a square deal. Why do people come downtown to transact their business at night now? Simply because the downtown streets are well-lighted. To ask the city to contribute a quarter of the cost of the ornamental lights is to ask the city to pay for the advertising of the shops in the streets that will be aided, and it seems to me that you might as well ask us to pay their newspaper advertising bills for these lights form a great advertisement for them. Let's be just before we are generous with the taxpayers' money."

McKenzie, author of the report and the resolution that went with it, spoke briefly in favor of it, but was unable to overcome the opposition, and an amendment to the resolution proposing that the city contribute one-eighth to the cost of the lights on all the streets referred to in the report, which was offered by Andrews, was carried. Thus amended, the resolution was adopted unanimously.

MACADAM DENOUNCED.
BUT ROAD PLAN PASSES.

Macadam is a rank failure for roads in the lower part of the municipal territory, is the statement made by Councilman McKenzie in the City Council yesterday. "I think macadam for roads and streets ought to be done away with," said he, "especially where the soil is not adapted to it, as in the lower parts of Los Angeles. To get satisfactory results from macadamising you must have a gravelly soil and good drainage. As it is, some of the roads built under the macadam system six months or so ago have all been worn away and nothing is left but the gutters. In six months or a year these roads are worthless and they have to be built over again."

He was opposing a plan to co-operate with the county in the construction of a road across the horseshoe strip on Weston avenue. The Highway Commission has let contracts and made plans for a macadamized road that will be a feature of the lower sections of the county, and this Weston avenue forms a strip of half a mile that falls within the city domains. It is needed to complete the highway.

Former Street Superintendent Hanley criticised all the good roads now being constructed, questioning their permanency.

Councilman Whitten drew attention to the fact that the County Highway Commission's plans required this strip of road and would be interfered with if the city did not act and all opposition was done away with. The Weston-avenue improvement was agreed to.

MAYOR SAYS NO.
CAN'T BUY RAILWAYS.

"The city is in no financial position to consider buying the lines of the Los Angeles Railway Company or those of any other company," said Mayor Alexander yesterday afternoon, after reading a copy of a resolution introduced in the Council by Reed that morning and referred to the Public Welfare Committee.

It was the old question of municipal ownership and the opinion of those in attendance at the Council session, in view of the celerity with which the resolution, introduced by Reed, was referred to a committee, the chairman of which, Andrews, was known to be opposed to taking up time in a matter that he regarded as impracticable at this time, was that, while the subject might have life enough in it to develop a speech or so in committee, it might be regarded as ended.

Reed's resolution called for the appointment of a committee of three Councilmen to investigate the feasibility of purchasing the street railway lines in Los Angeles, interviewing the owners and finding out what they would sell out for. The author wanted it sent to his own committee, that on legislation, but the Council did not agree with that proposed disposition and chose Andrews's committee as the proper repository. Whitten said there was no time to attempt such an investigation.

NO NEW HALD YET.
OLD SCANDAL LAID.

The sale of the present City Hall was defeated yesterday because the charter requires that city property can be sold only by a resolution adopted by the vote of two-thirds of the Council in its favor. Five Councilmen voted for the call for bids on the land and building—Andrews, Betkouski, Lusk, Topham and President Williams. The four who opposed it were Whitten, Reed, McKenzie and Langdon.

One old story that has clung to the Temple Block site, something after the fashion of scandals about Queen Elizabeth was put to rest forever, however, in the course of the argument over the sale. It has from time to time been whispered that the $125,000 raised by citizens for the purchase of the Temple Block site in connection with the city had never been paid. Councilmoan Lusk to give an opportunity to Joseph Mesmer, president of the North, East and West Commercial and Improvement Club, a chance to place the facts on record, referred to this and invited Mesmer, who was present, to speak.

"I was on the committee," said Mesmer, "and I can personally assure you gentlemen, that every dollar of that $125,000 was paid to the owners of the property. The money was paid through the Title Insurance and Trust Company and Dr. Bullard, one of the citizens who helped to raise the money—he subscribed $10,000 himself—is here. Gentlemen, this is Dr. Bullard," and he turned to the doctor, who arose and corroborated his statement.

Whitten, who led the opposition to the sale, explained that he was not opposed to building a City Hall on the Temple Block site, but he did not think the time was ripe for the sale of the present City Hall, as the Temple Block property had not all been paid for yet—wait till it had been paid for, he said.

Reed said he would not admit that the city was under any obligation to build on the Temple Block site. This was in answer to the fact that, when the site was bought, the $125,000 raised by the citizens had been subscribed with the understanding, expressly understood, that the city would build on the land at an early date.

Progress On Tunnel Plans.

The City Engineer was instructed by the City Council yesterday to go ahead with the plans and specifications for lowering the grade of the Broadway tunnel. This was as agreed on in committee. The statement was made by Councilman Andrews that the street railways had proposed to buy their own right of way and build a tunnel parallel to that of the city, in which event all that would be necessary would be for the companies to ask for the privilege of constructing a turnout. Andrews thought, however, that the matter ought to be threshed out further, he said. The others did not agree with him as to the necessity of delay.

City Hall Briefs.

The City Council yesterday approved the report of the Finance Committee against assessing city property for 100 per cent. of its value.

To the Street Committee of the Council has been left the problem of devising a location for the families who must move from Sixth and Utah streets. It is proposed that a site be furnished along the river between Sixth and Ninth streets to which they can move their little homes.

The proposition to pension the veteran fire horse, Sam, was referred yesterday by the Council to the Finance Committee. Mrs. Rosamonde Wright, who has been indefatigable in trying to see that the old horses of the fire department shall not be sold, but shall be cared for, has secured promises that the pension will be granted. Meanwhile the other old horses are to be cared for in a humane way on a farm.

City Treasurer Hance started yesterday for New York to deliver the last of the aqueduct bonds to Speyer and Company next Tuesday. He will remain there for a month and will deliver the harbor and power bonds to the same firm on March 31.

The Good Government organization sent a letter to the Council yesterday asking that the people be allowed at an early date to vote on the question of a larger Aqueduct Investigating Committee, of allowing the Board of Public Utilities to investigate the income of street railways and upon requiring dairy owners to submit their herds to the tuberculin test.

COVETS ESTATE OF DEAD MAN?

COURT'S CRITICISM OF SALOON KEEPER SEVERE.

Declares That Inventory of Stock and Fixtures Is Not Satisfactory to Him—Attorney's Offer to Buy the Business for Five Thousand is Refused.

William Codrick, former partner of the late Charles H. Lips in the saloon at No. 228 West Fifth street, was criticised by Judge Rives yesterday for what the court considered a palpable attempt to get the business himself, instead of doing everything possible for his dead partner's estate.

Lips died last September, bequeathing $2000 to his mother and leaving the residue of the estate to his wife, Mrs. Jennie B. Lips, who was appointed executrix. The matter came up yesterday on the petition of the widow for an assignment of the estate to herself. She was represented by former Judge Trask. Attorney Todd was counsel for the mother, and Attorney Fish looked after the interests of Codrick, who was present.

After his partner's death, Codrick had the license transferred to himself. He filed an inventory which showed the value of the property to be $1052, much less than it was thought to be worth and not sufficient to pay the mother's claim. Codrick testified the inventory was correct, but when, in open court, Trask offered him $5000 for the business, he refused.

Trask scored Codrick, declaring it should have been his duty to realize for his dead partner every dollar to wind up the property.

Attorney Fish resented Trask's attack on Codrick. He stated that the license died with Lips. Codrick was willing to settle the affairs of the co-partnership, he said, and allot more for the business than the actual value of the property.

Judge Rives declared that the inventory was not satisfactory to him and suggested that the administrator bring some sort of an action against Codrick for an adjustment of the co-partnership. No accounting has been rendered since Lips's death, and the attorneys were instructed to file further evidence in the form of book accounts.

FRIENDS IN LAWSUIT.
RESULTS FROM LAND DEAL.

Attorney Clark passed the greater portion of yesterday waiting for a department in which to try a suit involving two men who had been friends in Missouri, but now, owing to a real estate transaction which proved costly to one, are on opposing sides of a suit.

It seems that Dr. Traughber bought a 640-acre tract in Texas and got W. R. Taylor to buy a half interest. The agreement alleged is that Traughber was to take care of the taxes and interest. Traughber moved to California, and Taylor contracted to buy his interest in the land. He obtained a deed and then learned that the State had forfeited title to the land because, as it is alleged, Traughber neglected to pay the interest, as provided by the Texas law.

Taylor was obliged to rebuy the 640 acres, paying $7.50 an acre, and now seeks to recover the excess that it cost him. Clark represents Taylor.

IMPROVEMENT COSTLY.

Fourteen lawyers represent as many clients in the suit of the city of Los Angeles against Blanche H. Garland and others, which is being heard in Judge Houser's court on exceptions to the referee's report on assessed damages for the opening of a twenty-foot alley between Eighth and Ninth streets and Broadway and Spring streets.

The award for this improvement was $210,000, which figures out about $22 a square foot. The property owners damaged think they should be allowed $27 a square foot and are contesting the awards. Among other property owners interested in the suit are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Miner, Mrs. Blanche Garland, Fred Baker, J. S. Torrance, the Southern Trust Company and the Hamburger Realty Company.

SALE OFF AGAIN.
COURT DEMANDS CASH.

The sale of the property at Nos. 225-7-9 South Spring street, which has been in the Probate Court for some time, is off again. Judge Rives refused to confirm the sale to J. K. Tennant unless all cash was put down, and he declined to sell the property to George Zobelein at his bid because he thought the property is worth more. Zobelein offered $185,000. Tennant raised it 10 per cent., which brought the price to $203,500.

Tennant, through his agent, Brown, said he could raise the cash if a little time were granted, and expects to come into court with the full amount. The property is owned by three interests, including the estate of Carrie M. Jones, the Wright estate and heirs of Mrs. Jones.

DOWN BUT NOT OUT.
WILSON FIGHT GOES ON.

The attempt to take Elmer Wilson out of the jurisdiction of the Police Court by having him declared a delinquent, failed in the Juvenile Court yesterday, Judge Wilbur dismissing the petition of Warren Wilson, the youth's father, on the ground of lack of jurisdiction.

Young Warren was arrested for speeding and received a straight jail sentence of fifteen days. He was released on bail, and the effort of his attorney, H. J. Fleming, has been directed since to keep Elmer out of jail. Fleming stated yesterday that the fight in his client's behalf will be continued. He is preparing now to take up another line of attack.

COURT RESTRAINED.
MYRICK CASE IS HELD UP.

J. Myrick, who was arrested on a felony charge, will not appear before Police Judge Chesebro for trial today. Attorney Appel, counsel for Myrick, obtained from Judge Hutton yesterday an order returnable before Judge McCormick next Monday to show cause why Chesebro should not be restrained from proceeding with the trial.

The order was obtained on the showing that the Police Court has no jurisdiction, but that the Superior Court does, and that the defendant is entitled to a preliminary examination before trial by information.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

VERDICT FOR COMPANY. A jury in Judge Craig's court yesterday found for the Los Angeles Railway Company in the suit by Catherine Hirst for $5000 damages for injuries received April 12, last. Mrs. Hirst testified that while she was driving north on Boyle avenue a car approached from the rear and struck the buggy. The horse was frightened and ran away, throwing her out. The preponderance of proof was that Mrs. Hirst did not use due care in driving and that the horse was fractious.

FAMILY ROW. A family row was aired in Judge Dooling's court yesterday when the suit of John and Agnes Collins against Patrick Collins was tried. It appeared that John was occupying a house owned by his father, who used one room. One Sunday Patrick returned after a journey and complained that John was not keeping up the place. Words followed and, it was testified, Patrick seized Agnes by the arm, dragging her to the steps and throwing her to the ground. John interfered and then a neighbor separated the combatants. Mrs. Collins alleged that since the assault she has lost flesh and her nervous system suffers. She ask $5000 damage.

COMES TO COURT. Ira H. Stubbs, who is charged with having forged a deed to property owned by Mrs. Olga Keck at Elsinore, appeared in Judge McCormick's court yesterday, although a physician had certified he is sick and it would be dangerous to attend court. Another doctor sent by the court pronounced Stubbs able to stand trial. Judge McCormick appointed Attorneys Allender and Fisher to represent Stubbs, and set the date of trial for the 14th inst. This will be the second trial, a jury in the first trial having disagreed.

DIVERTING TRADE. The Empire Steam Laundry is seeking an injunction to restrain A. S. Amy from using the information he gained while a driver in its employ on route No. 6, which includes Edendale, west of Hill and north of Sixth street, to divert trade to a competitor, by whom he is now employed. It is alleged that this is in violation of an agreement entered into when Amy was given employment by the Empire Steam Laundry.

INCORPORATIONS. Lorbeer Electrical Supply Company of Los Angeles, incorporators Arthur W. Cleaver, Edward G. Lorbeer, James Irvine and Earle G. Alexander, capital stock $25,000, subscribed $4.

LOOKING FOR BAIL.

J. B. Dudley of South Pasadena, who was in trouble several years ago when an automobile he was driving ran over and killed a man, was arraigned in Justice Reeve's court yesterday on a charge of having passed a fictitious check. Bail was fixed at $2500, which the defendant said he would be able to furnish today. In default of the same yesterday he was remanded to the custody of the Sheriff.

Simple Mixture Used In Los Angeles

Many in Los Angeles are now using the simple buckthorn bark and glycerine mixture known as Adler-i-ka, the new German Appendicitis remedy. A SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach almost INSTANTLY. This simple mixture antisepticizes the digestive organs and draws off the impurities and people are surprised how QUICKLY it helps.

With tears streaming down her face, her form convulsed with sobs, and begging that her mother be not told of her plight, Mrs. Grace Miller, a striking blonde, 20 years old, pleaded guilty to shoplifting before Police Judge Chambers yesterday afternoon. The young woman was handsomely attired in a neat fitting suit, wore a long fur coat and a large Gainsborough hat, trimmed with two black ostrich feathers. On the third finger of her left hand flashed a diamond ring.

Mrs. Miller said she lived with her mother, brother and sister at No. 1834 East Sixty-fourth street.

The Oil Industry.

PIPE LINE ERA NOW AT HAND.

Will Revolutionize Oil and Gas Industries.

Cheaper Transportation Need of Both Products.

Oil News of Interest from Fields of State.

The granting by the Supervisors of the franchise of the Midway Gas Company to pipe natural gas to Los Angeles from the wells of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company in the Rosita Vista hills is the beginning of a new era in California—the pipe line era.

The Midway Gas Company, which is a subsidiary of the vast Huntington gas and power interests in this State, has pledged itself to expend several million dollars in building a big pipe line to Los Angeles and this means the utilization of a great natural fuel for domestic purposes by hundreds of thousands of people, and many big industries in Southern California. There are at this time millions of feet of natural gas going to waste in the oil fields of California, and no doubt the Huntington interests will soon find themselves in competition with other interests engaged in supplying gas to the people of this city.

But the building of pipe lines to this city from north of the Tehachepi is not to be confined to their use for the bringing of natural gas to Los Angeles and outlying districts. Already several projects, backed with sufficient capital, have announced their intention to bring oil from the fields of Kern county in pipe lines, which are the best and most economical means of transportation. The General Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of the Esperanza Consolidated Oil Company, which owns and controls thousands of acres of producing oil lands in the northern fields, has already applied for a franchise for a pipe line system, and the company has been capitalized for $7,-000,000. The representatives of this company have investigated the market in Southern California, and claim that it is large enough to absorb more oil than one pipe line can bring to the city.

It is the announced purpose of the General Pipe Line Company to expend at least $3,500,000 in its enterprise, and to provide over 1,000,000 barrels of oil storage in the vicinity of Los Angeles. Work is to start at once. Other concerns are figuring on the pipe line proposition, and it would not surprise the best observers to see the Standard begin operations before long in the building of a pipe line from Kern county to the new refinery at El Segundo.

PROPOSALS ARE MADE.

GUARANTY PIPE LINE.

William R. Gester, Pacific Coast representative of Robert W. Hunt and Company, engineers of Chicago, recently made a personal examination of the proposed line of the Guaranty Pipe Line Company from Maricopa to Ventura, finding that the route is feasible.

The Hope Engineering and Supply Company of California has submitted the following bids for the construction of the line: From Maricopa to Ventura, including all material and labor, $971,095; from Ventura to San Pedro, $850,396. These bids include the pumping stations between Maricopa and Ventura and five pumping stations between Ventura and San Pedro.

The books of the Guaranty Company have just been audited by Black-stone & Dechene, showing that over $1,000,000 has been received in the sale of stock and bonds, and that there is a present cash balance of over $10,000.

WORLD'S OIL PRODUCTION.

FIGURES FOR TWO YEARS.

Figures are now available showing the entire production of petroleum for the year 1911 in most of the important oil fields of the world. These are given in the following table by barrels of forty-two gallons each:

	1911.	1910.
United States	232,000,000	209,556,028
Russia	66,666,600	69,627,300
Mexico	11,115,120	9,727,320
Galicia	5,262,696	11,673,660
Dutch E. I.	11,602,750	10,234,560
Total	330,696,216	311,819,228

The figures show that the petroleum production for 1911 was largely in excess of that of the previous year, despite the changes taking place in the various fields. The United States holds the place of being the greatest producer of oil in the world—greater than all the rest of the world's fields combined.

News Notes and Personals.

H. L. Whittier of Los Angeles, who is largely interested in oil properties in the Kern county fields, made a trip to Bakersfield one day recently and visited other fields.

Miss Parsons of the Kern Trading and Oil Company in the Coalinga field has returned from a visit to Santa Barbara where he went on a short business trip.

C. C. Arens, who is an oil operator in the Lost Hills country, reached Los Angeles the other day and will remain several days looking after business interests.

J. J. Potter of Los Angeles, interested in the oil fields of Coalinga, left Wednesday the other day to inspect the property in which he is interested.

A. Coats of Fresno is in the Coalinga oil fields looking after business matters. He has interests in several wells.

J. Kimbrough of St. Louis is looking at the Pleasant Valley Holdings. He is visiting the fields with a view to the investment of money in the oil industry.

F. Venneman, formerly with the J. F. Lucey Company, left Los Angeles the other day for Coalinga and other oil fields of the valley.

Brown of the Nevada Petroleum Company of the Coalinga field has returned home from Los Angeles, where he underwent an operation to have his tonsils removed.

Chittenden, secretary of the Associated Oil Company, was a recent visitor to the Coalinga field and will spend a few days there before returning to his home in Nanford.

Hall, secretary of the Coalinga Branch of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency, left the other day for San Francisco, where he will remain a few days on business.

Dr. McClure, a capitalist and oil man of Morgantown, W. Va., is in Coalinga on business and pleasure.

paying a visit to old friends in the oil game.

It is reported from Taft that casing is arriving there in large quantities for the Standard Oil Company, and there is every indication that development work will be prosecuted with vigor. There was a report that the big company would rest on its oars for awhile.

Jewell Oil Company.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Jewell Oil Company has been called for March 23, to be held at the offices of the company in San Francisco. The purpose of the meeting is to consider consolidating with the Seaboard Oil and Transit Company. The Jewell corporation operates in the Kern River field. It has nine producing wells with a capacity for producing between 2000 and 5000 barrels of oil a month. A circular has just been issued by the officers of the company recommending favorable action on the consolidation.

UNCLE SAM'S ON DYNAMITE AGAIN.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY STARTS AFRESH AFTER REST.

Indications Are that Investigation Will Now Proceed Continuously Until Matter is Entirely Gone Over—Greater Secrecy to Be Observed During the Sessions.

The probe into the various phases of the dynamite conspiracy, in abeyance for the past thirty days, was resumed before the Federal grand jury yesterday afternoon. The indications are that the present investigation will go on continuously until the case is cleaned up so far as the local Federal authorities are concerned.

The witnesses who went into the jury room yesterday, were John R. Harrington, of Chicago, the attorney connected with the McNamara defense; Detective Foster, of Indianapolis, in the employ of the National Erectors' Association and H. W. Pohlman, business agent of the Iron Workers' Union at Seattle.

Others said to have been subpoenaed are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Casey, and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Forrester of La Canada, the last alleged to be warm personal friends of Clarence Darrow and of Emma Goldman.

During the afternoon the newspaper reporters and Oscar Lawler, special counsel on behalf of the government, had an oral collision as to where the newsgatherers are to stay during the investigation. The old dead-line was erased and another, further east, and more removed from the grand jury door, was drawn by the government representative. The argument became quite animated and the outcome was a threat to have the reporters arrested of they persisted in occupying forbidden ground.

Postmaster Harrison, custodian of the building, said, however, that he had no right to order their arrest.

No additional move was made by the District Attorney yesterday in the Darrow case. Inasmuch as the defense has been furnished with a copy of all the testimony heard before the county grand jury, the prosecution believes it has complied with the instructions of Judge Hutton given Saturday last when he rendered his interpretation of the code provisions.

The next hearing is scheduled for Saturday morning and at that time it will probably be definitely settled whether the defense will accept the transcript given it or refuse upon the grounds that material evidence of important witnesses was not transcribed by the official stenographer.

CAN IT "COME BACK?"

Silk Manufacturers Desire Restoration of Hoop Skirt to Increase Demand for Fabric.

"Down with the hobbleskirt," is the cry of silk manufacturers of the world, according to Albert Wydler, a member of the Swiss Silk, Bolting & Cloth Company of Zurich, who is passing a few days in Los Angeles.

Wydler declared at the Hayward last night that the restoration of the hoop skirt and the fashions of Colonial days is the only thing that will save the manufacturers of silk from heavy financial losses. The hobbleskirt, he says, has cut down the demand for silk to an alarming extent. The cause of this is the fact that only about half as much silk is necessary to create the latest fad in women's wearing apparel. In addition to this, he says, underskirts are not worn with hobbleskirts. Underskirts, as all members of the fairer sex know, are usually made of silk.

Wydler has been visiting the silk factories of the United States and declares that 25 per cent. of the looms are idle. He says that the only remedy is to have the dressmakers of Paris, the center of fashions, combine and bring the hoop skirt back.

FIELD-FIRING EXERCISE.

Co. F to Practice Two Days at Santa Monica Canyon—Transportation by Big Motor Train.

Saturday afternoon and Sunday Co. F, Seventh Infantry, N.G.C., with a strength of eighty men and officers, comprising, beside its regular quota, representatives from other local infantry companies and men from Long Beach and Pasadena, will hold a field-firing exercise at Santa Monica Canyon. This means firing ball cartridge by a long company skirmish line at targets which appear and disappear, change location, and appearance, and represent khaki clad opposing forces. These targets, sixty in all, will be operated in series of eight, by men in pits, and some will be placed on sleds, which will be sledded into the engagement at unlooked-for moments, and requiring presence of mind of both officers and men in changing firing points, and sight elevations. Capt. McReynolds states that to his knowledge this will be the first time an exercise of this kind has been attempted by a National Guard company.

The men will be transported to the ground by a large motor-truck manufactured by a local concern, with three wagons, made into a motor-train. This train will also carry all the baggage, tentage and subsistence and supplies. Maj. Decker, who is organizing a new field hospital, will also be present with the hospital detachment, to care for the injured in case of accident, and to give lectures on first aid. The camp will also be one of instruction for both officers and men, and will comprise tent pitching, trench digging, and other instructive problems. Col. Schreiber and other officers are expected to witness this firing exercise, as well as the officers and members of the new company just mustered in at Santa Monica.

Manager Houser, of the La Follette Campaign,

Who is now in Los Angeles to reorganize the forces favoring the Wisconsin candidate and who says Roosevelt was responsible for La Follette's decision.

IN IT TO STAY.

to La Follette, the latter would not have been a candidate. It was Roosevelt's urgent request that made up his mind and that word was brought by Gilson Gardner, a close friend of both and whose word has not been disputed. And on that I would not be averse to qualifying for the Ananias club either; but Roosevelt dares not dispute this.

"This word came to La Follette when insurgency was a lost cause, a mere protest against the renomination of Taft. It was without hope of success that La Follette consented to lead. It was conceded by all that it was a movement to insure cohesion and prepare for a future struggle. Roosevelt, La Follette and all declared a nomination impossible. It was under these circumstances that La Follette begun the burden-bearing under which he broke down and it was Roosevelt's encouragement that decided his mind.

"When he told these insurgent leaders, his late supporters, that he would accept the leadership, he declared that he would stay to the finish. He said he might be deserted, but so long as one stuck with him he would not weaken. And their hands went up solemnly as they swore to stick through thick and thin."

Mr. Houser smiled just a little.

"But they—well, they have found reason to change their minds. We saw it coming and sought to prepare for it. In Ohio, two months back, it began. Investigation disclosed that the Roosevelt boom started in that State by Walter L. Brown, State chairman, was backed by none other than Dan R. Hanna, of Cleveland, a director in the steel trust. It is also true that the most potent factor in the Roosevelt movement is George W. Perkins, Morgan's best man in the steel trust. And if that were not enough, Frank A. Munsey appears as a third sponsor, and he is a steel trust man.

"I went into Ohio and showed that the Roosevelt movement in making was splitting the insurgent forces, because, by that time, hope of success had become reasonable. But it was useless, for the Ohio organization followed Hanna and Brown and turned the State from La Follette. Our organization was appropriated and we found it necessary to make a new one. And we picked a man from the ranks for a leader and now have 34,000 voters affiliated with our cause.

"It has been the same elsewhere. Here in California I find that Gov. Johnson based his assurance on about 2000 voters, and took their word that Roosevelt was the fit candidate. Rowell told me that a poll of this membership of the La Follette organization showed 700 for Roosevelt and 200 for La Follette. That is all the returns accounted for. But the 1100 should not be ignored. In the poll Johnson was asking practically his own close political organization to speak. The expected answer was intimated. Any different answer was hardly to be expected. But the 1100 silent ones were ignored, even if such men as Rudolph Spreckels were included in it. There are thousands of La Follette's partisans in this State that will not be drawn away from him and the 1100 ignored by the other computers may be indicitive of their numbers."

Houser says everywhere he has been La Follette reorganization has been instantaneous and effective. He says the new leaders will not come from the ranks of politicians. Last night he met with Thomas Kenton Kase and a number of other La Follette workers here and agreed to address a meeting to be held tonight in Blanchard Hall. At this meeting he will explain just what the La Follette situation is. He may discuss Roosevelt or Johnson, but he would not promise. If he does, he has something to say.

MAY BE MISREPRESENTATIVES?

Alleged Fake Subscription Agents Said to Have Found Golden Harvest in Their Operations.

The preliminary examination of L. M. Thomas and E. E. Holloway, alleged fake subscription agents, will be held before Justice Summerfield Friday afternoon.

Deputy District Attorney Hammon, who will prosecute the two men, said yesterday that the New York publishing house for which Thomas and Holloway pretended to be working is much interested in the outcome of the case.

The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Josephine M. Gliddon, who is one of the alleged victims of the defendants. According to Hammon, the men secured hundreds of dollars by means of their scheme. Their method of working was to get subscriptions on a basis of $1 down and so much a month. After securing the first payment, it is alleged in the complaint, the men never forwarded the subscription to the New York magazine.

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises. It quiets the pain, relieves congestion and reduces the swelling very quickly.

HERE'S PROOF

Mr. HENRY A. VOEHL, 64 Somerset St., Plainfield, N.J., writes: "A friend sprained his ankle so badly that it went black. He laughed when I told him I would have him out in a week, but I soaked his foot and then applied Sloan's Liniment, and in four days he was working, and said that was a right good liniment."

Mr. JOS. HATCHER, of Selma, N.C., R.F.D. No. 4, writes: "My daughter sprained her wrist and she applied Sloan's Liniment and it has not hurt her since."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is unequalled as an antiseptic—heals cuts, wounds and burns, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

CORRECT.

Roosevelt draws a fine distinction between being a candidate and accepting a nomination. The distinction will be even more marked after the Chicago convention.

WORK AT HOME.

It is announced that Chicago will be headquarters for a national society to suppress the white slave traffic. Chicago as a field for home missions in that respect is unexampled in the western hemisphere and the society will find its plan of salvation fairly well exhausted if it makes a local clean-up.

PLENTY OF THEM.

Hanish, the sun worshiper, has been arrested on a charge of using the mails in a fraudulent manner. If Hanish is guilty, he has much company. The amount of mental misinformation which courses through the United States mails to be digested by mental malformation would be humorous in the extreme, if it were not the extreme of pathos and tragedy.

CONSOLATION.

There is no doubt that the immigration problem which this city will face three years hence will be a whopper, but there is also no question that Los Angeles people are equal to that situation or any other that may arise. The problem is now receiving the attention of only a brave and thoughtful little handful of earnest, progressive men and women but they know how to command the support of city, county and State when conditions demand it.

FIVE AT A BIRTH.

Blow a big blast from the Rooseveltian silver trumpet! Indiana must surely be preparing to line up for the Jeremiah of race suicide. A farmer's wife in Linton has just had five children at a birth and they are all living. This makes a record of eight possible future citizens in two years, thus far profligacy beating the record of Kansas. Could any State carry its indorsement of the Roosevelt'an policies any further than has done the little town of Linton?

THE WORLD MOVES.

There died in Los Angeles Monday the man who ran the first engine over the first railroad in Southern California. The trip was from Wilmington to the foot of Commercial street and the date was 1869. As a pioneer in the transportation business of California Benjamin Colling lived to see changes beyond the dreams of the most hopeful and ambitious of those early days. He saw oxen supplanted by famous stables of swift racers and horses supplanted by steam and electricity. He lived to see men mount upon wings as eagles and lift themselves above the clouds. The world is yet young and California, for all its wealth and development, is inexpressibly youthful. Many who look with interest and amazement upon the achievements of this day will live to be astounded at the revelation and opulence of the morrow.

A UNIQUE POSITION.

Not a few California women find themselves in a unique position since their enfranchisement. It happens that a woman may be a native daughter of this State and still be an alien if she has married a foreigner. Such a law would be just if the foreigner lived abroad and had no intention of becoming an American citizen. It is manifestly unjust in the case of a foreigner who lives in California and intends to remain here. The law expatriating women in this fashion was designed to apply to those who marry abroad and whose husbands remain the subjects of other nations. A bill is now pending in Congress which will limit the action of the law to those specific cases and will restore to citizenship American girls who marry foreigners remaining in this country. This measure is timely and should be enacted without delay.

THE GREAT MOMENT.

Are you waiting for your great moment? If you are, it cannot escape you. It will surely come and if it finds you alert and expectant it will tide you to the pinnacle of your life. Heroes are heroic only for a few moments of their lives. The story of the Great Ones is the emphasis of moments and not the history of years. It is the flash of a sword at a single momentous battle. It is the touch of the pen in a single moment sublimely creative. "The Raven" and "Annabel Lee" are written in a moment's sunburst of genius and the name of Poe is carved upon the everlasting tablets of the deathless ones. The gambler records lost fortunes with the turn of a card, or the arrival of a number. This does not discount a life of consistency. Such a life makes only for fitness against the arrival of the moment that counts. You may be $0, with your great moment yet to come, but although you are old and poor, with a history only of the commonplace, the opportunity which will mean to you the flower and the harvest of life may break upon you with its promise and realization at any instant. Success is only awaiting and seizing the few moments, hours and days which may be snatched from the ordinary, the trivial and the inconsequent, to be charged with the courage, faith and action of an earnest, understanding heart.

A big delegation of western suffragettes will attend the Democratic National Convention, yet these same ladies would no doubt be horrified if asked to attend a prize-fight.

THE SONG OF THE SOIL.

Three hundred voices are now rehearsing a song of the soil to be sung at the coming Land Show at Fiesta Park next Tuesday. The song of the soil is too elusive for mortal ears and yet it breaks upon the listening soul in ecstatic melody. The lark hears it and wakes us with its translation. The mocking-bird echoes both soil song and lark and sweetens our morning meal with his hilarious joy in them. The winds waft it at twilight and the trees murmur it in the shadows of night. It is the wax of lily and the blood of geranium. The rose hears, understands and breaks into a rage of bloom because of it. The crickets go chirping it, the brook babbles it and its unuttered harmonies ripple over fields of ripening grain. Blessed song of the soil! Although you are too faint for the ears of man, your melody courses in unbroken flow throughout the lives of all!

A NEW CITY HALL—THE PEOPLE WANT IT.

Because one member of the City Council changed his mind the plan of selling the present ramshackle City Hall and building a new one at the Temple Block has been sidetracked again.

With every member on record in favor of building the new hall at the site purchased three years ago, still the Council finds many opportunities to not do what it promised to do and what the people want done.

Nothing has been more clearly settled than the public wish for the creation of a civic center at the Temple Block. The new City Hall is a part of that plan not begun. To join in it a former Council purchased the Temple Block site and accepted $125,000 contributed by north-end property owners in good faith that they were aiding a municipal project. In that transaction the Council settled the question of a City Hall site and its judgment was indorsed by popular vote.

Since then there have been many delays. First the charter had to be amended to permit the sale of the present site without a popular vote. This amendment was in force a year ago. Then came a municipal campaign and the sale and new building plan were sidetracked. The campaign ended and a new Council took office, with some new members. And some of these new members are wiser than any others in the world. They would buy street railway systems and wind, raise taxes and abrogate the moral obligations of their predecessors, including the City Hall plan as a part of the civic center. It was their votes that prevented the passage of the ordinance authorizing the reception of bids for the present site yesterday. Their main reason seems to have been that it is not now "opportune" to sell, whatever that means.

Six years ago it was not "opportune" either, and the city could have sold the present site for $850,000 then. Now the Council fixes a minimum price of $600,000, finds some doubt that it will get much more and then defeats the ordinance asking bids, on the ground that it will be more "opportune" two years hence.

Councilman Lusk and Topham, who have pushed the sale with a view of using the proceeds at once in building on the Temple Block site, should not let their endeavors subside. They are right, and the people are with them. It is just as true now as it was three years ago that the City Hall is a daily humiliation to Los Angeles, that it is a fire menace, unfit for the housing of important public records, that it is an architectural blot and that it ought to be abandoned.

Just as true is it that the money to be obtained by a sale, with some slight annual additions from the budget, will erect a business structure for the city at the Temple Block, architecturally ornate enough for the purposes and certainly not repelling to those who have to pay taxes to maintain government.

There seem to be some members of the Council who get their voting orders from extraneous sources. They should realize that the people are patient but probably not patient enough to ignore this perennial wabbling on the established plan to build a new City Hall at the Temple Block. The action yesterday was indefensible because the ordinance did not bind the Council to sell, if some members were possessed of extraordinary caution (not usually found in their deliberations,) but merely permitted the Council to ascertain if its first step would be as near to financial provision for the new hall as had been hoped.

By all means the action should be reconsidered and the sale ordered.

INSURGING AGAINST WHAT?

What is an insurgent progressive Republican in California? Against what is he insurging? In what direction is he progressing? What laws does he propose to enact? What laws does he propose to repeal? What constitutional changes is he desirous of effecting? What is the matter with him anyhow?

The purposes for which the insurgent Republican party in California was organized have been accomplished. It has placed every one of its fads in the Constitution. It has enacted all its ideas into statute law. As at present advised nobody proposes to repeal its laws or take out of the Constitution the things it has placed there. The entire and ultimate purpose of its existence having been accomplished; it having passed all its measures and secured all the offices for its leaders and subleaders, why cannot it go into its grave like a gentleman, instead of strutting around and swindling a cremation company of the profit to be derived from reducing it to ashes?

Macaulay wisely said that parties often survive long after the issues which called them into existence have been determined. The progressive Republicans are illustrating this truism. The loyalty of the old guard to the grand old party of Lincoln led them in California to vote for Johnson for Governor, to condone the election of Works—who obtained his place by a violation of statute law and personal pledges—and to submit without a murmur to having the initiative, the referendum and the recall crammed down their throats. The old guard co-operated with the goo-goos and aided to save our city from the blight of socialism, although in doing so they were obliged to give and did give to the insurgents all the offices.—The old guard are still doing business at the old stand—in favor of a protective tariff, opposed to a tariff for revenue only, and anxious to secure the renomination of that great constructive statesman, William Howard Taft. How do you stand on these questions, insurgents?

The Old Story.

FREAK LEGISLATION.

Union labor representatives in the last Congress introduced bills to regulate the methods of procedure in Federal courts. The general title of the measures proposed was not—as it should have been—"An act to legalize boycotting, picketing, strikes and contempt of court." A bill introduced by a Kentucky Congressman proposed to accord the right of trial by jury in all contempt cases, even where the contempt was committed in the presence of the court. A citizen who felt aggrieved by a decision might charge the judge in open court with being a liar, a horse thief and a Democrat, and all that His Honor could do would be to place the matter before "twelve good men and true." If one of the twelve was of the opinion that the judge—not having had the advantages of a newspaper training—was given to deviating from the truth, or that he had in early life ridden a neighbor's horse on a night visit to a girl without first asking permission of the owner of the horse, or that in some strange mental vagary, bordering on dementia, he had voted for Billy Bryan for President, then that juryman would "hang" the other eleven, and after two or three mistrials of this nature the wearied prosecution would abandon the case.

Another Kentucky Congressman offered a bill providing that no ex-parte injunction shall under any circumstances be issued in cases of trade disputes; that no contract, combination or agreement between two or more persons in furtherance of a trade dispute shall be restrained by injunction, and that no combination, contract or agreement shall under any circumstances be punishable as a crime unless the acts done or agreed to be done by combination or agreement would be criminal if performed by one person. That is to say if it would not be criminal for one person to walk up and down the sidewalk in front of an obnoxious non-union department store, quietly requesting people not to patronize it, because "unfair" goods were sold there, then it would not be unlawful for a hundred people to thus perambulate and proclaim with one voice their views with regard to the proprietor of the obnoxious shop.

An Iowa Congressman presented a bill embodying the same features as those offered by the Kentucklans. A New Jersey Congressman went still further. He offered a measure proposing that no Federal court shall have jurisdiction to enjoin any combination for the purpose of leaving or refusing to enter into employment or from using peaceable means to advise, encourage or persuade others to leave or enter employment. No definition was offered of what shall constitute "peaceable means." To tell a non-union worker that if he accepts the job that has been vacated by a union man (because his employer refused to submit his books to the inspection and his business to the supervision of Gompers) then he will rank in the opinion of his "peaceable" adviser as a scab and a traitor and a measly, miserable hound, whose mother lacked a marriage certificate, and that he need not be surprised if the man he has superseded should, with the help of three or four sympathizers, attack him on his road home and "put a head on him like that of a pizened pup."

A Congressman from Pennsylvania who is secretary and treasurer of a miners' union, offered a bill providing that in the issuance of an injunction in the course of a trade dispute neither the right to create or continue the relation of employer or employee or to carry on business of any particular kind or at any place or at all should be considered a property right, and no act of two or more persons done in the furtherance of a labor dispute shall be construed, either to be a conspiracy or the basis of an action for damages, unless the act agreed to or to be done would be unlawful if done by an individual, and it was forbidden to enjoin such agreements. A bill was offered raising the jurisdiction amount necessary to permit an action to be brought in a Federal court from $2000 to $5000, thus limiting the right to enter the Federal courts. Another measure offered provided that a foreign corporation sued in a State court by a resident of the State could not remove its cause to a Federal court on the ground of diverse citizenship. A foreign corporation sued in the State court in a county where it was the victim of local prejudice or sectional bias could not remove the cause to a Federal court, but would be compelled to take its medicine in the local tribunal.

These measures were all defeated by the last Congress and are all again presented to the present Congress. There is no probability of their passage, but they serve to keep the misinformed union workers of the country in a contributing frame of mind, and afford Gompers and Tveitmoe and Mitchell and Debs and Gallagher and Darrow and Harriman and Scott a continued opportunity to stretch and suck and suck and stretch upon the body of union labor and, like the daughters of the horse leech whom they resemble, cry continually "Give, give."

THE DICTOGRAPH.

The stenographer is passing. The dictograph is superseding her as a recorder of utterances. The typewriting feature of her profession will remain, but she will no longer transcribe the dots and scratches and marks she has made in her note book. She will apply the dictograph tube to her ear, turn a crank, receive a dozen words, stop the machine, write down the words, start the machine again, receive and write the next sentence and so continue until the dictation is complete.

The dictograph will be especially useful in the courtroom. It will save time and money. The inability of one stenographer to read the stenographic characters of another will be overcome. The disks will be boxed and filed as fast as made, and may be transcribed a day, or a week, or a year, or ten years afterwards and there can be no question as to the accuracy of the report.

Greenleaf in his work on evidence dwells on the danger of admitting verbal communications as evidence, on the ground that the hearer may not have accurately comprehended or truthfully reported them. But he concedes that where precisely heard and accurately reported, they may be the most valuable form of evidence. That the dictograph will accurately hear and precisely report what it hears may not be disputed. Should a question arise—as is often the case—as to what was the testimony on a former trial of a witness since deceased or absent, the filed dictograph cylinder will settle the question, or it may be connected with a phonograph and spoken again in the courtroom in the very tones of the witness.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

"There is no good in printers' ink," with emphasis says Jabez Dink. "I tried that graft for many years; it brought me bitterness and tears. Last summer I blew scads in droves announcing low-priced heating stoves; such bargains as I offered then were never known by mortal men, and not a customer arrove—I didn't sell a doggone stove! This winter I have tried once more to bring the people to my store; I advertised some useful wares—porch furniture and garden chairs, and didn't sell enough to pay the ad expenses for a day! To one great truth I'll put you wise—it doesn't pay to advertise!" But Gaffer Spink, across the street, says advertising can't be beat. "I think of what the people need, and then write ads that they will read," says Gaffer Spink, who gets the dough, while rivals wring their hands in woe. "I don't cry 'fans!' when winter's nigh, or Christmas trees in mid-July!"

CARTOONS IN VERSE.

BY HAVEN CHARLES HURST.

The Street Car.

Some ride behind a spanking team, and some
In purring autos swiftly go and come;
But I, of little cash, and credit low
Unto the street car's lowly seat succumb.

But not alone; the loveliest and the best
Of ladies in the latest fashions dressed
Are very often in the street car found;
So I'm content to ride there with the rest.

The Saddest Words.

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these, 'It might have been.'"
Thus sang the poet in days gone by,
But sadder words now strike the eye;
For of all sad words the saddest are
When you're in a hurry, "Take next car."

The Strap-hanger's Wail.

On the front of each car that you meet on the street
There is painted a motto in black letters neat,
Saying "Pay as you enter," you pass on inside,
But, alas, you find also you stand as you ride.

O noble inventor,
We hail you with pride;
We pay as we enter—
But stand as we ride.

The conductor no more through the crowded car goes
Collecting our nickles and smashing our toes;
All now is serene and our smiles would be wide
If it wasn't for having to stand as we ride

O noble inventor,
We hail you with pride;
We pay as we enter—
But stand as we ride.

So you man with the brains, just get busy once more.
Take our hands from the straps and our weight from the floor;
You could surely do something for us if you tried,
Make a car that will seat us; we stand as we ride.

The Motorman.

Here's a man of use, who handles the "juice,"
And starts and stops the car;
And opens the gate of the "pay-as-you wait,"
And tells you where you are.

All day up front he does his stunt,
His chances for fun are slim;
If he works his jaw, it's against the law,
And you daresn't talk to him.

So come on back, let him watch the track
While the breeze blows through his hair;
Let him ring his gong and speed along
And never know you're there.

The Conductor.

Here's a captain who has never crossed the bar,
But he sails across the city near and far.
If needs be he'll beat a bully
In a way that's wild and woolly,
And then gently throw said person off the car.

Just feed him nickles; he is happiest when
He can get as many nickels as there's men;
And he'll likely swear a bit,
Fall down dead or have a fit,
If you offer him a twenty or a ten.

With his transfers he will further you along;
"Step forward lively" is his favorite song;
He has faults (but so have you)
And he's mostly tried and true;
He's a diplomat who seldom gets in wrong.

Uncle Bill's Philosophy.

Human natur's
Funny, Gee!
Aint a woman
Smart as me?
Yet the bloomin'
Fact remains
They don't always
Use their brains.
For I reckon
No gal can Get off street cars
Like a man.
Fact is, many
Of fair sex
Get off backward
Break their necks.
Ride an ambulance
Or what's worse
Change the street car
For a hearse.
I'd advise a Marryin' man
Just to choose her
By this plan:
Pick a gal
For Cupid's stunt
That is always
Facin' front.

A CASE OF FAITH CURE.

The Asthmatic was awakened from a sound sleep by a terrible attack of short breathing, writes Henry van Dyke, in the March Scribner.

"Open the window," he gasped; "I am choking to death."

The Mystic sprang from bed and groped along the wall for the electric light button, but could not find it. Then he groped for the window and his hand touched the glass.

"It is fastened," he cried; "I can't find the catch. It will not move up or down."

"I shall die," groaned the Asthmatic, "unless I have air. Break the window-pane!"

So the Mystic felt for the footstool, over which he had just stubbed his toes, and used the corner of it to smash the glass.

"Ah," said the Asthmatic, with a long sigh of relief, "I am better. There is nothing like fresh air."

Then they all went to sleep again.

The morning roused them slowly, and they lay on their backs looking around the room. The windows were closed and the shades drawn.

But the glass door of the bookcase had a great hole in it!

"You see!" said the Mystic. "It was the faith cure. The Oversoul cured you."

"Not at all," said the Skeptic. "It was the doubt cure. The way to get rid of a thing is to doubt it."

"I think," said the Asthmatic, "that it was the nightmare, and that miscellaneous cooking is the cause of human misery. We have traveled enough, and yet we have found no better air than we left at home."

So they went back to the certain village and continued their disputations very happily for the rest of their lives.

A LA LA FOLLETTE.

I saw from the beach, when the moon was shining,
A bark o'er the waves move majestically on;
I came when the sun o'er that bark was declining,
The bark was still there, but the hull was all gone.

And such is the luck of this plan for promise,
So vanish the chances of good things to get;
Each chance, that looked hopeful at the beginning, slips from us
And leaves us at evening, a la La Follette.

They Don't Care.

LET 'ER RAIN CRY BALL MEN.

And Players Train in Barn During Showers.

Hogan and Berry Both Feel in Happy Vein.

Newsy Gossip from Vernon and Angel Camps.

BY GREY OLIVER.

"We don't care if it rains a week," declared Henry Berry yesterday morning out at Washington Park, as he looked at the sloppy grass where his ball players are supposed to practice every morning.

"We'll give the farmers this week if they will just let us have the other three this month," added Berry. "With our men in fairly good shape, all we need is three weeks' practice, anyway, for when they work too long some of them are liable to get sore."

"Let her rain," declared Hogan, as he watched the storm from the clubhouse. "All of us need it and particularly the farmers, who are the real backbone of the country."

This is the way the local managers look at the rain situation and, although they figure they are losing money, owing to the impossibility of their men doing training, they will willingly stand their losses if the rain will but rain, as the poet says.

The moisture yesterday was the reason that neither the Vernons nor the Angels did any training that amounted to anything. The Angels stayed in the big barn all morning and dubbed around, playing with the medicine ball, knocking the ball a little, throwing it and running around the ground under the shelter. The grass was too wet to venture out in the morning, but the Vernons took a chance and during a rift in the clouds managed to work half an hour or so in the right corner of the field, but the ground was very mucky.

SCORE OF PLAYERS OUT.

In the morning Dillon had out Smith, Brooks, Halla, Slagle, Enz, Harry Killilay, Chech, Driscoll, Bigando, Heitmuller, Daley, Lober, Leverens, Laird, Cooney and Myers. In the afternoon Hogan showed Sullivan, Bragg, Hasty, Gray, McDonnell, Reams, Hosp, Litschi, Kane, Ross and Bayless and several others who did not get on the field.

The Angels could show little or nothing cooped up in the barn and, while the Vernons could do little better, they had a chance to get out on the field, but there was no strenuous work of any kind done. The same programme will be gone through with today and, while the managers would like to see clear weather, they are not complaining much, for they know what rain means.

BUT FEW MISSING.

Hogan now has all of his men on the ground except Ovitz, who will be here March 20, from Chicago; Brackenridge, due March 15, from Harrisburg, Pa.; Carlisle, who is supposed to be at Ashland, Wis., and Catcher Brown, who is in Kansas City and will come as soon as his sick baby can make the trip West.

TWO MORE ARRIVALS.

Catcher Sam Agnew of Omaha and Pitcher Rossback arrived here yesterday from San Bernardino and reported to Hap Hogan of the Vernon team. They have been playing all winter with the famous Urbita Stars of San Bernardino and both say they are in condition.

LORD TWEEDMOUTH LOST HIS $2000 DIAMOND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CORONADO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lord Tweedmouth's diamond stickpin, valued at $2000, and of a luster that would make Ad Wolgast jealous, has been found and serenity reigns once more.

Last night the stormbound polo players took to the bowling alleys—Tweedmouth among them. He had just rolled a "strike" and turned around triumphantly when someone noticed that the ice cake was missing from his cravat.

There was an exciting search of the premises, dark rumors of pickpockets, social highwaymen and detectives.

This morning, Lord Tweedmouth and one of the bowling alley boys joined forces in a search expedition and found the missing jewel in a dust bin, where it had been swept.

STANFORD NINE TO PLAY OXY TIGERS THIS WEEK.

Occidental Will Open Souther Season Friday—Two Games in Series Between North and South—Presbyterians Will Have Chance to Show Caliber, Stanford Team Coming to Form.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THE U.S.C. Trojans did not get the honor of opening the Southern intercollegiate baseball season Monday afternoon with Pomona owing to the intervention of Jupiter Pluvius, who got busy and flooded the Bovard acres with about six and one-half inches of the good pure milk of heaven. The two great rivals will probably clash after the dual track meet, which takes place next Saturday afternoon on Alumni field at Claremont, rain or shine.

Now the opening baseball story shifts from Bovard Field to Highland Park. The Tigers will start hostilities Friday afternoon, March 8, with the first of a two-game series in which Stanford is the other factor of the equation. The second game of this series will be played Saturday afternoon on the same field. These games will be played, no matter what this Jupiter party pulls off in the way of a deluge.

The games with Stanford will be a great thing for the Presbyterians. We would not be so rash as to suppose that the Occidental baseball men are going to mop Stanford up with precision and dispatch and leave the remnants of the team to be carried off by the birds of prey, because Stanford is one of the strongest collegiate baseball teams in the West this season, and all that we can expect from Occidental is to hold these fighting Redmen from the North to a close score. If Occidental makes the Stanford baseball team hustle as fast as U.S.C. made the Stanford track team hustle, the Tigers will have shown.

SHORT ON PITCHERS.

There is one thing in favor of the Occidental team this year, and that is the fact that the squad is made up of men who last year went through the breaking-in process and this season the squad can start to work out the finer points of the game at once. The only thing that will trouble the Tigers is the pitchers. Sidney Foster and Roy Allen are the only two men in the institution who can boast of a slant, and as the two games come in as many days, each of these young men will have to stand to the guns for nine innings. If one of them suffers a blow-up that particular game may end disastrously for Occidental.

Such veterans as Duffy Seay, all southern second baseman for two years; Harry Kirkpatrick, who is a fair short-stop; Ned Bishop, captain and steady old outfielder; Drury Wieman at back-stop duty, and Wienie Blount in the garden, form a nucleus of old heads, which should be heard from before the season is over. There is one hole in the Tiger defenses that will be hard to fill. This is at the difficult corner, third base, where Lysle Rothwell McKinney, the red-headed Norseman, used to hold forth. Mac was a great third baseman and will be sorely missed at Station C.

This trip of the Stanford varsity baseball team will be the only one of the season for the northern Cards, as all the rest of the games this spring will be played on the home grounds.

Manager Burbank will bring twelve men South. The line-up of the team will be quite different from that of last year, but from the showing it has made, the nine is fully as strong and probably stronger than last year's aggregation.

STANFORD'S TEAM.

The men who will play against Occidental will not be chosen until the day before the team leaves for the South. However, the way things have been breaking, it looks as though the line-up, which has been working during the last three games, will remain

Alters "Dope."

GREAT FRENCH POLO STAR REINFORCES ENGLISH TEAM

BY R. A. WYNNE.

CORONADO, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The arrival of M. Duval of Paris, who is a member of the Hurlingame and Ranlaegh Clubs of London, Eng., has altered the "dope" on the outcome of the contests for the All-American cup.

Duval is rated as an eight-goal man and individually is perhaps the most effective player in California.

His arrival today and the subsequent announcement that he would play in Wednesday's contests as a member of the English team has caused considerable worry in the camps of the Pasadena and Canadian teams.

Walter H. Dupee has offered his position as No. 1 on the English team to Duval.

The addition of Duval has strengthened the English team and brought it up to a point where it will have to be considered in the finals.

The English team, which meets the Canadians Wednesday, would have little chance of winning if Duval had not been added to the team.

The Pasadena and Canadian teams had figured that the All-American cup was to be fought out between themselves. Burlingame had been eliminated by the Pasadena team, and the Santa Barbara, English and Coronado teams were not thought to be in the running.

Duval has, however, upset everything, and the English team, with Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Herbert, Viscount Gower and M. Duval, is very likely to defeat the Canadians and become a big factor in the finals for the All-American trophy.

The game today between the Santa Barbara and Coronado teams was played in a drizzle of rain, Coronado won handily by the score of 9½ to ½.

BESLEY SHINES.

The playing of Capt. J. C. Besley was the feature of the game. Time and again he picked the ball out of the ruck by superb riding and secured five or six excellent shots for the goal.

In the seventh period, Leidbetter of the Santa Barbara team was thrown from his horse and escaped serious injury by the closest margin. The rain had made the turf soft and the horse Leidbetter was riding fell with him. He was in the lead of the bunch of other players and as he fell, fortunately laid perfectly still, while three of other riders passed over him. He was unhurt.

Dr. E. J. Boeseke of the Santa Barbara team was also thrown, but escaped serious injury.

S. Velie of Kansas City, who was No. 4 on the Coronado team, played an excellent game and divided honors with Capt. Besley.

The players were: Santa Barbara, J. Towne, J. Borden, F. Liedbetter, and Dr. E. J. Boeseke; Coronado, Capt. J. C. Besley, Carleton Burke, Johnny Hobbs and S. Velie.

Maj. C. G. Ross was referee.

Harry Trotter, who won the shot put in the A.A.U. championships, sprained a tendon in his wrist on his winning heave, and writes from his home in Fillmore that he could not win a grammar-school weight event at present.

It is reported that the champion will soon take up the directorship of one of the local playgrounds. The popular athlete's many friends will welcome him to our city, but great will be the wailing when the ban of professionalism is announced.

Women First to Brave Rain and Wet Greens, But Men Are Quick to Follow—Champs Eliminated Leaving Only "Dark Horses" to Finish Race and Capture Laurels.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DEL MONTE (Cal.) March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sobbing skies and the accompanying sloppy course didn't deter the golfers of both sexes from playing through their regular schedule in the tournament here, today. As a matter of fact, the members of the fair sex were the first to brave the elements and played through the storm with perfect sang froid.

In the men's event it is quite within the range of possibility that some player unknown to the Coast will win the laurels, as the scratch man have all been disposed of, and H. Spens Black is the only well-known player left in the tournament. The dismissal of Vincent Whitney by L. E. Wardwell was not expected by those who had watched the winter play in the qualifying and first rounds, as Whitney had to concede his opponent the heavy impost of eight holes.

The San Francisco champion was not, however, playing the game that he played yesterday, and never looked capable of overcoming the handicap imposed upon him. Should Mr. Wardwell, who is a golfer from Boston, duplicate the day's performance in the latter rounds, he stands an excellent chance of earning premier honors. As both the men's and women's tournaments are handicap affairs, each round provides plenty of surprises, but the judgment of the Handicap Committee is sustained by

Too Much Class.

M'FARLAND MAKES MONKEY OF ONE ROUND HOGAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 5.—Packey McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, won all the way in a ten-round bout with "One-Round" Hogan of California at the Fairmont Athletic Club here tonight.

McFarland led so easily all the way that many thought he could have scored a knock-out, but he appeared to hold back to allow Hogan to last ten rounds. The Chicago man landed enough blows to knock out six men if he had used more steam, but he seemed to delight in tantalizing Hogan.

Hogan weighed in at the ringside at 127 pounds, a pound heavier than McFarland. The bout began with McFarland leading with two lefts to the face and an attempt at a right swing which missed and sent McFarland to the floor by the force of his own blows; but he was up in a second and began fighting his man all over the ring and into his corner with lefts to the face and right uppercuts. He used this combination repeatedly throughout the bout and seemed to have Hogan puzzled. The Californian hit only at short range and did not land a single straight blow in the second.

McFarland landed with rights to the body and swings to the head in the third, and Hogan returned weakly. In the fourth Hogan started for the first time to mix it up, but McFarland was quick and clever with lefts to the face and right uppercuts. He used these blows effectively through the fifth, sixth and seventh as well. In the seventh he made Hogan's nose bleed.

In the eighth Hogan made his best showing, landing a right swing which started McFarland's nose bleeding. Packey promptly was all over his man again and through the ninth and tenth held his lead by using his left to the face and a right uppercut. Hogan tried to slug back, but plainly was weak.

KELLY AND FARMER SIGN.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Leo Kelly, local lightweight, and "Kid" Farmer of Peoria, Ill., have signed articles to box eight rounds before the Irish-American Athletic Club here, March 20.

BOSTONS GO SOUTH.

BOSTON, March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The advance guard of the Boston National League baseball club departed today for the South to begin spring practice. Several players will join them along the road. At New York a special train will be taken for Augusta, Ga., the training quarters.

DICK WHEELER ARRIVES.

Dick Wheeler arrived yesterday from the North to begin training for his fight with Paul Romana, which is to be the semi-windup for the Rivers-White fight. Dick has been the trainer for Freddie Welsh for a long time. He says Freddie is in bad shape, but still has hopes of being able to come back and get a fight with Ad Wolgast.

LUCKY PUNCH WINS.

CLEVELAND, March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] In a scheduled twelve-round bout here last night between "Kid" Julian of Syracuse and Matt Brock of Cleveland, the fight was fast with little to choose between the pair until the sixth, when Julian landed a right swing to the jaw that sent Brock through the ropes. Shoved back into the ring, he was so groggy that the fight was stopped and the decision given to Julian. The fighters weighed in at 124.

VANCE FAR OUT ON THE DESERT.

Cartercar Crossing Volcano Lake to Calexico.

No Roads in Lower California, Engine Is Right.

Daring Trip of Wireless Crew in Wilderness.

[By Aerogram to The Times.]

"We are in the desert, not far from the Gulf of California. No roads to speak of. Wireless is great help. We'll try to get back to California by way of Volcano Lake. Tell the folks Cartercar is working fine and we are all right.

"WALTER VANCE,
"Vance-Canavan Company."

Vance is driving a Cartercar and Darwin Huff of the Cartercar factory is with him. Others in the party are Jessie Buffum, and his brother, Warren, J. B. Walker, and George Mehmen. The men are in a country through which an automobile has never before been driven.

Somewhere between Laguna Salada and Calexico Warren Vance and the crew of the Cartercar are fighting their way toward the heart of the Imperial Valley. The venturesome automobile dealer drove far down into Lower California, perhaps too far, and is trying to keep his promise that he will reach the C. & M. ranch this week.

Rain has interfered with the operations of the wireless plant on the Cartercar. It has been anything but an easy task to cross the sands from Jacumba to Calexico. Vance might have reached his destination by way of El Centro, but was anxious to cross the line. Now he is somewhere on the wastes where practically no roads exist.

VANCE GRITTY.

"We will get through if any automobile can," is one of the aerograms relayed to The Times by Vance. This means that he intends to set the Cartercar a task that is almost impossible. He is making a gallant fight and while in the sandy country is taking observations. He has two cars in the caravan, one to carry the apparatus and the other to take car of the aviators.

Jessie Buffum, who helped organize the expedition, and his younger brother, are the two lads who recently made the trip across the continent, the one eating meat and the other vegetables. They are studying life on the desert and expect to write their experience of the novel journey.

"There are no roads down here" was the message sent by Vance early yesterday. Then his messages became fewer and it is now difficult to say just what he has encountered.

Prospectors who have journeyed over the sands in the vicinity of Laguna Salada say it is impossible for an automobile to make the trip from there to Calexico. The best Vance can do is to turn back and try to reach Jacumba. Of course, Vance will never do this unless he is obliged to walk, and then he would be more likely to press on toward Mexicali.

HARD TRIP.

Never before in the history of automobiledom has a machine been driven into Lower California from over the Jacumba line. The country is level, according to Vance's reports for many miles, but a chain of low sandhills are said to be an almost insurmountable barrier between the Laguna Salada and Calexico.

Vance is endeavoring to return to California over an entirely new route. He reports having found a well-watered country near the Gulf of California. The country through which he has traveled is only sparsely settled, but he says the few bands of insurrectos have treated the Cartercar people fairly well.

TO TRAIN IN SNOW.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] President Hedges and Manager Wallace of the St. Louis American League team met this morning to complete plans for the home training work of their players, following the return West, though the diamond at Sportsman's Park is covered with several inches of snow. Col. Hedges declared the players would not be taken to warmer climes for spring training. Such training, he said, would tend to unfit them for real work here, rather than to improve their present condition. Members of the team have been ordered to report at the park tomorrow.

STANFORD TO PLAY OAY.

intact for the next three weeks, at least.

Howe and Couch, both freshmen from Palo Alto High School, seem to be leading in the pitching department, and it is probable that they will perform in a game apiece against the Tigers. Dent, a freshman, seems to have the position behind the willow cinched. A freshman battery has no precedent at Stanford, yet these youngsters at present have the veterans backed out of the clearing. Capt. Gilfillan has been varsity pitcher for three years, but this year he is scooping up the hot ones at third base. However, as this is the last opportunity he will have to play with Stanford in his home town, he may return to the mound for one of the two games.

Obear, who was pursuing high ones in the garden last year, has developed a Hal Chase streak and at the present reading of the minutes is gamboling around first base with much eclat. Louis Cass, who will be remembered as a star from the Los Angeles High School, is comfortably settled at second base, where he played last year. "Zeb" Terry, formerly of Poly High, is showing real class at shortstop. At present he is leading the team in the hitting department, while putting up a brilliant fielding game. Old War Horse Gilfallan has fitted into the nook at third base in fine style, since Stan Mitchell, who covered the bag last year, has taken up a business career in Los Angeles. In the outfield Beeger, in right, is the only member of last year's varsity who at present has his berth cinched. Henshaw of Downey High, a fielder last year, has been out of the game for two weeks on account of an injury and in the meantime other players seem to have become entrenched in the ballwick. Gault, who pitched for Los Angeles High School two years ago, is putting up a splendid game in the outlying precincts and it looks as though he is slated to win a varsity emblem this year. The remaining berth is occupied by Noble of Illinois, who is breaking into Stanford baseball for the first time. He won his spurs last fall on the football team and if he performs in the national pastime with the class he evinced in Rugby the diamond squad of Stanford will receive a boost in his person.

Just now the Stanford team is in a slight slump, but as the team has been in training since early fall a little slump at this time is not unexpected. However, as the northerners have nearly a week to go before meeting Occidental, it is a reasonably safe bet to put Stanford in the dangerous class, and to win the Tigers will have to play better baseball than ever in the past, but we are not saying that this is impossible because the national game is one of chance, a la draw poker.

Tommy Writes.

HARLEM TOMMY MURPHY TRAINING FOR ATTELL.

HARLEM TOMMY MURPHY has apparently given up hope of getting a fight with Joe Rivers.

In a letter from Oakland to the sporting editor of The Times, he states that he will go to New York the day following his fight with Abe Attell.

"I am hard at work at White's," says Tommy, "and feeling good. I go on the road every day and do six miles and in the afternoon I box eight rounds with Frankie Edwards and Jimmie Cox. I will rest up on Thursday so to be in good condition for Saturday.

"I leave for New York on Sunday as I have a few good bouts there. I have been working now since Sunday and am in good shape now.

"Frank Klaus is working here and he is a good one."

The reports by telegraph are that Abe Attell is also hard at work; but the word trickles down the grapevine route that Abe is up to his old tricks again—training on draw poker and late nights.

His old enemy, the Kitty, had a whole lot to do with his losing the championship. Johnny Kilbane, during his training time, lived an absolutely regular life; but Abe was out at all hours of the night. His friends say that he played poker until 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning within a day or two of the fight.

"Abe," said one of the fight promoters, yesterday, "is by no means the old wreck they would have you believe. Freddie Welsh gave him about the same kind of a licking that Johnny Kilbane did and everybody said a sad farewell to Abe then; told him he had been a grand little fellow in his day, etc.; but Abe came back, and saw his best fighting days after that. In this fight with Harlem Tommy Murphy and the battle with Joe Rivers, we are apt to see him at his best again."

Tom McCarey is frank in saying that he would like to have seen a match between Joe Rivers and Harlem Tommy Murphy.

"Matty Baldwin and Harlem Tommy Murphy are the two boys who are best equipped to make an interesting fight with a boy like Joe Rivers.

"Tommy Murphy, especially, would make Joe travel. Tommy is very fast and a hard hitter."

HUNS AND TROJANS TO LOCK HORNS SATURDAY.

Pomona and U.S.C. to Battle for Track and Field Supremacy on Alumni Oval—Dope Points to Greatest Meet of Decade—Both Teams Have Much at Stake. Much Depends on the Relay and the Two-Mile.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THE track and field meet next Saturday, March 9, between Pomona and the University of Southern California on Alumni Field, Claremont, has all the ear marks of a history maker and the banner athletic event of the intercollegiate year. There are just four good reasons for the above statement, and reasons which make the meet one that will be remembered through the next decade as one of the greatest cinder battles ever fought on a southern oval.

The first reason is a natural one, the rivalry between these two institutions of learning. It is the ambition of every Pomona man to skin U.S.C., and the freshmen at the university are taught from the most early times to regard Pomona in the light of Vandals who are to be wiped out with no sentiment whatever. Last season the Pomona Huns suffered defeat at the hands of U.S.C. in the annual dual meet, but came back two weeks later and took the conference meet from the university by a narrow margin of points when Gillette walked in with five points for Pomona in the last lap of a thrilling relay. The Trojans of U.S.C. have never forgiven this and are now hungering and thirsting after Pomona blood. The meet this year will be the only time the ancient rivals clash during the season, as the old conference meet is a thing of the past, so it will have the concentrated efforts of both colleges all wrapped up in the fight of one day.

U.S.C. is going to move bag and baggage to Claremont next Saturday afternoon, and the campus out Thirty-fifth street way will remind those, who have a hankering after literary art, of that famous deserted village. Manager Warren Bovard chartered a special train yesterday, and it is thought that about 750 leather lunged rooters will make the trip and stir up the college settlement for one afternoon at least.

EVENLY MATCHED.

The second reason for marking this meet as a history maker lies in the fact that both teams are matched about as evenly as any two track and field teams ever were. Where U.S.C. wins an event, Pomona will be on hand to take the second and third points, and when Pomona comes in for the blue ribbon the Cards will capture the remaining points. Any way you figure an affair of this kind, the going will be close and the final result will likely depend on the outcome of two events, the two-mile and the relay.

The third reason is due to the fact that the teams are made up of the best track and field material in the South, and not only will the races and events be close, but the records made will be good, as when two men of high-class meet in an event of any kind the inspiration of the meet and the knowledge of the opponent's worth are bound to spur an athlete to his best efforts.

The fourth and last reason is that the Pomona track is the fastest in the South. Of course, if the rain is coming down in floods this factor is likely to take a back seat, for the meet will be held despite weather conditions, as last season Pomona had a terrible time in reaching Bovard Field for the dual meet.

It was during the wet season and on this particular day Jupiter Pluvius was working over time and succeeded in washing out two bridges on the Santa Fe right of way; nothing daunted the Pomona team climbed out of the cars and walked seven miles to the Salt Lake and came into town that way, arriving, tired and worn out, on the field at 4:30 in the afternoon. After a showing of this kind, the U.S.C. team would rather die than fail to show up on the Pomona battle ground, even if they have to walk all the way.

EVENTS IN DETAIL.

The events in detail are causing a world of interest and speculation this week. At the present reading of the minutes, Coach Stanton of Pomona figures on putting Lawrence Gillette in the 100 and 220 against the pride of the university, Waldo Throop. Now in the 100 Throop should win on form, but after being defeated last Saturday by McKee of Stanford, in 10 and one-fifth seconds, there is a chance for a little doubt to creep in. Gillette is better than ever this season and if he can clip the century in ten and one-fifth, Throop will have to hump himself to win. In the 220, Throop should win again on form, but once more Gillette is something of an unknown quantity now, having run the furlong in fast time this season. Strange to say, however, this season Throop has developed into a better 220 man than 100, as all his races to date show. It is going to be in places just like this, that the meet will slip one way or the other. U.S.C. should win the sprints and they will need the ten points to win the meet, so if Throop slips up it will make the going all the harder for the rest of the team, and will furnish a handicap which will take a superhuman effort to overcome.

The 440 belongs to U.S.C. unless Gillette is switched from one of the sprints. Hodge of the university is better than any of the Pomona men, with the exception of Gillette. Lorbeer is a fast man, but Hodge is coming now, and Saturday should run his best race of the season, with a dry track, somewhere near fifty-one and three-fifths seconds.

HALF IN DOUBT.

The half-mile is open to conjecture. Tipton of U.S.C. and Billings and Woods of Pomona are at about a standoff; whoever takes the first five points will help a long way toward a victory for this college. These men are all good for two minutes and four seconds. If Linton Smith of U.S.C. gets into shape and runs the 880 he may spill a little of the Pomona dope; anyway, if he gets into the race he will help split the points more evenly.

In the mile it looks like Pomona with Loveland and Sturgis, the old vets of the four-lap grind, working for the Blue and White total. Smith and Torrance will fight it out here for the university and have a fair chance at that, to bring home three or four points to rthe Alma Mater.

BANNER EVENT.

The two-mile will be the nerve-racking event of the day. Capt. Bob Sturgis of Pomona, the undisputed long distance champion of the South for the past three years, will run up against, in his fourth year, a little freshman from U.S.C., who has been setting the local Thames on fire of late. Swiggett is this person's name. This is going to be the greatest long distance battle ever seen in the South, if the records and conditions can be taken into consideration. Swiggett is a new star with everything to gain and nothing to lose, while Sturgis is a veteran of four years standing with his college expecting him to win and in desperate need of the five points in this race. Will the new blood win or will the steady old war horse of a hundred battles come out in the lead? Both men have been running near ten minutes flat this season and neither has been pressed in any of the races, but somebody is going to be pressed Saturday and the result will likely be a new two-mile record, which will stand for the next four years.

The hammer throw goes to Barnes of Pomona on past work, but the shot will be a hard fight between Kingman of Pomona and Kelly of U.S.C. and will be another place where one of the teams may slip for the bad.

Barnes and Watkins should have a pretty fight in the pole vault, with both men going 11 feet 6 inches for their best. The hurdles belong to Kelly of the university on dope, but second and third will probably go to Pomona. The discus throw is open to doubt, with Kelly and Carver both heaving 108 feet.

Oh! it will be a great meet and well worth going far into the sage brush to see.

When the rain stops falling, and say that be some time hence, the two motor trucks are to settle matters decisively. Curtis Colyear is anxious to enter the contest against Moreland. There are certain qualifications which he will insist upon. If Moreland stands pat it will mean that Colyear cannot sign the agreement to start. His money is still up, but the days are rolling away rapidly and the time limit soon will expire. It is too much to have contest of $1500 without the prospect of a big economy contest. It would be a race worth watching, a round-trip run from Los Angeles to San Francisco and return.

Gilbert Woodill is getting busy with the Oakland line. He reports things moving along briskly at the Hawley-King Company. Another carload of machines was received this week and every car is sold. That is going some for rainy weather. He is preparing to hustle orders out and if the pot is not boiling as briskly as it has passed away for the first two months of this year, the Oakland sales mark will be a high one when the season is over.

Hector Huebner, formerly mechanician at the Lord Motor Car Company, has graduated. He has gone up in business for himself at Venice. Thereon hangs a tale. Mentor has a summer home and is a man of luxury, at least for the time being. He is married. Well, he is the youngest Benedict on automobile row. He got married after a courtship which lasted, well, it was short, but exceedingly sweet. Now he is happy and contented and is not yet 20.

Well, here is the tale. Young Mentor took a joy ride in an E.M.F. thirty. He met a beautiful young lady and they decided to ride to Santa Ana. It became late and both were frightened. Think of the scandal of being benighted out at night.

Then the bright mind of the young man began to revolve. He made a suggestion. "Let's get married," he said, tremulously.

Nay was the answer, but it was overruled. The blushing young bride, and in her teens, was willing, and the E.M.F. went shooting away, toward the parson's home. It did not take long to splice the knot, but even then the Grahams of the young couple were not aware. Neither papa nor mamma had the faintest idea of what had happened. Worse and more of it, neither papa nor mamma had ever seen the bridegroom. The lovers went to their homes shivering in their shoes and in less than five minutes after their arrival were as happy as two turtle doves.

Now the sequel. This all happened only a few days ago. Yesterday Mentor hailed me on automobile row. He was driving a new E.M.F. "Thirty." "This is my car," he said proudly. "We are living at Venice. Happy? There's no word for what we are." Then he drove me downtown over the choppy streets and showed his skill as an automobile pilot. The young man, who was so faithful at the Lord Motor Car Company, is now in business for himself and unless I miss my guess will make good. He has the right kind of spirit and a manner that will certainly succeed as he already has made a host of friends. Long life and happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Huebner, both of whom are now on the other side of twenty years.

Warren Vance is lost in the wilds of Lower California. That was a land which has everything else we have heard of backed off the boards. Perhaps he has undertaken too much. Lawless bands of desperadoes, who are roaming through that country think nothing of taking a shot at a man. Most of them are anarchists and the trip is hazardous, but Vance is the man who will succeed if anybody could.

The Woodill-Hulse Company supplied the wireless apparatus with which the Carjercar is equipped for its trip into the desert. The outfit is costly and is in charge of J. B. Walker, who is an employee of the concern. The motor is working perfectly and messages have been flashed for 200 miles. Walker is experimenting on the desert and may find out many things which are now unknown to the wireless men.

Charles Cotton enjoyed his first ride in a Stoddard-Dayton Silent Knight yesterday. The big six-cylinder was cranked and driven by E. Roger Stearns and after the demonstration Charles announced that he expects to purchase one. Perhaps he was only joshing but he was closeted with the Stoddard man for an hour or so, at least long enough to have signed the necessary papers for the car, even if he intended to pay $25 down and so much a week.

The new Schacht truck is here. It is one of the handsomest commercial cars on the market. It looks to be a monster and if it will do even half that the makers claim for it the truck is a success at the start. The local agents are ready to make demonstrations this week no matter how hard the rain comes down.

CHESS NOTES.

L. C. Schantz, now in Phoenix, has resigned his game against A. G. Pearsall in the third Southern California correspondence tournament, and has been matched against O. E. Frazier of Los Angeles, for an additional game. The scores of contestants on games finished in the tourney now stand as follows:

Pearsall, won 3, lost 0; Leipsic, won 1, lost 0; Hart, won 0, lost 2; Schantz, won 0, lost 1; Wickersham, won 0, lost 1.

A. V. Geldert, competitor in the checkmate tournament, having returned to town, will endeavor to complete his schedule of 46 games. His score on 27 games finished now stands at 11½ won, to 15½ lost.

Rudolph Spielmann of Munich maintained his lead throughout the King's gambit tournament at Abbazia, Austria, and won with one and one-half points above Duras, his total score being 15 won and 6 lost. As Spielmann went through the first round without a loss, and with but a single draw, it seems evident that he relaxed somewhat in the latter half of the contest. His success in playing the attack and defense in thirteen games without loss furnishes good argument for lovers of brilliant chess, who have always claimed that the gambits would win their share of games.

Scores of all contestants are appended:

Spielmann, won 15, lost 6; Duras, won 12½, lost 7½; Cohn, won 11½; lost 9½; Rotl, won 11½, lost 9½; Lowtsky, won 11, lost 10; Flamberg, won 10½, lost 11½; Freymann, won 10½, lost 10½; Suskely, won 9, lost 12; Leonhardt, won 8, lost 13; Nyholm, won 7½, lost 13½; Rossell, won 7½, lost 13½; Aurbach, won 5½, lost 7½. Aurbach withdrew after the first round.

TOMMY SULLIVAN WINS.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] "Brooklyn Tommy" Sullivan was given the popular decision last night in his eight-round fight with Ollie Kirk of St. Louis. Both men fought fast and furiously, but Sullivan's exhibition was slightly superior to that of the local lad.

FIVE SCHOOLS ENTERED IN BIG ORANGE COUNTY MEET.

THE annual Orange county interscholastic meet will be next Saturday afternoon at Santa Ana, and from early returns, will be the best suburban muscle conference held this season.

Five high schools will send point winners to the scene of action and the winning team is a stiff riddle.

The colors of the following institutions will be entered in the lists: Huntington Beach High School, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton.

At Redondo Beach, the fourth district meet of The Times Camp series will be run off next Sunday afternoon, with grammar schools from Hermosa Beach, Redondo, Manhattan and El Segundo entering their junior performers.

In the forenoon of the same day, four city schools will hold home meets at the Downey avenue playground, and in the afternoon Hooper avenue, Fifty-second street and Sixteenth street schools will compete for Times Camp honors on the St. Vincent field.

LET 'ER RAIN.

a very good ball player," said Rossback yesterday, after his arrival, "and you can also say that Billy Page, that the Los Angeles team has secured, is a sweet player. You see, I was in the same league with them, and I have a very good idea as to what they can do. That's the Connecticut League. Leverenz, Litschi, Page, Metzger and myself all came from that league, and two of these have already shown their worth here. Just watch the others of the five."

ALTIZER ON HIS WAY.

Altizer left yesterday morning from San Bernardino for Minneapolis, or rather for Hickman, Ky., where the Millers are to train. He says he is in good shape and, while he has been playing ball this winter, he has not done enough to hurt himself. Chief Myers, the New York catcher, has been on his way a week for Texas to mingle with the Giants.

BAYLESS ALL RIGHT.

"Say, Slats, did you see this fellow Bayless?" asked Patterson yesterday. "Well, I played with him in the Southern League and I want to say that he is a nice ball player. He hits well, has a lot of baseball sense and is a good all-round man. I don't think Hap will regret having secured him. I played there with him in 1910."

CORE SATISFIED.

Core sent Berry a telegram from Grand Rapids yesterday that he expected to leave there March 15 for this city. His contract is satisfactory and he has no complaints.

ENZ LOOKS GOOD.

Dillon seems to think that he has a good pitcher in Enz, whom Nagle recommended, and, while he has not had a chance to work out as yet, he shows the brand of goodness.

NEW FLAG SCHEME.

Berry intends to erect six iron poles on top of the grand stand at Washington Park, and from each one of these will fly a flag of a different color, with a name of a different Coast League team on it. Vernon's flag will be red with white letters and the Los Angeles banner is to be green, with red letters. Berry has written the other teams in the league, asking them to advise at once what color they want their respective flags. This flag business is a custom that prevails in the big leagues, and will be tried here. It is a good scheme.

WALT GLAD HE'S HERE.

Leverens reports that there were terrific snow storms in Chicago this winter and that trains of all kinds were delayed to beat the band. He suggests that he is very glad to get here and away from the blizzards.

CHANCE FOR KILLILAY.

Dillon is to try out pitcher Harry Killilay, brother of the Boston pitcher, Killilay, who will probably be farmed out this year to Jersey City, in the International League. Harry Killilay belonged to the Boise club, in the Union Association, and that club disbanded. He says he was not offered a contract before February 1 and thus became a free agent. If the Boise club can show that a contract was sent him, he is the property of the league, even though the club did disband. If he can establish his free agency, Dillon will give him a try out.

DILLON'S ADVICE.

"Say, you want to crank all those fellows' legs," said Dillon to Trainer Scotty in the clubhouse yesterday, when the Doc was working over Halla. "At that, this goes for all of them but me, for if you use mine that way you can hear the bones rub together." Which shows that Dillon does not think he needs any very strenuous treatment.

NAGLE'S HARD LUCK.

"What do you know about that for luck?" asked Nagle yesterday, holding up his left thumb, which was bruised and swollen. "I was playing second base in the first Elks' game here several weeks ago and a ball hit me on the end of the thumb. Doc Finlay has been treating it ever since and it still hurts me a little. Lucky it isn't on my pitching hand, but I guess it will be all right by the end of the week."

HOGAN WANTS AGNEW.

Hap Hogan has all the dope on his new catcher, Sam Agnew, and sent it yesterday to Secretary Farrell. Agnew bought his release last year from the Omaha team, and later on that team sold him to Wheeling. Hogan has signed him, but there is a technical cloud on his title, and for this reason Hogan proposes to blow it away and get the player. Agnew says he is a free agent and can play ball any place.

WHY TENNIS HURTS.

While speaking about baseball, I happen to think of a tennis story that might interest human beings, for tennis might be called a forty-second cousin of baseball.

I dropped in to hear Tetrazzini Monday night, through the mud and the slush, and sat up in Nigger Heaven where you can hear the best, if you don't go to show your clothes.

Right behind me was a tennis fiend and after that short, fat Italian woman had waddled across the stage a number of times and wrapped the witchery of her marvelous voice around the hearts of some of us, the tennis fiend got busy with the girl next to him.

And right in the middle of Tosti's heavenly Serenati, too.

"Say, I tried to get you on the phone last night. Was over in Hollywood and phoned you, but central said the line was busy. That's what they all say, half the time. Half those girls are bughouse anyway. Then when I couldn't get you I came downtown and was a-goin' to a movin' picture show. Just about that time I met Frank and he says let's go and get somethin' to eat. I'd been playin' tennis all afternoon and I was tired and hot an' I wanted somethin' to eat. So we went and had a couple of bottles of beer and that's why I didn't get you on the phone. Y'u see, y'u git thirsty playin' tennis."

Do you get me? Imagine SUCH filling the pause the nightingale, Tetrazzini made, with SUCH piano playing and such a flute obligato to help.

Still, when tennis kids get so real devilish as to drink real beer Sunday night, I suppose they've got to tell about it.

MORE VERNON GAMES.

Hogan yesterday arranged two more exhibition games for his Tigers. One will be with the Los Angeles High School team on March 23 and the other with the Jeffries Club at the Vernon grounds on the morning of Sunday, March 17.

NO SORE SPOTS.

"I never had a sore spot on me in playing professional ball," declared Roy Brashear yesterday in the clubhouse, "and, furthermore, I don't propose to have any. Can any ball player beat this kind of a record?"

SULLIVAN GOOD HITTER.

"I hit a million last year in the Night League around Kansas City," said Jack Sullivan yesterday with a grin, "and I guess I could do it now if I had to." You see about all the playing Jack did last year was in managing a cafe in K. C., and didn't throw a baseball once. This is one reason why he thinks he will be good this season.

HOSP ALMOST READY.

"I've been lying around all winter taking things easily," chirped Hosp yesterday, "and I never felt better than I do right now. However, I'm a little sore at that for I have not handled a ball for three months, but I ought to be A1 by the end of the week. I still keep a bandage on my left thigh, for I had a Charley Horse there once and while there is probably no danger of it returning, I don't want to take any chances. Hosp looks to be there or thereabouts.

EIGHT MANAGERS ON VERNON.

If real class will win a baseball pennant, the Vernon team should be first by forty lengths this year for there are no less than eight or rather seven ex-managers now on the team, in Brashear, Stinson, Patterson, Brown, Hogan, Hosp, Sullivan and Brackenridge.

Brashear once managed the Louisville team, Patterson, the Pueblo team; Stinson run one at Macon, Ga.; Brown was the boss at Enid, Kan.; Brackenridge at Akron, O.; Hogan at Vernon, and Sullivan at St. Paul, while Hosp managed the Vernon Yannigans last year. Can you beat this combination of talent?

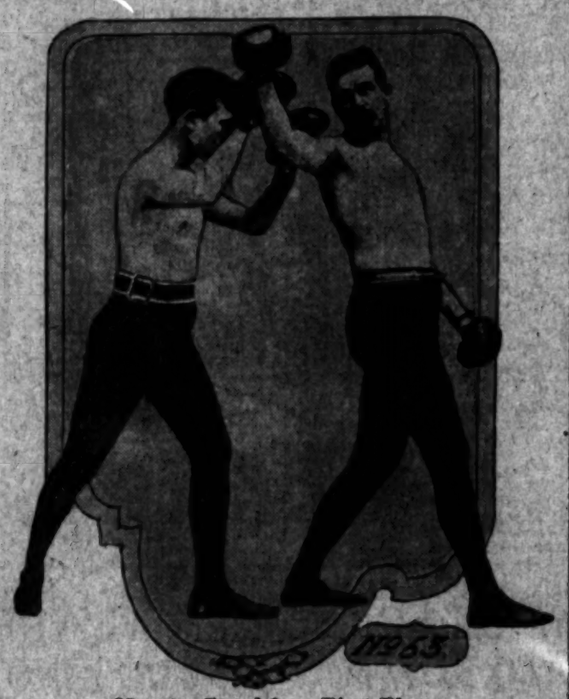
HAP HOGAN GOT BOUQUET.

"I've been on six pennant-winning teams in my life," laughed Hap Hogan yesterday while fanning, "and the only thing I ever got as a present was a bouquet that wilted the next day."

"I'm not kicking, for I never asked for anything, but it just shows you."

This thought was caused by Jack Sullivan, who was showing a medal he got one year for doing something.

Van Court's Boxing Lesson.



No. 53—Guard for a Pivot Blow.

If you see the blow coming and cannot get away, guard with both hands, as shown in the cut. The use of both hands will be necessary to stop this blow, as it comes usually with much force. If you succeed in stopping the blow, as shown in the cut, push your opponent's right arm down and hit with your right hand at his head.

ON BEING A KILLER.

"Deep Purple" Furnishes Study on How It's Done.

Walter Edwards' Method of Wielding His Gun.

Real Experience Along These Strenuous Lines.

Local gun-toters, visiting smoke-wagon exploders, and numerous gentlemen armed with permits to carry concealed weapons, will surely be in attendance at the Majestic this week, eager to see how Gordon Laylock, a hold-up man from the West, "gets" Leland, the cowardly badger man, in "The Deep Purple."

It is in a highly dramatic scene that Laylock whips the single exterminating bullet into his adversary.

There has been any amount of speculation as to how Walter Edwards, the actor who plays Laylock, works the trick.

"An army officer was in the audience the first night of our Chicago run, and met me after the play," explains the actor. "He said he was positive I used my left hand to shoot with, as otherwise it would be impossible for me to get Leland, at the angle at which he stood. I do nothing of the kind. I shoot with my right hand always. The gun, a regulation army Colt, is tucked away in front of me, just under my vest. That's the way the gun-fighters of the West carry their weapons today. The old hip-pocket play has been discarded because it is too slow in an emergency. Nowadays they carry their pistols in a sort of holster under their waistcoats, and this gives ample time for a quick man to get action. Bat Masterson always wears his gun that way, and so do most other experienced fighters. The ten-shot Savage is carried this way in the most approved circles.

"I am always watching for the possibility of a hitch which might interfere with the proper movement, and I am always particularly careful to give the gun plenty of oil in all its parts, so that there should be no slip-up. I have been killing Leland for two seasons now, and on only one occasion was there any difficulty in getting the drop on him. That was due to an accident. In order to fool him, I employ my right hand in toying with my necktie. This gives me excuse for having my hand over my stomach. On the night I speak of, the end of the necktie got caught in the trigger, and I couldn't get it untangled in time. That was one occasion when Leland could have killed me if we had been playing in earnest."

The actor was asked how it was possible for Laylock to know, from his position, what Leland is doing.

"Laylock feels it," he said. "When we were rehearsing it was suggested that we do the thing according to the usual stage method, that is, I was to count; one, two, three, four, from the time I turned my back on Leland, and he was to do the same. Then I was to whirl and fire. But I found this unsatisfactory. I worked out the situation until I had convinced myself just what was happening. Laylock knows Leland is aiming to take advantage of him—to get a 9 per cent. advantage, as you might say. When Leland drops his revolver on the table, Laylock moves away, but he knows a man of Leland's stripe is going to get the coward and shoot in the back, and instinct tells him the precise second in which this is attempted, and he wheels rapidly and fires."

"Are you a gun-fighter in private life?" was asked.

"No, but I have had a revolver pressed against my stomach on more than one occasion. One time I shall never forget. I was traveling through the South. Shortly after the train had pulled out of New Orleans, one of the passengers who sat in the next seat became enraged over a fancied affront. His name was Harry Phillips, and he was the original backer of John L. Sullivan. He was a bad man all the way through. He stood up in his seat and then moved towards me. His fingers were playing with his watch charm, and I had no suspicion of what was coming. Suddenly I felt a revolver pressing against my body, though I hadn't been able to see how it was made to appear. It wasn't a pleasant sensation. My muscles seemed paralyzed for a few seconds. Then, as I saw that Phillips did not press the trigger, I caught his wright and disarmed him. I talked with him till I thought he was reasonable, and left him with his revolver. I thought the only way to do was to let him know I didn't fear him, so I turned my back—a good deal as Laylock does in our play—and walked into the smoking car. He didn't fire. In a few minutes, he followed and sat beside me and asked me what I thought of the suggestion of killing another of our party. He argued that it wouldn't make much difference to the world at large if he removed one man. He was simply insane at the moment on the subject of killing some one. But he didn't. Phillips dropped dead on Broadway a few years ago."

Too Much Wetness.

MARYSVILLE, March 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to heavy rain all day it has been impossible for the Senators to take up their practice work. The grounds, however, are in good condition and a few hours of sunshine will dry them completely. The players hope for clear weather at least tomorrow and are all anxious to get busy. The expected players from Boston and Honolulu have not arrived.

Embroidery and a Dawg.

These things do not occupy May Robson's life, nor even the best moments of her life, but she does admit that they are the things she stuffs into time's niches to fill them up. Miss Robson assured Mr. Selelstad that this was a Satsuma pup. Personally, we are no judge of dogs, except those having but two legs, so we don't know whether the creature came from Japan or Jungletown.

Maude Leone,

Participant in a brisk sketch at Pantages Theater this week.

"HATOMA" AT SANTA BARBARA.

"Doc" Leahy, who went north with the Tetrazzini party last night, completed arrangements, before his departure, for a Southern California out-door production of Victor Herbert's opera, "Natoma," when the Metropolitan opera company visits Southern California next March.

The libretto of "Natoma" is by Joseph Redding of San Francisco, and tells a story of primitive love and passion in Santa Barbara, during the days of the Spanish ascendency.

It will be produced in an out-door theater, amid natural scenery, either at Santa Barbara or at Montecito, where the millionaire colony has made a strong though so far ineffectual counter-bid.

Mary Garden, the originator of the title role, will play her part, and the tenor may be John McCormack, who created the tenor role at the opera's first production.

Kinemacolor Tale.

WHEN A GAEKWAR REFUSED TO KOWTOW TO THE KING.

"YES, the Gaekwar of Baroda did refuse to kowtow to the King of England at the Durbar, I know because I saw it, and the Kinemacolor views of the Durbar proved it—till the King asked us to 'cut it out.' Which, to accommodate his Majesty, we did—inasmuch as he had accommodated us by having his procession turned around so we could get the proper light on the cameras. Which was quite some thing to do, believe me."

You are bound to believe him, when you talk to A. S. Gosden, for he is the man who turned the crank of the Kinemacolor camera at the Durbar, and had full charge of the battery of machines that made what are said to be the greatest series of motion views ever taken. Gosden has come to Los Angeles to do the same thing here—superintend the taking of views of this region, as he considers it the finest spot for that purpose on earth.

"The Durbar," he continued, discussing it yesterday, "was the most magnificent spectacle in history so far as we have any record. It was ahead of the coronation—which, by the way, I also photographed—because there was so much more color, life and action in it, of more varied sort. And the views are better because the air was fine and clear, and there was an absence of fog, smoke and rain, such as we had to contend with in England. And the authorities were more accustomed to suiting their activities to our needs. Why, at the coronation, the staid English management of affairs was horribly shocked because we wanted to photograph his Majesty; thought it little less than sacrilege, and when the King's express commands were issued, it upset all the officials in charge. But after the views were shown, their worth was realised, historically and otherwise, and so at the Durbar, it was much easier.

"That's how it happened that the King changed his procession for us. It was found, after the official route had been laid out, that our cameras were not advantageously situated because of the position of the sun. Mr. Urban, our English head, said as much. His remark reached the King, and the latter at once asked how we would wish matters arranged. He was informed, and so he personally directed that the parade reverse its route and go some considerable distance out of the direct line in order that it might pass the way we desired. Never before has a monarch been so closely photographed, except for a portrait, as he is shown in the Durbar views. Sometimes our cameras were not ten feet from him, and at all times we were wonderfully well placed for our work. The pictures came out beautifully, and when shown here will be a revelation. The coronation pictures are nothing compared to these."

As to his trip out here, Mr. Gosden is equally enthusiastic. He believes it the greatest field for color-views in the world—and he has been almost everywhere.

"Immediately after the Durbar pictures were finished," he said, "I was transferred to the Kinemacolor Company of America by the British company, and was detailed to come to California, to make pictures under their auspices, as hitherto no American views have been made. I have put in the three or four days of my stay here in touring in motor cars with W. A. Kraemer, of the local Kinemacolor Theater, and I must say that hereabouts is the most effectual region I have yet seen for our work. I have taken pictures along the Italian lakes, about Naples, in the Egyptian deserts, India, England, and all the beauty spots of the Old World, but this is the ideal region. You have more color, the air is finer and clearer, the sunshine is better, and the general situation is more conducive to what we want than anywhere on earth. The possibilities of Kinemacolor views here are limitless. Why, a ride I took through Pasadena revealed weeks of work; trips about your suburbs and in your best residence districts show other weeks. Then there is Santa Catalina, Santa Barbara, Del Monte, Coronado, Monterey, the orange groves and the Sierras, the redwood groves, the Yosemite—the field is limitless, absolutely. I am due to stay here nine months, but I hardly see how it can be even partly covered in that time.

"I have arranged through Mr. Kraemer with the Cole brothers, who went through the Grand Canyon, to take me through in a boat, and I will take the views of the wonderful colorings as I go. I shall reach Yellowstone in the autumn at its most colorful time. I expect to take in Yosemite at its best season, and I hope to find your own immediate region wetted thoroughly and green with the beauty of your famous spring when I start here.

"We have several unique 'stunts,' as you call them, planned for here. I expect to take views of Broadway and Spring streets from the front of a trolley car, showing the very busy walks and streets in winter, with the sunshine, the light clothes and the flowers. I am trying to arrange to take some views from an airship, flying low, to get the masses of greenery in the parks. I expect to tour Griffith Park, for as a natural wilderness it is superb. We are planning to take a drama—an outdoor drama—one of Dr. C. William Bachman's, I believe, to try the effect of Kinemacolor pictures in that field, so far not invaded. We also may be able to take the Land Show, and we certainly will be on hand for the Shriner and G.A.R. parades and displays. It has been partly arranged for us to take the coming Shrine circus. The mission play at San Gabriel we are looking forward to, as an especially suitable subject, and we will undoubtedly arrange to take many of the larger private functions, if possible, as we have already been approached to do."

ON THE GOLF LINKS.

GOOD HANDICAPPING.

For instance, Spens-Black had to travel to the twenty-first hole before he could successfully dispose of J. S. Baker, who had a great chance to end the contest at the eighteenth hole. Clinton La Montague, a young player of promise, played excellent golf in disposing of J. H. Liebmann, an eastern golfer, and this was another close argument.

C. A. Stewart of the Presidio Golf Club bade farewell to the tournament when he received his quietus at the hands of R. P. Tisdale. The latter has made a sensational showing, and is picked by many to win the event. Every round seems to intensify interest in the women's tournament, as it is more than probable that both Miss Warner and Miss Chesebrough will enter the finals. Both of these fair exponents of the ancient game safely emerged into the semi-finals today, and both matches were won with comparative ease.

The meeting of this pair would be a fitting climax to one of the best conducted and closely contested tournaments ever held at Del Monte. The recent improvement in the game of Miss Warner has impressed everyone here, and she is looked upon as the most dangerous opponent for Miss Chesebrough in the important tournaments of the year. In addition to her wonderful progress on the green, she plays the long game better than most women in Northern California, and only needs tournament experience to lift her into the top flight.

Miss Chesebrough defeated Mrs. H. H. Sherwood of the Claremont Club very handily, though conceding her opponent an allowance of six holes, but it must be said for the defeated player that she was hardly playing the game that distinguishes her golf on the Oakland links, where she starts from the scratch mark.

Mrs. J. Gillison, whose driving was one of the features of yesterday's play, was defeated by Mrs. J. H. Liebmann, rather unexpectedly, and the winner of this match will meet Miss Alice Warner in the semi-finals tomorrow. As Mrs. Liebmann is allowed ten holes, Miss Warner will have to play in her best form, as will Miss Chesebrough, to dispose of Miss Mary Robinson, who receives a handicap of twelve.

SUMMARY OF DAY.

The summary of today's play and tomorrow's schedule follows: The foursome match in which Dr. Fredericks and MacDonald Smith on the one hand, and E. S. Armstrong and Mike Brady on the other, are the principals, which was originally intended to be completed over the Annandale course, was changed today and new terms now govern the match. The quartette will meet on the Del Monte links today and tomorrow, 36 holes to be played each day.

Fredericks and Smith will concede one hole to their opponents at the start and the side bet originally arranged still goes.

MATCH PLAY RESULTS.

INFORMATION

For Newcomers, Inquirers, Subscribers and Advertisers, Agents and the Public About the

Los Angeles Times

SCOPE AND AIMS:

PUBLISHES REGULARLY more pages of news and other reading matter and a larger volume of advertising than any other paper extant.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES: Independent, uncompromised, unshackled, unpurchasable, unafraid and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom, and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the state of California and the great Southwest.

AS TO LABOR: The Times is the undeviating friend of all honest toilers, all unshackled law-abiding workers everywhere; and while never denying the right of workmen to organize labor, fully, is the unyielding foe of lawless, destructive, monopolistic and exclusive labor organizations, because they are the sullen enemies of their own class and of the common industrial weal. Our position is unassailable and will be maintained. The long record of The Times as a just, liberal, reliable paymaster is unassailable. During the period between August 4, 1890, and September 30, 1911, there was paid to our loyal and well-satisfied non-union workmen, in salaries and wages, the following aggregate cash sum of $4,586,219.37—nearly $4 of it for skilled labor.

SWORN CIRCULATION: Daily net average—seven days, Sundays included—for 1894, [illegible]; for 1897, 10,858; for 1898, 32,1311; for 1899, 28,121; for 1900, 34,732; for 1901, [illegible]; for 1902, 36,869; for 1903, 36,248; for 1904, 37,703; for 1905, 42,180; for 1906, [illegible] copies; for 1907, 52,311 copies; for 1908, 59,720 copies; for 1909, 54,054 copies. Sunday average for 1910, 58,157 copies. Daily and Sunday average for 1910, 57,359 copies.

AGENTS: Eastern Agents, Williams, Lawrence & Cresmer Co., Brunswick Building, 15 Ave. and 26th st., New York; 854-26 Harris Trust Bldg., 181 West Monroe st., Chicago. THE LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES as well as the Illustrated Weekly will hereafter be on file for the use of TIMES readers in the offices of the American Express Company, as follows: Berlin, 54 Charlottenstrasse; Paris, 11 Rue Scribe. London, 6 Haymarket. THE TIMES will also be on public file at the agencies for Wells Fargo Express Co. in Europe at the following addresses:—London, 30 Cannon st; Liverpool, 15 Brunswick st.; Paris, 3 Rue Scribe; Hamburg, 33 Ferdinandstrasse; Rome, 49 Piazza di Spagna.

THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY: Published on Saturdays; 40 pages; distinct and complete in itself. "The Unique Magazine of the Remotest Southwest." Mailed to subscribers separately from the Daily Times for $2.00 per year, post paid. Single copies 10 cents, post paid.

TELEPHONES: Counting-room, Subscription Department, Editorial Rooms, City Editor and Local News Rooms—Sunset, Main 8200; Home 10251.

TERMS: Daily and Sunday, 75 cents a month, or $9.00 a year. Daily without Sunday, $7.20 a year. Sunday alone, $2.00; without the Illustrated Weekly, $1.50. When the Sunday issue is mailed, the Illustrated Weekly is mailed separately, a day in advance.

POSTAGE: On the regular week-day issue (1 or 2 parts,) 1 cents; on the Sunday issue (3 parts,) 1 cents.

The Drama.

BEAUTY WITH BEVANI TROUPE.

MUSICAL BUNCH OF LOOKS AND VOICE AT ORPHEUM.

Sketches on Current Programme Are Too Long—Balalaika Orchestra Makes Pretty But Rather Colorless Music—Dramatic Notes and News Mention.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

All things considered, Alexander Bevani's "Romany" opera company, at the Orpheum this week, is probably the best aggregation of singing talent ever bunched together here in vaudeville. It contains first of all the remarkable baritone Ettore Campana, whose ringing "Pagliacci" prologue will linger long in the memory of those who hear him sing it; a tenor quite without intellect but with a good voice, the experienced, though not great, bass of Bevani himself, and a string, flock and bevy of pretty girls with genuine voices. This astounding combination seems to be one worked regularly and exclusively by Bevani. He played it with great success in his own opera company at the Auditorium. It is, truly, a duet of talent and attractiveness seldom pulled off. As a whole, the Orpheum bill is less satisfactory than usual.

Perhaps for one reason, because there are at least three turns preposterously long.

Miss Norton and Paul Nicholson offer something which might be called "The Tinware Clerk's Bride." On the programme, however, it is nameless. It portrays, with considerably more heftiness than art, the humorous woes and tragic joys of an exceedingly indigent and careless young couple, three weeks married, and both of delicatessen-store extraction. It possesses patient elements of mirth, one or two laughable "props" and tricks, a good deal of vulgarity and one or two really good turns in language. I did not especially fee it, but, in all probability, it received more applause than anything on the bill, save Bevani's act. And it is too long.

James F. Dolan, Ida Lenharr and Ruth Mack offer a burlesque on the sensuous and mysterious mind-reading process, in a burlesque turn, "Some Mind Reader." It is well done, has a brisk start, but becomes a deadly bore at the finish through the most unsparing amount of repetition.

Mullen and Coogan, doing "A Broadway Trim," convulse with the foolish antics of two large, healthy, strong young men determined on being as nutty as possible. Frankly, I like that sort of thing, and I liked them and their line of dementia.

Fido Schuyler and Jay Roberts, entertainers, are also on the programme, and bring about a pleasant fifteen minutes.

Hugh Herbert in "The Song of Solomon" remains. It is a pity that this well-acted, human sketch is spoiled by the introduction of a paltry moving picture device, without which the story would be just as effectively drawn. The sketch is somewhat too long drawn out.

The Arbaloff Russians provide lively music on the balalaika, sweet and harmonious without any especially convincing power.

Pero pictures, as usual.

Two large audiences braved the rain without, Monday night, and witnessed the opening performances of "Twelve Millions in It," the merriest, wittiest sort of a musical comedy which is the offering at the Princess Theater this week. It is a funny throughout, with plenty of good music with lilt and swing to give it an even more piquant flavor.

The story tells of two lovers, one rich and elderly, the other young and impecunious, aspirants for the hand of Millionaire's daughter. The youth is, of course, with his resourceful-

SOCIETY

Mrs. E. A. Thurston,
Of Oakland, who has just concluded a pleasant visit with relatives in Los Angeles. Mrs. Thurston formerly made this city her home.

A FLUTTER of the keenest excitement is disturbing the calm of the social sea and Los Angeles hostesses are eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Hon. "Bobbie" Beresford.

Beresford is the English Army amateur champion who boxed with Mr. Drexel at the Georgian Court, the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Gould, in Lakewood, N. J.

He is in company with the Rt. Hon. Earl of Rothes and Hon. Bernard Howard, who left the Hotel Astor in New York for this city last week.

Hon. Lionel Lindsay, also of England, will come to this city in a fortnight, which will mean a round of merry parties, in spite of the season of sackcloth and ashes.

Fashionable Party.

A beautifully-appointed luncheon was given Thursday by Mrs. Walter Lindley of No. 2007 South Figueroa street, in honor of Miss Schaff of Chicago. The table was radiant with jonquils and spring foliage. After the dainty repast, the honoree, who is a talented young woman, read Robinson's Irish play, "The Cross Roads." Present, besides the guest of honor and hostess, were Mrs. Sumner P. Hunt, Mrs. Wing, Mrs. William E. Dunn, Mrs. Lee Phillips, Miss Banning, Miss Haines, Miss Van Dyke, Mrs. Pettigrew and Miss Smith.

From Ohio.

Miss M. E. Smith and Mrs. R. A. Blair of Wellsville, O., are domiciled at the Wayland for the winter.

Smart Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Annan of South Hope street, gave a dinner party Saturday evening as a farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lyons of Portland, Me., who are concluding a two months' visit in Southern California. Roses, sweet peas and carnations rested in a mound on the table, where hand-painted cards marked covers for Mrs. J. B. McNeil, Charles McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goff, Mrs. Catherine Robertson of Pasadena and Miss Catherine D. Annan.

Reunion.

Thirty-one friends from Cleveland, O., were guests last week of Mrs. W. H. Park of the Hotel Lakeshire. A pleasant afternoon of conversation was concluded, with several whistling selections by Miss Margaret McKee. Invitations were accepted by Mrs. Marie M. Bradley, Mrs. Rebecca Barnes, Mrs. Howard Burgess, Mrs. Norman W. Chamberlain, Mrs. Ernest L. Clark, Mrs. Frank Crosier, Mrs. James Curry, Miss Curry, Miss Elizabeth Davidson, Mrs. James W. Alpha Chi Omega.

Members of the Epsilon Chapter of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority of the University of Southern California were entertained at a merry party at the home of Miss Delight Stevens on West Thirty-ninth street. Cards were enjoyed by Miss Henry, Miss Kincade, Miss Swan, Miss Wheelan, Miss Arte Marchant, Miss Olive Berryman, Miss Kate Granger, Miss Loretta Murphy, Miss Bess Murphy, Miss Sylvia Tischauser, Miss Marguerite Mapel, Miss Mary Mapel, Miss Juanita Mennet, Miss Elva Murray, Miss Clara Stephenson, Miss Ruth Arnold, Miss Lucy Adams, Miss Grace de Lano, Miss Mildred Finch, Miss Fern Wildey and Miss Mildred Lather.

For Mrs. Johnston.

Complimentary to Mrs. John Johnston, who recently returned from a honeymoon tour through the Orient, and also for Miss Florence Palmer of Janesville, Wis., who is visiting Mrs. W. F. Callander, en route to her home from an extended European trip, Mrs. Cecelia A. White of Harvard boulevard was a luncheon and bridge hostess yesterday. The guests were Mrs. Waller G. Chansler, Mrs. Arthur Levitt, Mrs. A. C. Billicke, Mrs. Fred O. Johnson, Mrs. J. P. Flint, Mrs. W. F. Callander, Mrs. John Milner, Mrs. Samuel Storrow, Mrs. Philip D. Wilson, Mrs. J. C. Henderson, Mrs. Helen Henderson Steckel, Mrs. John S. Chapman, Mrs. Fred Fielding, Mrs. H. E. Graves, Mrs. D. C. Barber, Mrs. Snell, Mrs. W. G. Cochran, Miss Bird Chansler, Miss Mildred Browning, Miss Della Bates, Miss Emma Bates and Miss Valentine Hernandez.

Married in San Diego.

E. T. Wright, a member of the Jonathan Club, and Mrs. C. B. Wenzel of Minneapolis were married yesterday in San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. Wright will make this city their home.

In Paris.

Mrs. Charles Modini-Wood, Mrs. Parry, Miss Elizabeth Wood and Miss Florence Wood are in Paris, where they will spend a fortnight before continuing their tour of the world.

Class Party.

Forty members of the freshman "A" class of the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy were entertained by Miss Inez Smith of Figueroa street, recently. A musical programme followed by dancing were pleasing features, and were shared by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vosburg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Du Bois, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Callison, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zinn, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Behling, Mr. and Mrs. Purkey, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Bavonidis, Mr. and Mrs. McNath, Mr. and Mrs. Pointer, Miss L. Shank, Miss Clark, Miss Landers, Miss Williams, Miss Guthridge, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Scott, Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Ward, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Snopp, Mr. Marshall, Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Abegglin and Mr. Hayward.

In San Diego.

Miss Carolyn Bruns, a young society girl of this city is enjoying a merry sojourn at the U. S. Grant Hotel, San Diego.

Approaching Wedding.

Interesting to their many friends will be the wedding Thursday of Miss Rogna McMurry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMurry of the northern part of the State, and Raymond E. Burdick, which will be solemnized in the Plymouth Congregational Church, Rev. J. Horace Mallows officiating. The bride-elect will be attended by Miss Alvira McMurry, Mrs. Ethel Fulmore and Mrs. Elsie Tanner, while the groomsmen will include Vincent H. Burdick, Dr. Norman A. Neake and Wallace Tanner. Following the service, a supper will be served at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Burdick of No. 2666 Ellendale place.

At Lakeside.

A party of easterners touring California in their car arrived at Lakeside Inn, Friday. Those comprising the party are Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schwill, J. C. Metzger and Mrs. Metzger, Chicago; and A. Schoillkopf, Niagara Falls.

Rivers-Hopkins Wedding.

Miss Ruth E. Rivers and Hugh Weller Hopkins of St. Louis were married, recently. The marriage service was read by Rev. A. W. Noel Porter of St. James Church, Pico and Ardmore. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left for an extended honeymoon.

PALAWAN'S SUNKEN RIVER.

The Late Governor Miller Explored It for a Distance of Five Miles Using Candles for a Light.

[Chicago Daily News:] It has been decided by the Philippine government to make a complete exploration and survey of the sunken river in Palawan for the purpose of bringing it to public notice as a show place for tourists. The entrance to the sunken river is through a low gate of jagged rock, but within a short distance the cave widens into a great chamber. Then in succession come a series of chambers and tunnels, many of them strikingly pretty in coloring and all of them fantastic in design. Thousands of birds, chiefly a species of swallow, occupy the chambers, and from stone ceilings hang hundreds of bats. The current in the river is generally swift, varying with the rainfall, by which it is fed from some point in the interior of Palawan.

The first American to enter the mystic river was the late Gov. Miller of Palawan. An old Moro told him of its existence, and said it had for years been used as a retreat for pirates and other freebooters. The Moro agreed to guide him to the river and pilot him through its black recesses, and did so.

But Miller had only candles to furnish light, and his exploratory work was necessarily incomplete. He ascended the river for a distance estimated at five miles, and marked the walls of the main channel for the guidance of other visitors.

FINDING OPERA STARS.

Caruso Was a Mechanic When "Discovered," Mlle. Cavalieri Was a Roman Flower Girl.

[London Answers:] Ten years of carrying coal would seem to be responsible for the strength and beauty of the voice owned by Diomede Ventresco, an American coalman. During a recent sojourn in prison his marvelous voice was "discovered" and it is now very probable that he will enter grand opera.

There is a delightful touch of romance about the "discovery" of a number of the operatic stars who have gained fame during the last few years.

Caruso, for instance, was earning the equivalent of 1s. 6d. a day in an Italian mechanic's shop when he was "discovered."

Years after, in a Pittsburgh church, Caruso was listening to the choir, and he heard a very fine tenor, whom he afterward found out was a New York bootblack. This man has since sung repeatedly at the Metropolitan Operahouse in New York, and is now one of the leading tenors of America.

Mlle. Cavalieri began life as a flower girl in Rome, and Ben Davies was employed in a Swansea store before he found that he possessed a voice worth a fortune.

Nevada Landine, who made a brilliant appearance at Covent Garden about a year ago, was formerly a street newspaper seller; and Ricardo Martin, the great tenor, discovered the beauty of his voice just after a severe cold had nearly deprived him of speech.

How Pensions Make Cowards.

[World's Work:] This conversation was overheard among a group of Congressmen who were smoking together and discussing the Sherwood bill.

"I don't blame——. He comes from a strong old-soldier district and he'd be left at home, if he opposed the bill, and his career of usefulness cut short. But the rest of you fellows—it's simply cowardice."

"Cowardice or not, I must now go in and deliver some buncombe for the old soldier and save my mutton."

And in an hour afterward the last speaker was delivering an old-glory, old-soldier, high-faluting humbug speech without a word of sincerity in it, in favor of the bill that is meant to add $75,000,000 to the annual pension cost.

MUSIC AND STAGE.

ness, but the story throughout is punctuated with intensely funny complications and situations.

Eleanor Courtan is the young daughter, Elsinore Richmond appears as her mother, with social aspirations. Edmund Flynn, as the crabbed old millionaire father, presents one of the most entertaining features of his stay at the Princess. Charles Le Roy, as the wealthy rube lover, vies with him in the fun-making. Oliver Bundy is the successful lover.

Miss Courtan sings two catchy songs, "The Dollar Sign" and "When We Were Sweethearts;" Florence Finn, a new feature in the spotlight, contributes "Save All Your Kisses for Me;" Mr. Le Roy gives a laughable song feature, "Mandy and Cy," while Mr. Bundy amuses with his "Since Bridget Learned the Texas Tommy Dance."

Some spirited boxing contests, which proved a most entertaining feature, rounded out the show. In this Louis Rees and Johnny Schiff, both stars of the roped arena, with recent victories to their credit, are principal features in bouts with their sparring partners, three rounds each, while eight other fistic lights of Los Angeles, including "One Round" Kelly, Red Maloney, Jack Shannon, Slashing Sol Burns, Battling Eddie Patten, Al Bertell, Young Huddy and Young Ad Wolgast, complete a pretty exhibition of ring tactics that is not the least feature of an enjoyable bill.

The Adolphus Theater on Main street near Fourth street, presents a bill this week, that by and large is the best aggregation of vaudeville yet seen at the Main-street playhouse. Six acts comprise the new bill.

The headliner is Vola, Velar and Campbell in a thrilling bicycle act, "The Whirl of Death." The act is a regular thriller from start to finish. It is by far one of the best trick bicycle act seen here for some time.

That dainty little miss, Angelita, presents a little act, assisted by her "California Bear." The hit of the act is her "Mexico" song which drew considerable applause at all three of yesterday's performances. Lord and Meek, "Those Big Little People," have an act that for clean, wholesome comedy is unbeatable.

Powers and Freed present a musical act that differs from all others seen here before. Dana Bartlett, concert cellist, rendered several popular and operatic selections on his violoncello, with the ease and masterfulness of an expert. Lee and Chandler present "The Interrupted Rehearsal," a neat act with plenty of comedy. Lee (?) burlesques "Heaven Will Protect a Working Girl," with considerable success.

BEFORE IT THE DELUGE.

Tons of Water Caught in Land Show Tent Tears Canvas and Cracks Timbers, But No Serious Harm Is Done.

Tons of rain-water caught in the edges of the big tent erected for the land show threatened for a time to seriously damage the tent and flood the embryo exhibits yesterday afternoon. During the hardest part of the shower the rain, rushing down the sides of the waterproof top, was caught at the edges, and the canvas sagged until poles cracked under the weight and the cloth began to tear at the top and sides. Workmen with stout timbers combined their strength in dumping most of the water on the outside. One man caught in the deluge said he experienced all the sensations of a drowning man.

Madera county's exhibit was the first to be taken to the grounds from five cars of products and exhibits which arrived yesterday morning. H. H. Whittemore, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Madera, soon had huge jars of grapes, peaches, apples and pears placed at advantageous points in the booth, the first one completed.

The other exhibits which arrived late in the afternoon, were those of Luther Burbank, the Santa Fe Railway Company's collection of Indian curios and handicraft, Kern county's exhibit, which was in charge of T. F. Burke, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Bakersfield; the Utah exhibit, in charge of Douglas White, and the Arizona collection of products of the soil, under the chaperonage of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Phoenix.

Edwin H. Brown will be in charge of the Burbank exhibit, which will occupy a prominent nook in the center of the tent. He brought along twenty sacks of moss from the mountains of Sonoma county and thirty huckleberry bushes, for decoration.

Phillip D. Wilson, general manager of the land show, received a telegram from Congressman Stephens yesterday saying that the government exhibit of agriculture, horticulture and soils will arrive here tomorrow morning in charge of C. J. Blanchard, who will lecture twice daily at the show. C. H. Shinn, also an official of the Department of Agriculture, will lecture on forestry.

Upon the arrival of Superintendent Francis from St. Louis yesterday, the land show manager set Friday, March 15, as School Children's Day. County School Superintendent Keppel heartily indorsed the project of having a day set aside for the pupils of the public schools.

The first of the palm decorations were put up yesterday. Each of the poles of the tent will be covered with palm branches, wood and cloth trunks going around the bases of the poles. P. Lichtenberg, in charge of this work, has made a tour of the residence sections of the city, asking to be allowed to trim date palms for this purpose.

BROILERS USE KNIVES.

Two Mexicans Are in Serious Condition and Two Others Are Under Arrest—Fight Follows Dance.

Yues Gaitan, 50 years old, No. 361½ Aliso street, and Francisco Moreno, 40 years of age, No. 14 Olivera street, are in the County Hospital suffering from wounds which for a time it was feared would cause their deaths, and R. Lavila, No. 719 Aliso street, and Jesus Madell, whose address is unknown, are in the City Jail, accused by the police of having done the cutting.

The fight took place near a dance hall on Olivera street. The police have not been able to learn the cause, for the injured men are in a too serious condition to talk, and the incarcerated men refuse to say anything. Having been operated on at the Receiving Hospital by Drs. Zerfing and Kidder, Lavila and Gaitan identified Moreno and Madell as their assailants.

Gaitan says when he left the dance hall he was followed by Moreno and Madell. There was a quarrel, when Madell held him while Moreno cut him twice on the left side of the neck. Lavila came to his assistance and was stabbed in the abdomen. Madell escaped but was later arrested.

Sued for Divorce on Desertion Charge.

Mrs. Agnes Grace Kimball.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PITTSBURGH, March 1.—The woes of a domestic impresario were revealed in the divorce suit filed in Pittsburgh by Charles F. Kimball, an auditor for the Carnegie Steel Company, against his wife, Mrs. Agnes Grace Kimball, a noted oratorio and concert singer.

Mrs. Kimball is soprano at the Brick Presbyterian Church in Fifth avenue, New York, one of the most fashionable congregations in that city. Before going to New York she was soprano at the Third Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. She and Mr. Kimball and their daughter, 8 years old, lived in Ellsworth avenue.

Mr. Kimball charges willful and malicious desertion in his suit. The Kimballs went to Pittsburgh a few years ago from Indianapolis.

What Is It?

PHOCOIDS MUST BE PROTECTED.

THREE GOVERNMENTS COMBINE TO CONTINUE THE SPECIES.

Will Wage Warfare on Slaughterers of Innocent Otarioid Carnivore. Of Interest to Women Are Secrets Disclosed by Montreal Manufacturer.

An aquatic phocoid is neither a deadly poison nor a physical affliction.

It is nothing more or less than an otarioid carnivore.

In itself, it is perfectly harmless, yet its outer portion, when treated with chemicals, arouses discontent among women, especially that class whose husbands don't happen to own a bank, a butcher shop or a plumbing establishment.

The lack of it in its commercial form often causes snubbings at swell receptions and brings about divorce suits.

Unmindful of these conditions three great powers—the United States, Great Britain and Russia—are determined to increase the social discontent by making any more of it almost impossible to obtain during the next fifteen years.

The aquatic phocoid or otarioid carnivore, according to R. A. Brown of the fur manufacturing firm of M. Bineberg & Co., of Montreal, and the late Noah Webster, is a seal.

Brown is passing a few days at the Angelus. Because of the decision of the governments controlling the seal fisheries to prohibit the killing of seals for fifteen years he says the price of skins will advance 2000 per cent. before the expiration of that period. In fact, he says, that the cost of skins will advance 50 per cent. before next season.

Brown is authority for the information that the skins of all animals which are made into furs for wearing purposes in Canada are bought in New York City and St. Louis. He says that no market for skins has ever been established in Canada, and that trappers send their skins to the United States, where they are sold at auction.

The members of Canadian firms bid at these auctions. There is no duty charged for shipping the skins back into Canada, where they are dressed and prepared for market. The reason this round-about method is employed is due to the fact that the trappers find a better market in the United States and hold their skins until they have sufficient to make it worth while to send them to this country.

Brown declares that the demand for furs increases with the advance in cost. He says that in the retail markets the most valuable furs are in the greatest demand.

Great tricks are played by the trade, says Brown. He declares that the skins of mountain goats can be treated so that they resemble lynx skins and rabbit skins can be treated to look like seal skins.

FREE MAIL DELIVERY.

Watermelons Inspire Crime.

[New York World:] What is it about the watermelon that kills the moral sense? Is it its color, its curves or its contents that turn men to criminal thoughts? Or is it force of habit contracted in early youth?

At the convention of the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association the opinion prevailed that ideas of private property nowhere applied to watermelons. They were like wild game; they were anybody's meat, only there was no closed season except nature's. According to a large Texas shipper, a man whose honesty will stand any other test will steal watermelons. Other speakers were ready to convict of theft any railroad employee who had come within arm's length of a melon.

This is a fearful indictment to bring against the American nation. It amounts to saying that a thievish strain runs through the whole people. Railroad men have the same sense of touch, taste, smell and color as other men. They use their eyes and hands in much the same practical way. Is it to be supposed that they were created different from others in being born criminals, or were they first launched upon a career of felony when they went to work as conductors, brakemen and yard hands? Has any one really taken the trouble to see as a matter of fact whether a crime wave follows in the wake of a trainload of watermelons from Texas or Georgia to New York?

GOLD DUST digs deep after germs
Gold Dust not only cleans but sterilizes.
Soap merely washes over the surface, leaving a greasy film behind it.
Gold Dust "goes to the bottom," and insures absolute purity, and sanitary safety. Why not sanatize your home, as well as clean it?
Soap needs muscle help; Gold Dust does all the hard part of the task without your assistance.
Gold Dust is a good, honest, vegetable-oil soap, to which are added other purifying materials in just the right proportions to cleanse easily, vigorously, and without harm to fabric, utensils or hand.
Do not use soap, naphtha, borax, soda, ammonia or kerosene with Gold Dust. Gold Dust has all desirable cleansing qualities in a perfectly harmless and lasting form.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: The fit of your shoes has much to do with the expression of your face. By "fit" I do not mean that the shoes must be sufficiently long, not too wide and neither too snug or too loose around the uppers; this is not enough. Shoes must have other qualities in order to be comfortable. They must have hidden in their depths a good quality of material, and they must be shaped correctly throughout. Cheap shoes seldom if ever have these qualities. Many a shoe which seems to fit correctly tires the foot and it is impossible to account for the fact. Therefore, I say, buy footwear from reliable houses, as thus only can you be assured of quality which means comfort.

A new profession is coming into evidence in many cities and I see no reason why it should not be introduced here.

In fact, it seems as though here, more than elsewhere, this new profession would fill a want.

It is the profession of "filler in." The profession originated with a girl who, lacking all the necessary accomplishments needed in a modern business office and yet wishing to earn at least a partial living, planned to render her assistance to the sick, and to the tired mother who needed a day's rest from the cares of home.

For a modest daily stipend she would put to rights the home where illness had caused an upheaval of the usual routine, or she would attend to the woman laid up with sick headache, or she would take the children to the beach for a day's outing, thus enabling the mother to complete some special task or to achieve a day's rest.

I know of girls in Los Angeles, who would be exceedingly competent to do just such work; and women of experience also, with whom mothers need have no fear in trusting their children. Think what a mutual boon such an arrangement would be! A blessing to tired mothers and ailing housewives and also to the girls or women who need money to eke out with expenses. Such an arrangement would be different than the usual work of housemaids for it presupposes brains and independence upon the part of the "filler in," and there would be none of the irksome matter-of-courseness, of regular housework.

Home Newspaper.

One of the big Broadway stores conducts a newspaper for the entertainment and instruction of its employes; or rather the paper is conducted by the employees under the editorial supervision of the advertising department.

Not only such personal news as is of greatest interest to those in the store, but instruction as to the best manner of treating customers and of making the welfare of the store and its highest interests, find a place in the journal. Reports of the tradesmen's school, advice as to the best magazines to read, and brief articles from the pens of the heads of departments, giving opinions as to styles and goods which, according to their best judgment will be in demand during the approaching season, are here given. Of especial interest to the public as well as to those in the store, are the printed requirements of the advertising department, the unswerving demand is made that in no particular whatever, shall sales or prices be exaggerated. If a sale of defective goods is held, in every instance must the term "seconds" appear, or "as is"—which duly notifies that the goods are sold cheap because imperfect. Measurements in the case of remnants must be exact to the fraction of an inch, and so on throughout the entire range of goods placed on special sale. With this kind of spirit permeating an establishment, it is no wonder that the public learns to rely upon what is said and offered.

The Fez.

One day I noticed upon Broadway a startling bit of millinery. It was a tall silk hat of an ancient vintage and it was worn with a most jaunty air, by a drayman who went whistling upon his way with a studied air of unconsciousness of the laughter which followed him.

A Jersey Hat.

In one of the large stores I noticed one of the season's advance styles in millinery which is ready for the Fashion Show. It was a white tegal of large shape, with a tall arrangement of white plumes and a drift of tulle covering the brim. The under brim was faced with black velvet, which gave an air of extreme chic.

A Birthday Shower.

It was her birthday, but she thought no one had remembered, as no one had mentioned it, and she was perhaps inclined to ruminate—as young girls will—about the fact of growing old—(out of the teens!)

The birthday eve passed without a reminiscent word and there was no awakening greeting in the morning. The family was seated around the breakfast table and still there was no mention of "happy returns." Then, in came such a funny-looking bundle! It was placed beside her plate, and in astonishment she undid the paper and disclosed to view—guess what? A huge dishpan, all bedecked with crepe paper and filled with—not rain water, but a shower. A shower of handkerchiefs! From every friend she had ever known, far or near, they seemed to be, and there was every kind, from the "Buster Brown," with printed border depicting the mischievous youth at his pranks, to the most exquisite of hand-embroidered and lace-trimmed mouchoir. To say that she was surprised is to put it mildly, and I truly believe that, in spite of her protestations that she did not wish to have the milestone remembered, she was truly delighted with the generous "rain."

Fashion's Smiles.

Brilliant tones prevail in millinery, as in costumes.

The ruches are not so puffed and full as they were years ago.

Irish lace figures conspicuously in most designs of neckwear.

A touch of black is seen on almost every frock of white or cream.

Short coats of taffeta and chiffon will be worn by ultra-smart women.

Glass balls and buttons, as well as laces, are greatly used as trimmings.

Flounces of embroidered tulle and lace appear upon many new evening gowns.

HE MUST DIG UP.

Supreme Court Order Requires Justice to Pay County Money He Has Collected for Marriages.

The District Court of Appeal yesterday reversed the judgment of the Superior Court of San Diego county, which denied a peremptory writ of mandamus directing Solon Bryan, a Justice of the Peace of San Diego, to pay into the county treasury the money received by him on account of fees for solemnizing marriages.

Bryan was elected after the adoption of the county government act of 1909, which provided that San Diego county was of the ninth class and that in such counties the remuneration of a justice of the peas should be $150 a month, with no reference to receiving any additional pay.

The court holds that the lower court erred in the judgment denying the writ, and the same is reversed with instructions to issue a peremptory writ of mandate directing Bryan to forthwith pay into the county treasury the fees he has collected for his services for marrying couples since he has been in office.

In the suit brought by John R. Poole against the Grand Circle, Women of Woodcraft, to recover an insurance policy due on the life of Gertie S. Poole, wife of the plaintiff, the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. It was an appeal from the Superior Court of Los Angeles county.

In the application of Charles B. Behymer for a writ of mandate commanding the Superior Court of Los Angeles county to vacate and set aside an order dismissing an appeal from a judgment rendered in the Justice Court in an action wherein O. W. Hobbs is plaintiff, the petition was denied.

Woman Loses Brooch Containing Twenty-one Gems—Various Petty Thefts and Losses Reported.

W. Ona Morton, a former member of the Civil Service Commission, reported to the police detectives yesterday that on Sunday his wife lost a horse-shoe shaped brooch containing thirty-one diamonds, valued at about $200. Morton said his wife thinks she lost the pin near Seventh and Spring streets.

Tom Brown, a druggist at the corner of Jefferson and University streets, has asked the detectives to catch the person or persons who opened his weighing machine and stole all the nickels.

A. M. King, No. 347 South Los Angeles street, reported that a sneak thief entered his room and stole all his personal effects, including two suits of clothes, a coat and a pair of trousers.

Twelve jars of anesthetic and other things were stolen from the office of Dr. E. C. Ehred, No. 664 South Spring street.

PRETTY GIRL HOBO A RIDDLE TO AUTHORITIES.

Good Home, Nice Clothes, Ardent Suitor and All, But Adele Will Have None of 'Em, Preferring to Tramp Roads, Sleep in the Barn and Rought It Generally.

Pretty Adele Kretchmer, before the Juvenile Court yesterday and now in the County Jail, is one of the most remarkable psychological studies that has come within the ken of the local authorities. She is like a wild bird that has been snared, beating its wings against the barred window and breaking its heart in the vain attempt to escape and fly away.

Adele is 17 and pretty. Her father lives in San Francisco and is willing to provide her with a good home, but the girl has the wanderlust. She has tramped hundreds of miles, and penetrated far from civilization, but such is her superb poise that rough men whom she has encountered let her pass without harm. There is that in her flashing eye and absence of fear that carries her unscathed through the wilderness.

Recently she was picked up in the desert by a train crew and brought to San Bernardino, where she was taken in charge by a probation officer.

Mrs. O. E. Bigelow, matron of the San Bernardino home, writes in her report on the girl that she is of French and Bohemian blood, inheriting from a Bohemian ancestor the love of wandering and dislike of conventionalities. She cares nothing for fine clothes, style or society. She longs for a free and open life and to live close to nature.

In her wanderings she has accumulated a new and varied assortment of slang and all the freemasonry of the road. When she so desires her language is refined. Once when Mrs. Bigelow reproved her for her wandering habits, she philosophized: "Oh, dear me, I want to be a lady, but I just can't be one, and I doubt if I ever shall be one."

There is an unknown admirer of Adele, Mrs. Bigelow writes, who supplies her with funds and wants to marry her. Adele does not care for him. She desires to be free and untrammeled, to do as she pleases and go wherever the wind blows. Efforts have been made to provide a home for her but Adele won't stay. Nature beckons and she flits.

What to do with her is the problem which Judge Wilbur will try to solve today when the girl comes before the court. To cage her at the Detention Home would be to imprison a wild bird: to give her inclinations free rein would probably result disastrously.

FRIENDS STAND BY HIM.

Coast Pilot, Charged With Conspiracy to Smuggle Chinese, Is Vigorously Defended on the Charge.

Harry Lynch, charged with conspiracy to smuggle, was taken before United States Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday and his hearing set for the 12th inst. His bond was fixed at $1000, which was furnished.

Lynch was for years pilot of the incoming big steamers that made the port of San Pedro, and for some time has been owner of three fishing boats employed by fishermen from Los Angeles. His friends claim that the charges involving alleged passive participation in the business of smuggling contraband Chinese are without foundation. It is stated by the immigration authorities that Lynch was on the wharf at Oakland when the Morning Star was boarded by government officers.

C. W. Lung, the Los Angeles potato merchant, charged with a conspiracy to smuggle, was arraigned in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday, and given a week to plead. Martin and Manuel Mendosa, who, it is alleged operated with Lung in various illicit trips, and who are also charged with conspiracy, pleaded not guilty.

L. W. Noell, who, it is claimed, was the chauffeur in charge of an auto load of Chinese in one of the Lung expeditions, pleaded not guilty. Two Chinese, wanted in connection with the same job, are in Mexico, and cannot be arrested under the charge.

Judge Van Fleet of San Francisco will preside during the hearing of the Woo Wai conspiracy case, an action involving a half dozen of the best-known Chinese of San Francisco, who are now at liberty on a $40,000 bond furnished by the six companies. The case promises to be bitterly fought.

LOSES PATENT SUIT.

Ore Concentrator Worth Two Millions Officially Declared Property of Another Inventor.

Jacob Lampert, inventor, lost his case in the United States District Court yesterday. Judge Wellborn decided that the ore concentrator invented by Arthur R. Wilfrey and manufactured and sold by the Mine and Smelter Supply Company, is no infringement of his patent.

The case was the most important from the standpoint of a patent heard in the United States Court in a long time. A number of mining men were in attendance each day hearing the evidence and arguments. The testimony was read from depositions and the entire hearing occupied about ten days. The value of the patent is said to be close to $2,000,000.

The original suit was brought by the supply company against Lampert and his backer, P. B. McCabe, for alleged infringement of the Wilfrey patent. The issues were heard and decided on the cross-complaint of the defendant and the answer of the corporation.

EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT.

Woman Loses Suit Against Real Estate Agent for Lack of Evidence. Alleged Fraud, Not Proven.

In Justice Young's court, yesterday, the complaint against J. W. O'Day, a real estate man, was dismissed for lack of evidence. The complainant was Mrs. Sadie G. Frede, who alleged the defendant had obtained money from her under false pretenses.

According to her story, O'Day promised to locate her on a good tract of land in San Bernardino county, and when she saw the section she found it was in the old bed of a lake. However, she admitted in court that she had never made sure that the land she saw was the parcel described by the real estate man. The defense was not required to put on any witness.

How to "Shed" a Bad Complexion

It's foolish to attempt to cover up or hide a sallow complexion, when you can so easily remove the sallowness, or the complexion itself. Rouge and the like on a brownish skin, only emphasize the defect. The better way is to apply pure mercolized wax—the same as you would cold cream—putting it on at night, removing it in the morning with warm water, following with a dash of cold. The effect of a few applications is simply marvelous. The half-dead cuticle is absorbed by the wax — painlessly, gradually, in tiny, imperceptible particles—revealing the beautiful velvety-white new skin beneath.

No woman need have a sallow, blotchy, pimply or freckled complexion if she'll just go to the druggist's, get an ounce of good mercolized wax and use as suggested.—Woman's Realm.

They Admit It.

NONE BETTER IN WHOLE COUNTRY.

LOS ANGELES SCHOOLS FOCUS OF CONVENTION INTEREST.

Superintendent Francis, Back from St. Louis, Says Whole Trend of Modern Education Is Toward End Already in Sight in This City. Visited Many Educational Centers.

Superintendent Francis of the city schools returned yesterday morning from the annual meeting of the superintendents' section of the National Educational Association at St. Louis. He is enthusiastic over the future of the association, which includes educators from every important city of any size in the country. The convention was in session from February 27 to February 29, inclusive.

Conservation of the child's time and interest was the subject keynote of the entire convention. This was discussed from the standpoint of courses of study, building and equipment, teachers and their preparation and the reorganization of the system of education. Widest attention was given this last phase of the discussion.

Almost all of the superintendents and college officials present were in favor of making the break between the sixth and seventh grades instead of between the eighth and ninth, as now. Six years in the elementary schools and the same number in the high schools will be favored by the association.

"After talking with the superintendents and visiting some of the schools in the Middle West," said Superintendent Francis yesterday, "I am convinced that Los Angeles leads in educational methods and in results. In spite of the fact that she has some important school problems to solve, the eyes and interest of all those interested in public schools are on this city. Los Angeles is in advance of the eastern and middle western cities in what she has done educationally, and is attracting the attention of educators throughout the country.

Designs Entered in Coast League Competition a Feature of Architectural Exhibit—Large Attendance.

Designs of an open-air theater and festival hall for a world's fair entered in the $1000 Prize Scholarship Competition of the Architectural League of the Pacific Coast, are now on exhibition at the Third Architectural Exhibit at No. 738 South Broadway.

Especial merit is apparent in the sixteen sets of drawings, and the education committee of the league had a difficult task in making the awards. The year of foreign travel and study was won by Edward Frick, a member of the San Francisco Architectural Club. His drawing is on display, together with those of the several men given place by the committee.

Increasing interest is apparent in the exhibition, the attendance averaging well above 2500 a day. The register of visitors at the exhibition presents an interesting study. There are names of residents of Moscow, Russia, Elbergen, Holland, Naples, Italy, Pulaski, Boston, Cedar Rapids, Montgomery, Ala., Winnipeg, Can., Vancouver, B. C., Cincinnati, as well as all of the Pacific Coast cities, and smaller centers of Southern California. The value of the exhibition as an educational factor in impressing such visitors with the importance of Los Angeles and the Pacific Coast in its development as an art and architectural center is great.

Much interest is manifested in the elaborate display of new building materials, fixtures, hotel and home appurtenances. One thing which has attracted greatest interest in the feminine visitors is an open-air bed. Built into the wall of a bedroom, it appears like a davenport from the interior, while from the outside nothing but a pretty balcony on the side of the house is apparent. The inventor, a Los Angeles man, claims the space saved in building a house with this bed installed pays the cost of installation.

MODERN PIRATE?

N. Bowditch Blunt was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Laura L. Whitlock, alleging that the accused had pirated her copyrighted official transportation and city map of Los Angeles and suburbs. United States Commissioner Van Dyke set the hearing of the case for March 27. The arrest was made under the criminal section of the copyright law which provides that persons found guilty shall be imprisoned not more than one year, and fined from $100 to $1000 or both, within the discretion of the court.

SAYS HE DIDN'T.

Ignacio Salazar, charged with setting fire to a national forest reserve, pleaded not guilty in the United States District Court yesterday. Forest McNeeley, of San Diego, a substitute letter carrier who is charged with having embezzled certain letters committed to his care as an employee of the government, will plead today.

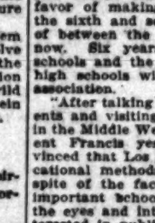
WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.



Louisiana, Mo.:—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women.

"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time. I would hardly get over one spell when I would be sick again. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is worth more than mountains of gold to suffering women."—Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 503 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

FINANCIAL NEWS SUMMARY.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 5. — American stocks in London irregular, off ⅛ to ¼ up.

Pennsylvania Railroad earns 8.22 per cent on $423,850,500 stock in 1911, against 9.13 per cent. on $412,450,700 stock in 1910.

Shareholders of Westinghouse Air Brake anticipate an early stock dividend of 33 1-3 per cent.

England faces paralysis of trade with 1,250,000 coal miners out, 3229 trains discontinued.

Germany fears general coal miners' strike following walk out in three mines.

Anthracite operators meet representatives of miners today to consider wage demands.

Trial of sugar trust officials begins today.

Subway injunction suits consolidated to expedite proceedings.

Mutinous Chinese troops continue rioting with situation in Peking quieter.

Twelve industrials advanced .94 per cent. Twenty active rails advanced .55 per cent.

While some distributions were accomplished during the day's session, there are yet no indications of the upward swing having run its course, and we are still disposed to believe that the strong political coterie responsible for the recent course of prices will succeed in establishing a higher level mainly on the demands of the short interest, which despite recent constructions, is still of good proportion.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS

While there can be no doubt that the timely rains of the past few days will affect the general market, no material change has been shown and indications are that prevailing quotations on most commodities will be upheld for at least a week. There was a slight easing off of prices on several vegetables due to increased receipts. Asparagus, both from the Imperial Valley and Sacramento points, was in liberal supply and sold from 9 to 15 cents a pound. It was asserted that the prices on this vegetable will not go much higher as the canneries are buying up all available stock around the 10-cent mark. New strawberry rhubarb was marked lower at from $2.00 to $2.50 a box. Cauliflowers were in liberal receipt and considerable stock was shipped to outside points at the prevailing rates. Fancy stock was high at $1.75 a crate.

The arrival of a carload of Mexican tomatoes in nowise affected the market as quoted prices were firmly upheld. The best stock moved out at $1.75 a crate.

Trading was active in the fruit market, both apples and citrus fruits moved out well. Winesaps sold at $1.50 a 4-tier and $1.25 a 5-tier box. Smith Ciders at $1.65 a 2½-tier. Bananas were firm at 4½ cents a pound.

The egg market showed added strength, due to a good outside demand and a ½ cent advance was noted on all grades. Candied selects sold at 28 cents, case counts at 27 cents, seconds and pullets went 30 and 29 cents, respectively. Receipts were 555 cases.

The butter market developed no new features. The market was only steady under the recent decline. Receipts of strictly fancy goods were light and only in moderate demand. Ladies were quiet and unchanged, with small supplies. Arrivals were 24,162 pounds.

Trade was fairly active in the cheese market and supplies of desirable stock were kept well cleaned up at the late advance. Domestic Swiss was best in call at 23 cents per pound. Receipts were 139 pounds.

The potato market continued firm under light supplies. There was a good demand for Highlands and Watsonville stock. The former moved out from $2.25 to $2.50, and the latter sold at $2.40 for the best. Receipts were 1208 sacks.

Onions showed no change, but were active at quoted figures. Arrivals were 200 sacks.

The bean market showed no quotable change. There was a feeling of easiness among most lines due to the rain, but the market showed no material change. There was a good demand for both limas and No. 1 pinks. No receipts were reported in.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

News From Mexico Causes the Mexican Petroleum Common to Drop Down Still Further.

The news from Mexico is having a great effect on the market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange at this time. Mexican Petroleum common closed yesterday at $50, and none changed hands on the board. Rice Ranch sold at 1.25 and was active, National Pacific sold at about the quotations that have ruled for several days, and in fact, the oil market was on the blink.

In the bank list All Night and Day was bid up to 149.75 and all the other stocks ruled strong. In the mining list Consolidated Mines and Johnnie M. & M were the active factors.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Interest in the Stock Market Centers in the Tonopahs—Little News of Interest from Camps.

[Special Service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—The interest in the market today centered in the Tonopah stocks, all of which were strong. Belmont closing 10 bid; Tonopah Exchange, 1.65 bid; West End, 1.10 bid; Mizpah Exchange, 88 bid; Jumbo Exchange jumped 30 points between sales; Montana opened 3.15 bid, but eased off during the afternoon.

The Goldfield stocks were practically unchanged. Some of the cheap stocks were up a point or down a point, while Consolidated was off 2%. The dividend meeting of Goldfield Consolidated has been postponed until tomorrow. It was generally expected here that 50 cents will be declared. In the Manhattan list prices were unchanged to a point. Pittsburgh Silver Peak closed 1.32½ bid, no stock offered.

The Comstocks were slightly irregular; Belcher lost 5; Mexican, 2½; Ophir was up 2½; Savanage was down 1. There was no special news, eastern buying orders was responsible for the bulge in the Tonopahs.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The storm has moved slowly northward during the last twenty-four hours, and is now central off the northern coast of California. It covers most of the Pacific States, causing unsettled, rainy weather over the Southwest and increasing cloudiness over the Pacific Northwest. Good rains have fallen in nearly all parts of California from San Francisco southward. The following heavy precipitation (in inches) is reported: Los Angeles (for the storm,) 2.12; Pomona, 1.51; Santa Barbara, 1.66. The storm is expected to cause a continuation of unsettled, stormy weather in Los Angeles and vicinity Wednesday. A storm of unknown energy at sea has appeared over the Gulf of Alaska, causing precipitation in most of the Gulf States and increasing winds along the Pacific coast. The heaviest rainfall was at Newport, where 1.86 inches are reported. Heavy snow east of the Rocky Mountains fall-weather has continued.

FORECASTS.—For Los Angeles and vicinity: Continued unsettled weather, with showers, Thursday; southerly winds.

For Riverside, Redlands, Riverside and San Bernardino: Continued unsettled weather, with showers Wednesday.

For the coast south of the Tehachapi: Rain Wednesday.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Forecast: For San Francisco and vicinity: Rain Wednesday; brisk to high southeast winds.

For Santa Cruz Valley: Rain Wednesday; high winds.

For Sacramento Valley: Rain Wednesday; heavy rain in the mountains; high south winds.

For San Joaquin Valley: Rain Wednesday; snow in the mountains; high south winds.

DE LUXE TRAIN OF THE FINEST.

Success Crowns Negotiations Lasting Ten Years.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Is Coming Here.

Through Trains to Three Coast Points.

As the result of negotiations lasting over ten years the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad has at last secured a contract with the Harriman lines by which Milwaukee trains will run through from Chicago to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland.

The contract becomes effective May 1, and as soon as the details are worked out they will be made public. Preliminary announcements were made in Omaha yesterday.

For years the Milwaukee has run through cars over the Union Pacific to San Francisco, but has never been able to get into Los Angeles or Portland over the short line. Recently the Chicago and Northwestern began running trains to the north coast over the Northern Pacific, and the Milwaukee contract is supposed to be in retaliation of that move.

According to the first drafts beginning May 1, the Milwaukee will run a de luxe train east and west between Chicago and Green River, Wyo., at which point it will be split into three sections, one going to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. The new trains are being built by the Pullman Company and will be the finest that can be constructed.

East-bound the trains will run in three sections to Green River, where they will be consolidated and run as a single train to Chicago.

MANY EXTRA TRAINS.
COLONIST RUSH CONTINUES.

Railroad officials estimate that the present colonist movement will bring 100,000 persons from this country and abroad to Southern California in the cheap-rate period which will end six weeks from March 1.

Scores of overland trains are traveling from many centers in the East to the sunny Southland. Yesterday was the second day of heavy arrivals and the aggregate number brought in by the Santa Fe, Salt Lake and Southern Pacific was upward of 3000.

All of the railroads entering Los Angeles are running extra trains to accommodate the movement, besides extra cars on all of the regular trains. Today's movement will bring the first of the colonists from points east of Chicago—as far east as the Atlantic Coast.

"The traffic is surprisingly heavy," said District Passenger Agent Lathrop of the Southern Pacific yesterday. "We, of course, had anticipated a heavy movement, but the number is a pleasant surprise to everybody. There are a number of reasons to account for the increase aside from the constantly-increasing interest in Southern California and the natural desire to get out of the 'frozen belt.' The interest in the Panama Canal and the approaching expositions in 1915 is bringing many, and the advertising campaign made by the railroads this year was unusually vigorous."

Against Baggage Smashers.

Hereafter it will be "the gentle art of the baggage custodian," rather than "the rough tactics of the baggage smasher," along the lines of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, if the officials of that company carry out their present plans.

Every employee of the system has been notified that a rule requiring the careful handling of all kinds of baggage is to be rigidly enforced. In addition, agents—especially those at small stations—have been directed to exercise special care in having all baggage, mail and express matter taken into the baggage-room immediately after being deposited on trucks and platforms.

By strict attention to this requirement it is declared a diminution in the number of complaints concerning the loss of baggage and express and the miscarriage of mail is sure to follow.

Texas Railroad War.

The Southern Pacific and St. Louis and San Francisco railroads are at sword points in Southern Texas.

Construction forces of the Espee and Frisco recently clashed at Victoria, which is at present the nearest point to the Rio Grande Valley reached by the Southern Pacific.

The conflict at Victoria grew out of the construction by the Frisco of a branch line from Bloomington to that place. The Espee tried to block the use of certain streets in Victoria by occupying them during the night by extension of its own line.

The municipal authorities came to the relief of the Frisco, but not until the incensed people of the town tore up the tracks which the Espee had laid. The "scrap" is the beginning of a war that is to be waged by the two systems to occupy each other's territory in Texas.

Vote Bond Issue.

The action taken Monday by the stockholders of the Salt Lake in authorizing a bond issue of $70,000,000 was approvde yesterday by the board of directors at Salt Lake City. The board fixed the rate of interest at 4 per cent. and designated July 1, 1911, as the date of issue.

A former issue of bonds to the amount of $60,000,000 will be retired and the $48,320,000 of bonds sold will be redeemed out of theproceeds of the new issue. There will remain $21,-665,000 for improvements and extensions. One extension announced today is a ten-mile branch to Ophir mining camp in Utah.

Many Get Pensions.

A report issued by the Rock Island Railroad received here yesterday shows that $65,000 has been paid to employees in pensions sincethe system was established, January 1, 1910. During that time 132 employees have been placed on the pension roll and of that number twelve have died. Twelve aged employees have recently been added to the list. One is Harry P. Fox, who is 64 years old. Hereafter he will receive $54.46 monthly from the company.

Grand Army Excursion.

A special train will leave the Arcade station on the Southern Pacific April 7, at 6:10 p.m., carrying delegates to the forty-fifth annual encampment of the department of California and Nevada, Grand Army of the Republic, which is to be held at Stockton the week beginning April 8. Arrangements for the excursion are being made by a committee, of which W. S. Daubenspeck, No. 226 Stimson building, is chairman.

Bridal Trolley Cars.

Tram lines in London furnish a hint for the management of the Pacific Electric, which, according to intimations here, may be put in effect. It is to provide special trolley cars for bridal parties. In London the cars are labeled "Private," and have potted ferns along the roof and appropriate interior decorations.

Shops Are Inspected.

President Ripley of the Santa Fe, W. B. Storey, Jr., and other officials made an inspection of the shops and other properties of the company in San Bernardino yesterday. The company has several million dollars invested in shops, etc., there, and the monthly pay roll is $170,000.

Elks Charter Steamship.

Plans are forming for big excursions of Elks from Southern California to the national convention at Portland, on the steamships Bear and Beaver of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company. The convention is to be held in July.

The Whale's Blowhole.

[Washington Post:] A whale is purely mammalian, like ourselves. The young are born alive and suck milk; their blood is warm; they have a four-cavitied heart; their bones, muscles and nervous system resemble in structure those of other mammalia.

But these great mammals must live all their lives in the water. How, then, is their breathing to be managed? In the seal we find self-acting valves that close the aperture in the nostrils as tightly as a cork in a wine bottle when the creature descends beneath the waves.

In the whale we find a different kind of self-acting breathing valve. The windpipe does not communicate with the mouth. A hole is, as it were, bored right through the head.

Engineers would do well to copy the action of the valve of the whale's blowhole. A more perfect piece of structure it is impossible to imagine.

Day and night, asleep or awake, the whale works his breathing apparatus in such a manner that not a drop of water ever gets into the lungs.

Again, the whale must of necessity stay a much longer period of time under water than seals and other aquatic animals. This alone might possibly drown him, inasmuch as the lungs cannot have access to fresh air.

We find that this difficulty has been anticipated by a peculiar reservoir in the venous system, which reservoir is placed at the back of the lungs. Seemingly this is unimportant, but it is of the greatest practical value to whalers. If the harpoon wounds this reservoir the animal will bleed to death.

Wanted to Be Shown.

[Lippincott's Magazine:] Four-year-old Dorothy, being in a thoughtful mood, wished to know what she would be when she grew up. Her mother told her she would be first a young woman, then perhaps a married woman, an old woman, a grandmother and a great-grandmother.

"And after great-grandmother, what?" Dorothy inquired.

"Then you will die. Your soul will go to heaven to live forever, and the rest of you will be put under the soft grass and flowers."

"Oh," said Dorothy, and asked no more questions at the time. When her mother was undressing her for bed that night, and the rosy little figure stood uncovered, Dorothy said eagerly:

"Mother, will you show me just what part of me will go to heaven to live forever and what goes under the flowers?"

PUBLIC SERVICE NEWS.

against his wishes, and when I went home he wouldn't let me in."

Mrs. Miller was taken into custody in a South Broadway department store. In her large fur muff was found a $25 shirtwaist, lingerie worth $19.50, two hand-painted plates and a book worth $1.50.

Judge Chambers suspended sentence until 2 o'clock this afternoon. In the interim Mrs. Miller was placed in the custody of the jail matron.

Mrs. Miller was arrested December 19, last, charged with the theft of a silk skirt, but was released. She told the court she is a telephone operator.

THEY WILL BE GOOD.

The proprietors of eight motion-picture houses on South Main and South Spring streets confessed yesterday to the validity of the ordinance seeking to regulate and control the playing of musical instruments and the making of loud and unusual noises in front of places of amusements for advertising purposes.

The assurance was given Police Judge Fredericksen that the law will be obeyed. The court continued the actions instituted by Plainclothesmen LaNiece and Robinson pending the good behavior of the defendants. Assistant City Prosecutor Gardner drew up the complaints.

When the theatrical men were arrested they pooled issues and declared their intention to attack the validity of the ordinance. The defendants are J. Rose, J. Roos, G. Steets, J. W. Northery, G. M. McLain, J. W. Johns, A. M. Allen and B. Tani.

Where Ignorance Is Bliss.

Louis Ripa, arrested recently on suspicion of having stolen a $21 pay check from Mike Golliavini, a fellow Italian, was discharged by Police Judge Fredericksen late yesterday afternoon. Ripa proved an alibi. The check bore what purported to be Golliavini's signature. He testified he cannot sign his name.

Which Law Prevails?

J. Myrick, Jr., arrested last September charged with conducting a handbook on foreign races, will be placed on trial before Police Judge Chesebro in the University Court this morning.

It is said if Myrick is convicted he will appeal his case, attacking the ordinance under which the police operated when they arrested him. Myrick will ask the State Supreme Court to decide whether or not a specific charter power suspends a State law on the same subject, regardless of whether it is a municipal affair.

When Myrick was arrested he demurred to the complaint on the ground there is a statute on the same subject, and he was arrested under the provisions of a city ordinance.

Grocers Don't Like Law.

The grocers of the city say they are preparing to attack the validity of the law which seeks to prevent them from selling poisonous compounds usually found in drug stores.

E. S. Potter, No. 534 Temple street, representing all the grocers arrested for selling an ant paste poison, filed a demurrer to the complaint in Judge Williams's court at the University Police Station yesterday. He declares it is class legislation. The demurrer will be argued on the 16th inst. Inspector Boden of the State Pharmacy Board, is pressing the prosecutions.

Sees Justice Done.

Thomas Wylie, former Chief of Police of Vancouver, B. C., was given a practical demonstration of how justice is administered in the United States when he was fined $30 by Police Judge Rose yesterday for having used profane and indecent language in a theater Monday night. There was an act that did not suit Wylie. He voiced his disapproval by rising to his feet and yelling at the performers. Wylie said he would not have done it had he not been drinking. He is spending the winter in Los Angeles.

Regular Donnybrook.

Francisco Martinez, who lives on New High street and defended his home Sunday night by stabbing E. Gomez on the left side of the face and neck, and breaking Paubio Rangel's nose and leg and knocking out his eye with a baseball bat, appeared in court yesterday against Gomez.

The other man is still in the hospital. Martinez received a slash across the breast. Which man did it he does not know. After looking at Gomez's bandaged head for a moment, Judge Rose said:

"You seem to have been pretty severely punished already. I'll fine you $15 or fifteen days."

A Family Affair.

Francis Le Roy Davis, aged 28, No. 2802 Winter street, who was convicted of having stolen an automatic rifle from his uncle, E. A. Meyers, No. 2420 Winter street, was given the alternative yesterday by Police Judge Rose of working hard for the next year or going to jail for sixty days.

Meyers missed his rifle, and a detective found it in a pawn shop. In court Meyers ascertained that the weapon had been stolen by his nephew. After Judge Rose had imposed a fine of $60 or sixty days, Meyers asked for leniency.

Men Pay, Women Leave.

Martin Badgley was sentenced to thirty days and Joe Russell, thirty days suspended sentence by Police Judge Chambers yesterday for conducting a blind pig and disorderly house at No. 204 Geary street. It was shown Badgley was the proprietor. The men had been in jail almost a month. Marie Clark and Elsie Shoot, taken from the place when it was raided, put up cash bail and left the city.

Runs Same as a Watch.

Jose Castillo was held under $1500 bail yesterday by Police Judge Rose to answer to the Superior Court to the charge of grand larceny, the alleged stealing of a watch from E. E. Saddler. The latter testified he was standing at Court and Main streets Monday morning, when Castillo snatched his watch from his pocket. Patrolmen Brown and Stevens testified that when they searched the Mexican they found a long open knife in his pocket.

Old Diet Rules.

[London Chronicle:] Thomas Cogan, in "The Haven of Health," published 1583, discusses the no breakfast question at considerable length. "Touching breakfasts, whether or no they are to be used, it may be some question, because they are not mentioned in Galen and other ancient authors of Physicke, neither are they appointed by order of the universities, but only two meals of the day spoken of, which be dinner and supper. But the temperature of this, our country, is such that I think it good for Englishmen not to be long fasting. Yet some may better bide without than t'others. Children and young men until they came to the age of 35 may not be long fasting without inconvenience. Men of middle age, that is from 35 to 49, may better beare it. Old men, being not decrepit, that is from 50 to 70, may best of all abide fasting, but after 70 they are to be dieted as children."

BY RAIL TO EUROPE.

Longer Journey to Paris by Behring Sea Route Than It Is Now by Crossing the Ocean.

[Harper's Weekly:] Some projects, even in this age of engineering achievements, may fairly be called audacious, and of these none is more startling than the suggested building of a railway from the United States to Europe by way of a bridge across Bering Strait.

The width of the strait from the extremity of East Cape, on the Asiatic side, to the point of Prince of Wales Cape, on the American side, is not more than forty-five miles, and within this distance, placed almost in a straight line, as if to supply the foundation for the abutments of a bridge, are the three Diomede Islands.

Moreover, the waters of the strait are shallow, and it is claimed that caissons for the foundation of a great bridge could be sunk to a considerable depth.

The two continents are, in fact, joined by submarine banks, and it is known that at a former time this connection was still closer, so that animals and species of plants crossed from one continent to the other. The natives of the region still preserve the tradition of this joining of the land.

The Chukchis, who greatly resemble the Eskimos, and live on the Asiatic side, relate that the land that made the former isthmus sank into the water during a terrible combat between a warrior and a great white bear.

More than one engineer has held that it would be practicable to construct a bridge across this strip of water separating America from Asia and the Old World from the New. But a railway journey from New York to Paris, even if the engineering genius of the future should make it possible, would take a much longer time, even on the fastest trains, than a voyage across the Atlantic on a swift liner, and would probably cost very much more. It would be a luxury to be enjoyed only by wealthy persons who strongly dislike ocean travel.

SECOND HAND CHURCHES.

New York Edifices Taken Down and Re-erected in New Jersey or Connecticut.

[New York Sun:] Eighteen stone churches which were on Manhattan Island from twenty-five to two years ago are now scattered over New York State, New Jersey and Connecticut. These structures were taken down to make room for mercantile buildings. The congregations moved uptown and built new edifices. The old buildings were sold and the buyers took them down, carefully numbering each stone and making full detailed drawings for sale with the materials to prospective purchasers.

There is a good market for second-hand churches taken down hereabout and that can be moved by low cost water carriage to places within 200 miles. Old New Yorkers journeying up-State, through New Jersey or in Connecticut often come upon a church that looks familiar, and on making inquiries find that the building formerly stood on Manhattan Island and after being taken to a new site was sandblasted so as to give the stone a fresh appearance.

In the last dozen years an enormous business has been done in taking down brownstone houses in Manhattan and re-erecting them in many places. One fine facade by a famous architect of sixty years ago is in Boston, another in New Haven and a number are in New Jersey cities. More than a thousand fine brown-stone houses were taken down in Manhattan last year and the stone and a good deal of the timber were worked into houses and apartment-houses, hotels and halls within a hundred miles of this city.

You judge a man not by what he promises to do, but by what he has done. That is the only true test. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judged by this standard has no superior. People everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. For sale by all dealers.—[Adv.

TWO YOUNG TRAVELERS.

Youngsters Five and Three Years Old Start Alone on Voyage Across the Sea.

[New York Herald:] If there is anything in special training at an early age, Brian and Wilfred Halford, 5 and 3 years old, respectively, should be full citizens of the world long before attaining their majority.

The boys left this city for London on board the Minnehaha of the Atlantic Transport Line, bidding their parents goodby with less apparent concern than if they were going around the block. Sons and parents will not meet again for six months, and then they will come together in Hongkong.

"Goodby, old chap," said Brian, the elder boy, as he kissed his father's cheek. "See you soon—in Hongkong, I dare say. Keep fit, won't you, and take good care of the mater?"

The father, Julian Halford, an automobile manufacturer, was doing his best to control a twitching lip, and the boys' mother had already fled to the pier lest the contagion of her emotion spread to her little sons.

A few minutes before the gangplanks were cast off their mother reappeared, and, lifting them together, hugged them close until a steward warned her that she might be carried to sea.

The boys are going to London, where they will remain until late spring with their grandparents. They will then start for China to rejoin their father and mother.

"The little chaps are used to traveling," said their father, "and on account of the exigencies of my business they will have to do a lot of it within the next few years. Mrs. Halford and I came from England last spring, and the boys followed three months later. This will be their second voyage without us."

SWISS REVERENCE FOR CHEESE.

Rank of a Family Is Known by the Age of Its Store of Cheese Served to Honored Guests.

[Harper's Weekly:] The English, the Germans and the Norwegians are great consumers of cheese, but the people of Switzerland surpass them all. The cheese of Zermatt is so hard that one is obliged to scrape it or cut off chunks with a hatchet, and its use is considered most important on all ceremonious occasions. The rank of a Swiss family is known by the age of its cheese, and the more affection or respect a guest inspires the harder is the cheese which is cut in his honor. It is said that there are families in Switzerland whose cheeses date from the first French revolution, and these are served only at baptisms, weddings and after funerals.

The larder in every family is guarded with care and the cheese is named. Upon the birth of a new heir a cheese is made that takes the name given him or her, and that particular cheese is never under any circumstances cut until the boy or girl grows up and is married. On such occasions each of the guests takes a piece of cheese from the bridegroom and from the bride and drinks to their felicity, the cheese held aloft.

Increase of Perjury.

[Law Notes:] His Honor Judge Edge in giving his decision recently in a case tried before him in Clerkenwell County Court said: "The increase of perjury in the county courts is so alarming that public attention ought to be directed to it. It is a pressing demand. I am saying it as a retiring judge, after being on the bench for twenty-three years, that it is almost impossible to do justice between parties owing to the prevalence of false swearing. It really is shocking. It has been a matter which has placed a very great anxiety upon judges who have to try cases, and endeavor to do what is right and just between parties. False swearing is increasing in a way that I think the Legislature ought to pay attention to at once. I do not think any one would oppose that great powers should be placed in the hands of judges for checking perjury."

DIAMONDS NO GAGE.

it is said, but to no avail. He settled $10,000 on her. The settlement was made in diamonds, which Morley, as a connoisseur of gems, had collected.

Friends of the couple profess ignorant regarding the causes which led up to the separation. The complaint filed yesterday failed to throw any light on the matter, it being exceptionally brief and alleging only desertion.

Mrs. Morley, who was formerly Dorris Ewald of Redlands, was married to Morley in Riverside county in 1900. Among their friends their domestic relations were supposed to be most felicitous. There was never a hint of matrimonial difficulties between the couple until Mrs. Morley left to go to San Francisco to visit.

In addition to his sporting interests, Morley is a figure in many enterprises here. He was the manager of the Los Angeles baseball team when the Pacific Coast League was in its infancy, was at one time the owner of the Ship Cafe at Venice and managed the Oakwood Hotel. He was also the builder of the Arcadia, which was recently destroyed by fire.

Don't Talk Too Much.

[Chicago Tribune:] Learn to keep your own affairs locked up in your heart, but be willing to listen to others' sorrows.

That's the way to do.

There is no use in the world harping on the crazy tear-stained events of life.

Be patient with the faults of others and be patient with your own. Don't talk about the worries and troubles of everyday existence.

There is no sense in that sort of thing. There is a tremendous waste of energy when one wants to hear about the troubles. Constant talking about troubles is a sure path to constant fault finding, bickering, and the sorrows that cause more misery than anything else on earth. And what good does the talking do? The sympathy you get doesn't amount to a row of pins.

Individuals of the right sort hate being pitied. Don't be a pitiful beggar.

Milady's Toilet Table

There are simple home methods that keep the hair and scalp young looking. Dry shampooing cleans the scalp and hair, and makes the hair grow. Just put a teaspoonful of cornmeal in a fruit jar and you have it an original package of shampoo. To sprinkle a little on the hair and brush out. It brushes out easily and leaves the hair clean, bright, fluffy and rich in color.

To keep the face youthful one should make a simple lotion by dissolving an original package of mercolized wax in half pint of witch hazel and bathe the face, neck and arms with it morning. Your complexion will be soft, smooth, clear, satin-like and free from blemishes.

Wild hairs or fuzzy growths can be made to vanish quickly by applying delatone paste. Mix enough powdered delatone with water to form a paste, apply to the hairy surface; spread on thick and in two or three minutes rub off with a wet rag, and the hairs will be gone. The skin, and the hairs will be gone.

Chaps, cold sores, chapped lips and skin eruptions disappear when you rub Mother's Salve into the affected surfaces before retiring. It heals sores, cuts, burns, bruises, etc. It is antiseptic as well as healing and lessens danger of blood poisoning.
